Colds in the Head

PREVENTION BETTER THAN CURE.

To get best results Greene's Cod Liver Oil should be commenced now. If directions on bottle are followed the taste is soon acquired.

The tendency nowadays in all branches of medical science is towards prevention. Greene's Cod Liver Oil is a natural preventative against winter colds and chills and is highly recommended by the Medical Faculty. Its vitamin content appears to confer immunity from winter colds and chills and there is an abundance of evidence in corroboration of this fact. Numerous business men who took Greene's for the first time last year state that, unlike other years, they did not get a single cold that winter. Don't risk getting a cold, take Golden Liquid Sunshine and be immune.

LECTURE ON THE HOLY LAND.

A lecture on "The Holy Land," illustrated with a number of beautifully-coloured lantern slides, was given by the Rev. T. E. Gorde, O.P., in the Carnegie Library, The Naul, Co. Dublin, under the auspices of the County Dublin Library Committee. Rev. John Healy, P.P., presided, and the lecture was followed with keen interest by a large audience. It dealt with life in Palestine as it was in the time of Christ and at the present day. Pictures taken from the air gave wonderful views of the City of Jerusalem, the town of Bethlehem, and the surrounding districts.

At the conclusion of the lecture a warm vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. Father Gorde. The lecture is one of a series to be given by Father Gorde throughout County Dublin.

I have never made a joke in my life.—Sir Edmund Gosse.

CALLS TO THE INNER BAR.

Mr. James Ambrose Rearden, Mr. Cecil Lavery, and Mr. Hector Hughes were called to the Inner Bar by the Chief Justice in the Supreme Court, Dublin, yesterday. A very large number of the legal profession, as well as of the public, attended to witness the ceremony.

Mr. Rearden was called to the Irish Bar in Hilary Term of 1905, and enjoyed an extensive practice. He was also a member of the English Bar, having been called there in the Michaelmas term of 1922. He practised in Liverpool for some time, but returned to this country.

Mr. Cecil Lavery was called to the Bar in the Michaelmas Term of 1915. He was a member of the North-East Circuit, where he enjoyed a big share of the legal work of that Circuit. He recently has appeared in many cases in Dublin as junior counsel on behalf of the State.

Mr. Hector Hughes was called to the Irish Bar in Trinity Term of 1916. He joined the Leinster Circuit, where he had an extensive practice. In 1923 he was called to the English Bar at Gray's Inn. He is the author of "Select Cases in Registration of Title in Ireland," of works on the Rent Restriction Acts, and of "The Betting Act and Duties, 1926."

DAIL DEPUTY AND MATRON OF COUNTY HOME.

At the last meeting of Roscommon County Board of Health, Dr. O'Dowd, T.D., wrote complaining of a statement made to a patient by Mother Paul. At last Saturday's meeting of the Board the following letter, addressed to the secretary, was read from Dr. O'Dowd:

"In reply to your letter of the 25th inst., I beg to inform you that I am perfectly satisfied with the explanation of Mother Paul. I am extremely sorry the matter got such publicity. I regret, too, that Mr. Brennan's intervention compelled me to further discuss the matter. I hope now that all parties concerned will let the matter drop without any further comment, and that there will be no bitterness about it. Please convey to Mother Paul my appreciation of her action and my assurance that I would not have written the letter were capital not being made locally by people who should have known better."

THE LEINSTER SOCIETY OF ORGANISTS.

The opening meeting of the session of the Leinster Society of Organists will be held at R.I.A.M. on Saturday next, at 8 p.m., when the Rev. John Burke, B.A., will deliver a lecture on "Plain Chant." Organists and pupils are invited to be present.

I am not particularly interested in opera: I think it is an unsuccessful fusion of two or more arts.—Sir Hamilton Harty.

THE HEALTH OF THE FREE STATE.

PLEA FOR COMPREHENSIVE MEDICAL SYSTEM.

PROGRESS OF SOCIAL REFORM IN THE NORTH.

The report read at the annual meeting of the Approved Societies' Association of Ireland, held yesterday in the Engineers' Hall, Dublin, referred to the final report published by the Committee on Health Insurance and Medical Services. The report was a majority one, and it considered that a comprehensive State medical service would be the ideal solution of the problems submitted for their consideration; but they were unable to recommend this on account of its cost (estimated at one and a half million pounds per annum) and for various other reasons, the nature of which was not stated, but which Dr. Rowlette described as the lack of co-ordination between the administrative departments dealing respectively with local government and with national health insurance.

A LIMITED SCHEME.

Failing to carry a recommendation for the immediate establishment of a State medical service embracing insured persons and all "poor persons," and also failing to secure the inclusion of dependents in a medical benefit scheme, the majority of the Committee finally recommended a limited scheme of medical benefit, applicable to insured persons only, with an increase of 2d. in the weekly contribution, to be borne equally by the employer and the employé.

The Association had never any doubt as to the probable outcome of the inquiry. The failure to reach an agreement was anticipated when the constitution of the Committee of Inquiry was announced and approved societies were denied representation. If the Insurance Commission had supported the societies' demand, that it should be representative of all interests affected instead of setting up an inter-departmental scheme, it is probable that an agreed scheme would have emerged of a beneficial nature to the Irish working classes.

The policy of that Association spoke for 80 per cent. of the insured population, and they felt that the time had arrived for a comprehensive reform of the poor law medical services. If that could not be achieved, they favoured a scheme of medical benefit for insured persons and their dependents, and were willing, if necessary, to agree to an increase not exceeding 3d. in the weekly contribution.

INSURED PERSONS ONLY.

If even this scheme were not feasible, then, with the object of securing some immediate improvement in the existing condition of affairs, they advocated a scheme of medical benefit for insured persons only at an additional weekly contribution not exceeding 2d. a week, provided the Association were consulted in the preparation of the scheme, and found that it would meet with the requirements of the members.

The Departmental Committee on Workmen's Compensation has expressed an opinion in favour of the establishment of a contributory scheme of medical benefit under the National Health Insurance Acts in the interests of disabled workmen. The final report favoured the discontinuance of the prolongation of the Insurance Act of 1921. This proposal was acceptable to approved societies, who felt that very generous consideration had been given to those insured persons, who were affected by its provisions, and that a return to the contributory basis on which the Act is founded can no longer be delayed if deficiencies on valuation are to be avoided. It was anticipated that the effective membership would be reduced by about 20 per cent. as a result of the proposal. It was feared that certain societies which cannot concurrently adjust their administration commitments to the conditions might be placed in deficiency.

The societies' suggestions with reference to the need for protecting approved societies and their members in the matter of lump sum agreements were accepted, and embodied in the report of the Departmental Committee on Workmen's Compensation.

BENEFIT PAYMENTS.

There was an abnormal increase in benefit payments in 1926 and 1927, as compared with 1925. They had reason to think that many societies were not referring their doubtful cases to the National Health Insurance Commission for examination by the medical referee, which was provided free of costs.

The report also dealt with the inadequacy of the Sanatorium Benefit Fund in consequence of which insured persons affected were called upon to pay for treatment according to their means, notwithstanding that they had already contributed under the health scheme for sanatorium benefit.

The Association's membership was forty-nine societies in the Irish Free State, comprising 350,000 members, and five in Northern Ireland, comprising 20,000 members.

The Chairman said that he felt sure they were very glad of the recommendation for the discontinuance of the prolongation of the Insurance Act, 1921. With regard to sanatorium treatment, he said that it was most unfair that insured persons, who had already paid for benefits, should be called upon to pay again. He was very pleased to know that there had been an improvement in compliance with the Acts on the part of the people generally.

ABNORMAL SICKNESS.

Mr. O'Muliane (Cork), referring to the abnormal sickness in 1926 and 1927, said that medical certification was most unsatisfactory. They found that 75 per cent. of the cases referred by his society to the medical referee were "returned to work." The principle of certification was all right, but it was the delay that they complained of.

Mr. Devitt (Kingstown) congratulated the Executive Committee on the good work they had done during the year. He suggested that a copy of the report should be circulated to all societies, as well as to those that had not affiliated, and ask them to affiliate with the Association.

Mr. J. D. Nugent, in the course of a statement, said that in Ireland they had always to contend against the hampering disability of not being placed in control of a system of medical benefits such as had been in operation in Great Britain. Fortunately, public opinion was at length rapidly ripening on all these problems. It was interesting to see that the report of the International Labour Conference in Geneva last June to a large extent adopted the system of health insurance operating in Great Britain in its recommendations. The report recommended a system of compulsory sickness insurance, which would apply to all manual and non-manual workers, including apprentices, out-workers and domestic servants.

FREE MEDICAL TREATMENT.

It also recommended that insured persons should be entitled to free medical treatment. The approved societies claimed that these recommendations could not be adequately carried out in the Free State, while the social reforms in evidence in Great Britain were denied to the citizens, and medical benefits were non-existent in the Free State. The intention had been that the National Health Insurance scheme, as regards sickness, should be preventative as well as curative. The scheme, as it still existed here, did nothing either to prevent disease or to cure it. It merely provided sickness benefit for members, and for the payment of doctors for issuing certificates entitling the recipient to draw benefits. The greater the number of certificates a doctor issued the greater his income. Thus, the system opened the door for the perpetuation of fraud; it placed an unwarranted burden on the taxpayer; it was unfair to the general body of the members of the approved societies, and it involved a financial injustice to the State.

He emphasised the fact that the International Labour Conference recommend the grant of medical benefit to members of an insured member's family living in his household and dependent upon him. This claim had always been made by the approved societies. They also continued to urge that our antiquated poor law system should be scrapped in order that the taint of pauperism might be completely eradicated, and that its purposes should be incorporated in a properly constituted medical service. If not, they should revert to the old system of the friendly societies, under which the societies had some voice, at least in regard to the conduct of the doctors. He was strengthened in that by the results of the referee system, which, it was hoped, might do away with malingering. The result had been that the cost of sickness benefit had increased substantially.

COST OF SICKNESS BENEFIT.

In 1924 the cost of sickness benefits per head of the insured population was 20s.; in 1925 it increased to 20s. 8d.; in 1926 to 24s. Thus, the increase in the cost of sickness benefit in two years was over 20 per cent. He was afraid 1927 would show a still further advance in cost. The society, of which he was an official, had had slightly better results. In 1924 the cost was 19s. 11½d. per member; in 1925 19s. 0¾d.; in 1926 21s. 6.85d.

The actual increase in money paid in the Free State for all societies in 1924 was £450,000; in 1925, £465,000; in 1926, £540,000, an increase in 1926 over 1924 of £90,000. This increase was a gross imposition on the ratepayers, and a flagrant wrong to the insured members. In his opinion, it was due more to the spread of malingering than to an actual increase in sickness.

Both in Great Britain and Northern Ireland social reform had been advanced considerably beyond anything even attempted in the Free State. Old age pensions were granted on a more liberal scheme, with contributory pensions for insured persons and their wives at 65 years. This was already in operation in Great Britain, and would come into operation in Northern Ireland in the new year. In Great Britain and Northern Ireland they also had a scheme for widows and orphans. The school children in Northern Ireland were better looked after by the Government than in the Free State.

MEDICAL SERVICES.

A Committee of Inquiry was set up in the Free State to inquire into the question of medical services. It recommended the incorporation of the poor law and the Irish medical services into one system at a cost which would be, in round figures, £1,500,000; but, as a set off, it must be remembered that not far short of £900,000 would be saved by the abolition of the present medical services under the Poor Law Boards.

By increasing the contributions of the employers and employed by a couple of pence per insured person there would be a further set-off of £140,000; so that the entire medical services recommended under a State medical system would cost the country in all about £460,000 more than under the present unsatisfactory and defective scheme. He believed that in a few years such a scheme would be an actual saving to the State. The improvement in the health of the people would mean more regular employment for the workers, while the State and the societies would have to pay less for sick benefits. He thought it was time the approved societies should take up the work of propaganda in support of the programme he had outlined.

SOCIAL REFORM.

Mr. Morrissey, T.D., said that the societies were not altogether blameless in the matter of social reform. If they had done their duty they would have forced the Government to bring their social service at least to the level of those in neighbouring countries. There was a difference between social conditions in the North and South, and they could not expect the workers of the North to come into the Free State if they were going to be sufferers thereby. The only way to bring in the North was by offering them something better than they had. He agreed with what Mr. Nugent had stated, for he had put the position very clearly before them. The Government gave as an excuse for not putting into operation a comprehensive medical service the cost of the scheme. They should not economise in the health of the people; and, because they were a poor country, that was the very reason why they should build up a healthy nation, which would mean a wealthy nation. The present National Health Insurance was a sham. He commended the report to all societies. The Association was well worthy of support.

The report was adopted, and it was decided to print and circulate copies of it to the affiliated and non-affiliated societies and to the members of the Dail, and also Mr. Nugent's address.

PRIVATE ENTERPRISE FAVOURED

AND STATE CONTROL OF FINANCES.

Mr. G. R. Riordan, President of the Association, who presided at the annual dinner in the Shelbourne Hotel, Dublin, last night, proposing "The Prosperity of Ireland," welcomed the visitors, and said that they were encouraged by the presence of representative citizens of the Free State, members of the Senate and the Dail, the business community, and the medical profession. No surer road, he said, could be found to prosperity than the path which led to a contented and secure existence for the workers. Social insurance should solve most of the problems, which presently caused anxiety both to the employer and the employed. Unemployment was one of the principal causes of illness and incapacity. (Hear, hear.)

TOWARDS PROSPERITY.

Lord Glenavy, responding, said that he entirely agreed with what the President had said, that there could be no work in which anyone could be engaged which was more likely to conduce and help towards prosperity and progress of a country than work like that of National Health Insurance, and he did think that in that respect, as in many other respects—speaking quite impartially and not as a member of any political party—their Government was to be congratulated in that they had tried by their legislation to meet the new and increasing demands of this great subject of national health.

He also thought that the country was to be congratulated that they possessed in the approved societies men with the intelligence, enterprise and sincerity to devote their time and lives to make the work a success. He did not believe that the Government could have achieved the success in the management of National Health Insurance which they have if it had been an enterprise controlled by the State. So long as the Government left it to private enterprise, subject to the State control of finance, he felt convinced that that success would continue.

COST OF ADMINISTRATION.

Criticising the administration of the Insurance Act, he said that, from the figures he had seen, he found that the contributions from the National Insurance Fund to the approved societies for this year amounted to £552,000, an increase of something like £122,000 since 1923. That increase, he was sure, was mainly to be accounted for by the increased number of insured persons, and by the additional benefits that they were receiving, and also, he knew, to some extent, by the increased cost of administration. On the other hand, the amount received in the same period by the State from the sale of insurance stamps was increased by £80,000. It was £366,000 in 1923, and this year it was expected to bring in £450,000.

MALINGERING.

Therefore, while the country was paying substantially more in the shape of contributions towards the funds of the various associated societies, the State was also reaping an additional benefit, not exactly an equivalent to the increase in the cost of additional benefits, from the receipts from insurance stamps. Whether this large increase in the amount of money that was contributed from the insurance fund was, to some extent, to be explained by the stringent conditions prevailing among the associated societies, he was not in a position to say; but he did think that in some respects they could very well improve their procedure with a view of having, so far as was possible—they never would be able to prevent it—malingering or exaggerated claims reduced to a minimum. In 1921 the Free State passed the Prolongation of the Insurance Act to enable persons who had been for more than a year out of employment from other causes than sickness, to avail themselves of their insurance benefits subject to certain conditions. That Act had been in force for six years, and during that time the number of persons who were on the list and supposed to be receiving this benefit amounted to 90,000. Recent investigation proved that a very large proportion were either dead or had left the country years ago, and the result was that the Government very wisely determined to let the Act drop.

THE MEDICAL REFEREES.

Referring to the temporary Board of Medical Referees appointed, and to which doubtful cases that were found on the books of approved societies were referred, he said that in the course of one year out of the 9,000 cases referred to them they rejected 6,000 as quite fit to go to work. Having regard to the result of that experiment, the Government would be very well advised if they accepted the recommendation of the recent Commission, and make this Board permanent.

Speaking of district nurses, he said that his experience was that they performed an invaluable work, and he did not see why such a system should not be in operation over the whole State, instead of only in a few isolated districts. The Commission recommends that this should be made a State affair.

Regarding unemployment, he said that he knew of nothing that would better conduce to the partial relief and solution of this problem than the wise administration of the National Health Insurance Act.

BUSINESS MEN'S VIEW.

Mr. J. C. M. Eason (President of the Dublin Chamber of Commerce) also responded to the toast. He said that the connection between employers and approved societies was not very close, and he could not help feeling that that was wrong. There was a complete want of appreciation among employers of what was being done by the approved societies, and he thought that it would be very wise for the approved societies to advertise what they were doing on the general subject of health insurance in relation to medical benefit. The view of the Chamber of Commerce was that health insurance without medical benefit was like a car going along with one of its wheels gone. They would give it their attention and see what could be done.

Mr. J. D. Nugent, proposing "The Health Services," said that he could not entirely agree with Lord Glenavy that the Government had given valuable assistance. He felt that health insurance in Ireland had been a very sadly neglected orphan.

CRITICS OF THE ACT.

Sir Joseph Glynn, Commissioner for National Health Insurance, in the course of his reply, said that critics of the Act often state that no benefit is paid to insured people. Approved society officials know that this is incorrect. Taking the most reliable estimate, the number of insured persons in the Free State, including deposit contributors, exempt persons and members of the military forces' insurance fund, is about 450,000. From March 1st, 1922, to 1926, benefit has been paid amounting to £2,333,852. In addition, there has been paid for medical certification a sum of £262,690. Prior to March 1st, 1922, they had paid in benefits for the whole country a sum of £5,120,9[illegible]2, together with a sum of £504,705 for medical certification.

In addition to this, contributions have been made to a nursing scheme in migratory labourer areas amounting to £2,845 for the period 1922-1926, and to £1,957 prior to 1922. For the year 1927 payments in respect of sickness and disablement benefits are on the increase. It is estimated that the payments for the year will amount to £670,110, and for medical certification a sum of £55,000, and for the nursing scheme a further sum of £500.

MEDICAL CERTIFICATES.

Medical certifiers issued medical certicates to insured persons during the last few years to the extent of:—1925, 830,000; 1926, 976,000; 1927 (estimated), 1,100,000.

Proceeding, he said that prior to the separation of the administration of the Acts between Northern Ireland and the Free State the department was actually responsible for the payment of benefits to insured people amounting to £5,627,614, and from the separation up to the end of this year a further sum of £3,324,997. They paid maternity benefit in respect of about 25,000 births yearly. As regards non-cash benefits, the committees of management responsible for the control of societies allocated considerably more than half their disposable surpluses to the provision of non-cash benefits devoted to the prevention and cure of disease. The annual sums thus made available were:—Dental treatment, £29,600; hospital and convalescent treatment, £16,220; optical treatment, £5,520; other benefits, £1,050.

RESERVES.

Dealing with the reserves held by the Free State Ministry of Finance, the Commissioners and the societies against liabilities under the Acts, he said that at the present moment the reserves necessary to meet all liabilities under the Acts amount to approximately £5,650,000. Of this amount, unredeemed reserve values (paper) amount to approximately £2,800,000, which earns interest at 3 per cent., and is gradually being converted into cash by means of sinking fund deductions from the weekly contributions paid. The cash part of the reserves amounts to £2,850,000. These reserves are required to provide future benefits under the Acts, and represent the excess of the estimated actuarial value of these benefits over the estimated actuarial value of future contributions in respect of present insured people. The principle of accumulation of reserves is not peculiar to National Health insurance. In all insurance propositions where the contribution remains the same throughout the period of contract, and the risk is an increasing one, reserves have to be accumulated out of current income to meet the deficiency in future income.

Dr. Rowlette, also responding, said that the health of Ireland was still unsatisfactory compared with other European nations, and until they stood side by side with other nations in the matter of health they could not hope to take their proper place as a nation.

Dr. W. J. Maguire, proposing the toast of "The Association," testified to the help the approved societies had given to the National Health Commissioners.

Mr. Bonner replied.

The remaining toast was "Our Guests," proposed by Mr. J. M. Devitt, the newly-elected President, and responded to by Sir William Thomson.

THE OFFICERS.

On the proposition of Mr. T. Hutchinson, seconded by Mr. Boyne, Mr. J. M. Devitt was unanimously elected President for the ensuing year. Mr. T. Hutchinson and Mr. J. Bonner, Derry, were elected Vice-Presidents. Messrs. W. St. G. Perrott and Mr. P. O'Donnell were re-elected hon. treasurer and hon. secretary, respectively, for the ensuing year. The outgoing Executive were re-elected, with the addition of Mr. R. G. Riordan, and the substitution of Mr. J. Bourke, Limerick, for Mr. J. Buckner, Limerick.

A "DRY" COMMITTEE.

RATHCOOLE LICENSING PROSECUTION.

For the defence in a case against William Leahy, licensed vintner, Rathcoole, summoned at Kilmainham District Court yesterday for a breach of the licensing laws on the 18th ult., it was stated by Mrs. Roche, a sister of the defendant, that members of a committee in control of a gymkhana held at Rathcoole used to leave their cars at the yard of Mr. Leahy's shop, and she was in the habit of entertaining them on meeting nights. They were her guests, and no money was taken for the refreshments.

Mr. Hanlon, Chairman of the Committee, bore out her evidence, and, in reply to Superintendent Reynolds, said that anyone in the district was eligible to help the committee of the gymkhana, which was for a charitable purpose.

The police evidence was that there were several men on the premises on the occasion. They ran out, and only two came back when the Guard called after them.

The Justice (Mr. [illegible]din) said that this committee seemed to have power to expand, and he advised Mrs. Roche that if there was another gymkhana in Rathcoole, she should be more careful; for if the whole committee turned up, they would eat her out of house and home. (Laughter.) He convicted, but, as there was no previous conviction, he would deal with the case under the Probation of Offenders Act.

The two men who returned to the premises were fined 10s. each.

'BUS OBSTRUCTION IN DUBLIN.

STANDS OUTSIDE CITY CONTEMPLATED.

"I think that you will have to put these people ('bus drivers) on a hazard outside the city," said District Justice Collins in the Dublin District Court yesterday, when told, during the hearing of a prosecution for obstruction, that motor 'buses had been parking on O'Connell Bridge and the adjoining quays, thereby interfering with the jarveys.

The police replied that it was already contemplated to establish stands for the long-distance 'buses outside the city.

It was stated that twenty-eight similar summonses had been brought against one of the 'bus companies, and that, in addition to these, thirty other summonses were listed for hearing in a few days. The present prosecution, which was brought against Michael O'Toole, an acting inspector for the Irish Omnibus Company, was adjourned for a week.

REFUSED TO LEAVE.

O'Toole was charged with having caused an obstruction at the O'Connell Bridge end of Aston's quay, refusing to remove a motor 'bus when requested by a Guard to do so.

A Guard stated that at the car hazard on Aston's quay he observed three long-distance 'buses, which should not have been there, and were causing an obstruction. The drivers of two of the 'buses left when their attention was called to the matter, but the defendant refused to go.

When Mr. Collins (Messrs. O'Neill and Collins), for the defendant, applied for an adjournment of the case, pending the hearing of other summonses before Mr. Little,

Mr. Finlay (instructed by Mr. O'Flaherty) said that in those cases he was appearing for the State, while Mr. Hector Hughes was counsel for the company, and he joined with Mr. Collins in his application for an adjournment of the case against O'Toole.

INTERFERING WITH JARVEYS.

The Justice expressed his surprise at motor cars and 'buses being parked in the centre of O'Connell Bridge and the adjoining quays.

Inspector Hurley, of the Police Traffic Department, pointed out that it was against the regulations for 'buses to remain stationary at that particular place.

Mr. Collins—And they are interfering with the poor jarveys?

The Inspector—Yes.

The Justice added that the regulation of this class of traffic presented a very difficult problem, which could not be solved by an old Act of Parliament. Common-sense, he thought, should be used. It was very difficult to control this modern type of traffic, and if the drivers were treated reasonably, they would take more and more liberties. "I think," added the Justice, "that you will have to put those people in a hazard outside the city."

STANDS OUTSIDE THE CITY.

Inspector Hurley replied that it was contemplated to establish stands for the long-distance 'buses outside the city, and in the meantime they did not want to prosecute those people if they could afford to avoid it. This defendant, however, had taken up a defiant attitude, and absolutely refused to take away his 'bus from the hazard. The jarvey carmen were complaining about those 'buses.

Mr. Collins—They were there long before the 'buses, which are interfering with them in this way.

The hearing of the case was then adjourned.

SLAUGHTERED CATTLE.

INSURING AGAINST FOOT-AND-MOUTH DISEASE.

With a view to providing compensation for Irish stock exporters, whose animals might be destroyed during the ten hours' detention period at cross-Channel ports in the event of an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease at such centres, "Achilles" writes suggesting that a solution to this vexed question is not unsurmountable. "What," he asks, "is to hinder State insurance on the contributory lines of the National Health Insurance? All the machinery necessary to the working of such a scheme is already in existence.

LEVY ON EXPORTED CATTLE.

"1—The insurance must be compulsory on all live stock exported from the Free State. This is necessary to the success of the scheme.

"2—This would take the form of a levy of, say, ⅛th% (or 2/6 per £100), to be imposed on the declared value of each lot for export. On the basis of £30,000,000 annual exports this would provide a sum of £37,500 per annum.

"3—The collection or assessment of the levy would involve neither difficulty nor expense. It could be collected by means of adhesive stamps described as "Live Stock Insurance" stamps of appropriate value affixed to forms already in use—viz., Customs declaration forms, containing values, etc., and which have to be filled up before the shipping companies accept live stock for shipment.

PROVING CLAIMS.

"Veterinary officers function at present to see that live stock leaving these ports have a clean bill of health.

"All that would be necessary in the case of loss arising would be a reference to the duly stamped declaration form and the production of the British authorities' certificate of destruction of stock to enable the shipper to establish his claim for compensation.

"It will be seen that a contribution of the merest fraction of the value of live stock exports, scarcely to be noticed, would produce a very substantial fund, ample to cover every emergency. A short bill introduced by Mr. Hogan to obtain powers to impose the levy and administer the fund would surely meet with no opposition in the Dail."

CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW.

EFFORT IN AID OF AN OLD DUBLIN HOSPITAL.

An exhibition of chrysanthemums is being held in Dublin at The Moorings, Merrion road, through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. John Good, in aid of the funds of Sir Patrick Dun's Hospital. Such well known varieties as Mrs. R. G. Pulling, a large yellow, with incurved petals; Mrs. George Monroe, a deep purple, with large velvety florets; Mrs. Barbor, a deep bronze, and Mrs. Algernon Davis, a large purple of the Japanese variety, are included in the display of blooms.

In the adjoining house is a large number of the single varieties, which are more popular and more useful from the decorative and cutting points of view. Among these are to be seen Descartes, a deep red, with an anenome centre; Queen Alexandra, an attractive pink; Phyllis Cooper, one of the best known of the yellow variety, and Mrs. Patching, a large purple, with an anenome centre.

Lovers of these flowers would be well advised to see this display, which will be on exhibition to-day and until Saturday. By visiting the exhibition they will also be helping one of our oldest city hospitals. Mrs. Good very kindly provides tea, with the assistance of a number of helpers.

HONOUR FOR IRISHWOMAN.

The Maxwell-Lefroy gold medal has been awarded to Miss Fannie O'Riordan, 39 Sydney street, Chelsea, London, for the best essay on "The Life History of the House Fly: Its Dangers and Destruction." Miss 'Riordan is a sanitary inspector in London. The medal is to be presented at the dinner of the College of Pestology at the Connaught Rooms, Great Queen street, London, on November 22nd.

EXTENSION OF ROTARY.

THE MOVEMENT IN IRELAND.

Speaking on "Rotary Extension," at a meeting of the Rotary Club, Dublin, held in Jury's Restaurant, last night, Mr. Charles McGloughlin said that Rotary must be accepted as serving a useful purpose wherever established. It was capable of universal application, without interfering with either religion or politics. Its chief aim was to bring about a better understanding and greater good-will between members of the community, individually and collectively. They could visualise what their conference would be like if they had twenty clubs in Ireland. Their influence would be immense. Personally, he hoped that someone would yet be found in Rotary who would find a means of making contact with the workers on Rotary lines. He did not quite see how it was to be done, but he hoped that it would be done.

There were 2,658 Rotary Clubs in the world, with 398 places where they might be established. In addition to those in Europe and North and South America, they had clubs in Asiatic countries, such as China and Japan, and India. It showed how simple was their code when people of so many divergent views in religion and politics could come together as Rotarians.

They now had four clubs in Ireland. There were other towns besides those which had clubs capable of maintaining a Rotary Club. Several of these had populations of over 10,000, and should have a classification for a club of, say, thirty members. Amongst towns where survey work had been done were Ballymena, Drogheda, Athlone, Galway, Dun Laoghaire, Lisburn, Lurgan, Newry, Sligo, Waterford and Wexford. Something had also been done in Limerick and Dundalk, and the Belfast Club was taking up Coleraine. He spoke enthusiastically of the progress which had been made in Cork.

They were plunging heavily into international Rotary, but no progress could be made unless they had local and semi-local understanding and good-will. They should pay more attention to the development of Rotary in their own towns than they gave to it abroad.

Mr. Charles Jacob said that in Rotary they had something worth while. They should extend it to every town in the country. What was wanted in Ireland was friendship between class and class and interest and interest. Why should they not have clubs in Waterford and Galway? During a recent visit he was very much struck by the improvements which had been made in Galway. He was not at all sure that it might not be better to form a group of towns for the purposes of a Rotary Club. People with motor cars could easily meet at a given centre, and in that way a larger classification could be obtained.

Mr. W. Findlater believed that if the spirit of Rotary was to go on they must get in touch with the working man.

Mr. Lionel Smith-Gordon, Vice-President, presided.

BELFAST DIRECTORS AND ISSUE OF PROSPECTUS.

JUDGE'S RULING IN WORKMAN, CLARK CASE.

NO EVIDENCE TO GO TO THE JURY.

From Our Correspondent.

BELFAST, Monday.

An important stage was reached to-day in the case at hearing before Mr. Justice Brown in the High Court arising out of the issue of £3,000,000 Debentures in connection with Messrs. Workman, Clark and Co.

His Lordship gave judgment in applications, which were made on behalf of Sir George Clark, Mr. George Clark, Mr. C. E. Allan, and Sir John Esplen, that there was no evidence to go to the jury connecting any one of them with the issue of the prospectus, which the plaintiff, Mr. William Urquhart, alleged to be fraudulent. His lordship acceded to the application.

THE ONE ISSUE.

His Lordship said that in the few remarks he proposed to make he wanted very carefully to guard against saying anything which might be deemed to affect the case outside that application. It must not be assumed, if he did not say anything on other points, that it had any effect upon either the truth or untruth, the honesty or fraud of the statements contained in the prospectus. He confined himself to the one issue only—whether, in fact, there was any evidence connecting them with the making of the statements. He merely remarked at the beginning that the charge alleged against these defendants was one of fraud. They were charged with making fraudulent statements. That was a personal charge. It was a charge against each of them in their individual capacity. Consequently, he need hardly say that, having regard to the importance, not only of the case, but of that issue, to the plaintiff, on the one hand, and, on the other, to these defendants individually, he had given a great deal of care and attention, not only to the evidence put before him, but also to the arguments strongly and forcibly put by counsel on both sides.

THE PROBLEM.

The problem that he had to deal with was whether there was any evidence to go to the jury with regard to this matter. Now, on what evidence did the plaintiff rely? In the first place, he relied on the document itself, which was called a prospectus. It was not to be assumed that he was saying anything as to the statutory court or giving any comment on this document which is marked as a prospectus. The first thing on which the plaintiff relies was that document, which he said was a prospectus for the sale of debentures, and had upon it the names of these defendants, among others, as directors of the firm of Workman Clark.

He (the plaintiff) relied upon that as showing that they authorised it, as their names are upon it. The Attorney-General, in opening his argument for some of the defendants, said that on the face of it it was an offer for sale of debentures by Messrs. Sperling, but on the back it was a prospectus of Workman Clark, because that appeared on it. A person looking at this prospectus would see the words, "Workman, Clark and Co., Ltd. Prospectus." But a man who took a prospectus to read it, and see if he would invest his money or not, read, at any rate, more than appeared on the back. An ordinary reader reading this document would find several things in it. He would find that all the shares of Workman, Clark and Co. were now in the hands of the Northumberland Shipbuilding Co. He would find that the whole of the debenture issue had been sold to Messrs. Sperling and Co. He would find it stated that the issue was offered to the public by Messrs. Sperling, as purchasers of the debentures, and the application form accompanying the prospectus was addressed, not to Messrs. Workman, Clark or their bankers, but to Messrs. Sperling and Co., who made the offer for sale.

TWO DOCUMENTS.

Proceeding, his Lordship said that the prospectus contained two documents of very great importance: one detailed the profits of the company to January, 1920, furnished by Mr. Henry Boyd, who made an investigation on behalf of debenture holders who were now offering them for sale. The other document was a letter from Mr. R. A. Workman, Chairman of the Northumberland Shipbuilding Co., addressed to Messrs. Sperling and Co. These were the two principal documents in the prospectus. Then, at the end of the prospectus, having stated clearly in the body of the document that it was issued by Messrs. Sperling, are given further details, and among these are the names of the ten gentlemen who were directors of Messrs. Workman, Clark and Co.

In going through this prospectus carefully, and perusing it sentence by sentence, he (his lordship) failed to find anything in it which connected the parts in the end—the names of directors—with the statements that were made in the body of the prospectus. It was quite clear that the information given at the end of the prospectus was given merely as information and details of the company, whose debentures were being offered for sale. It did not concern the prospectus in itself, and it was not purported to be signed by these gentlemen or authorised by them, or any of them. Consequently, he had come to the clear conclusion that, as far as the document itself was concerned, it did not afford any evidence that it was authorised by the directors, or any one of them.

THE HISTORY OF THE CASE.

That was only one part of the plaintiff's case. He relied also, in addition to the prospectus, very strongly upon the history of the case, including correspondence and minutes, as supplemented by the evidence of Mr. Strahan. It would be necessary for him to see if there was any evidence, apart from the prospectus, to show that this document was issued by these gentlemen, either directly themselves, or, as alleged, through their agents, Messrs. Sperling. It was alleged that if these gentlemen did not issue it themselves that Messrs. Sperling were merely acting as agents for these gentlemen, among others.

Continuing, his Lordship said that in 1919 there was some trouble in the management of the yard. There were eight directors divided clearly into two camps—the Clark party and the Workman party. Minute after minute was read, which showed that the two parties were in direct opposition, and it was seen that the yard could not go on under that management, and had come almost to a deadlock. From the minute of the 23rd December, 1919, which had been very strongly relied upon by the plaintiff, it would be found that at that date all parties seemed to have recognised that there would have to be a change in the control of the yard.

Various offers were made by interested parties to purchase the whole of the shares. Mr. Frank Workman made an offer of £80 per share, and Sir George Clark made a counter-offer of £81 per share, while they had the evidence of Mr. Strahan that he also made an offer.

SIR GEORGE CLARK.

Sir George Clark subsequently withdrew his offer, and agreed that Mr. Frank Workman's offer should be accepted, and, in fact, the whole control of the old directors passed to Mr. Workman on behalf of the Northumberland Shipbuilding Company. The changed attitude of Sir George Clark was relied upon very strongly by the plaintiff, and that he became a party to the arrangement, by which he and the other directors of the Northumberland Shipbuilding Company should all combine together to defraud the public, and should get their money for these shares, and that the public should be asked to subscribe that money by Debentures. He (his Lordship) could find no evidence of that.

The only real explanation of that changed attitude of Sir George Clark was, he believed, that given by his counsel, Mr. Pringle, when he stated that Sir George had got tired of the squabbling going on and that some change ought to be made. He could not hold out to it any longer, and when a firm offer was received by Mr. Workman to buy the shares on behalf of the Northumberland Shipbuilding Company he was prepared to let them go. The conduct of Sir George Clark and Mr. George E. Clark seemed to his lordship to be what one would expect from them, because they found that although they sold their shares they made provision that some of the old directors should be kept on for a year, in order that they might see that their obligations to their customers and their old staff should be carried out.

A TELEGRAM.

Proceeding, his lordship read in detail the correspondence and telegrams which passed between the Belfast directors and Messrs. Sperling, Sir Mackay Edgar, and Mr. R. A. Workman, including a telegram from the latter dated 30th January, 1920, to Mr. Frank Workman, as follows:—"Telegram received. Have seen Marriott (solicitor to company). He advises directors of Workman, Clark and Co., Ltd., have no responsibility whatever in connection with prospectus, which is issued by Sperling and Co. You cannot prevent Sperlings stating the fact that you are directors of the company. But I should be glad if you would let me know on what points you disagree, so that matter can be fully considered here."

That telegram was in reply to one signed by "Workman, Allen and Clark," in which they said:—"We are certainly taken as subscribing to the statements in the prospectus, and we do not agree to our names being attached to the draft as it stands. We note Edgar says prospectus can be corrected before public issue, but any material difference would vitiate underwriting, which is at present being entered into. We object to Boyd's estimates of profits, which is impossible; and to his valuation, which we think is too high. If you can issue fresh prints without our names we cannot object."

MESSRS. SPERLING.

His Lordship was of the opinion that these telegrams showed clearly that Messrs. Sperling were not acting as agents for the Belfast directors.

Dealing with all the evidence that had been relied on, his lordship said he had no doubt that the old directors knew of the issue of the debentures. They knew the object to which the money raised by the issue was to be applied. They saw and discussed the prospectus, and further gave some assistance in the preparation of the prospectus; but he found no evidence to submit to the jury that these directors, or any of them, made themselves responsible for the issue of the prospectus, either directly or indirectly.

Consequently, as far as these three gentlemen were concerned, he acceded to the application made on their behalf by their counsel, and he so directed.

With regard to Sir John Esplen, for whom Mr. Beattie, K.C., made a similar application, he was in a different position; but the charge against him was also a personal one of fraud. He was a distinguished naval architect, who joined the Board of Workman, Clark and Co. on 10th February, 1920, the day on which the momentous decision was reached to issue the prospectus. He had no evidence that at any time before the issue of the prospectus Sir John Esplen either saw it, knew about it, or was consulted in any way in regard to it.

He (his Lordship) had come to the conclusion that he was bound to accede to the request. There was no evidence before him to go to the jury connecting any one of these defendants with the issue of the prospectus.

APPLICATION FOR AN APPEAL.

Mr. Murphy, K.C., said, without passing criticism on his lordship's judgment, by which, he admitted, he was bound, the subject matter of the judgment that had just been delivered was a matter that would be the subject of an application to the Court of Appeal.

Mr. Whitaker, K.C., continued his arguments in support of the application he made on behalf of Messrs. Sperling and Co. last Thursday.

Mr. Murphy replied to Mr. Whitaker's arguments. He submitted that there was ample reason why the application should be refused. The proceeds of the debenture issue, he said, should have been used by Workman, Clark and Co. in the course of their business as shipbuilders. Sperlings, he submitted, knew that the defendants intended to apply the money in a certain way, and it clearly was a misstatement to say that they did not intend to use it in that way. He maintained that those who issued a prospectus of that kind without any direct statement as to the purpose for which it was issued did so deliberately. There was no clear definite statement as to the object of the issue; but there were a number of general statements about new berths, extensions to the engineering works, etc. Reading that, he submitted, the plaintiff was bound to form the opinion, which he did form, that the proceeds of the issue were to be applied for the purpose of extending the business of the firm. An attempt had been made to dissociate Messrs. Sperling and Co. from actions, in relation to Workman, Clark and Co., of Sir E. Mackay Edgar; but he (Mr. Murphy) reminded his Lordship that the law on the subject of partnership laid it down that a partner must be assumed, in certain circumstances, to be acting for his firm. Sir Mackay Edgar was a partner in Sperlings who had all along been connected with the transaction.

SIR MACKAY EDGAR.

His Lordship—Do you seriously suggest that information which Sir Mackay Edgar had in his capacity as director of Workman, Clark must be imputed to Sperlings? The letters which have been read have been addressed to him as a director of Workman, Clark and Co.

Mr. Murphy—But all along he was a partner in Sperlings, who have throughout been actively engaged in the whole business. They must, I submit, share the responsibility for his actions. He submitted that the inclusion of Mr. Boyd's valuation, with which the old directors had disagreed, was evidence against Sperling and Co. He maintained that Sperling and Co. knew it was not a true valuation.

The Court adjourned till to-morrow.

THE ANSWER IS IN THE NEGATIVE.

HOWTH URBAN COUNCIL AND THE CALL TO RESIGN.

The action recently taken by the Howth ratepayers at a specially convened meeting held in the St. Lawrence Hall, Howth, at which resolutions were passed calling upon the Council to resign, came up for consideration at the monthly meeting of the Howth Urban District Council last night.

Copies of the resolutions were forwarded to the Council and read by the Clerk.

Chairman (Mr. T. J. Geary)—"Any remarks, ladies and gentlemen?"

All the councillors remained silent.

Chairman (after a pause)—"Are you going to take any action on this correspondence?"

There was another pause.

Mr. B. J. Newcombe—"Do you feel called upon to resign, Mr. Chairman?"

"No," replied the Chairman, amidst subdued laughter.

There was another pause, and the Chairman felt constrained to ask again: "Any remarks, ladies and gentlemen?"

A chorus of "Noes" greeted his query, and then the business of the meeting continued.

GOOD HUSBAND, BUT A BAD CITIZEN.

FOUR MONTHS FOR THEFT.

When it was stated of a prisoner charged at the Belfast Custody Court yesterday that he had a bad record, his wife came forward and said that he was a good husband.

Mr. P. J. O'Donoghue, R.M.—He may be, but he is a bad citizen.

The prisoner—Patrick McKee, Devonshire street (Grosvenor road)—who was charged with the larceny of forty-five yards of shirting material, the property of Messrs. John Fulton and Company, Limited, was sentenced to four months' hard labour.

Sir Hugh Bell was yesterday elected Chairman, for the 24th successive year, of the Tees Conservancy Commission, on which he has served 53 years.

YESTERDAY'S CASES IN THE COURTS.

FALL INTO CELLAR.

APPEAL AGAINST DAMAGES.

(BEFORE THE CHIEF JUSTICE, MR. JUSTICE FITZGIBBON, AND MR. JUSTICE MURNAGHAN.)

The hearing was resumed of the appeal by the defendant in the case of Frances Warnock, of 20 Nelson street, against Kathleen Maguire, of 15 Windsor terrace, Fairview Strand, Dublin, from the judgment of Special Commissioners Lynch, K.C., and Fitzgerald, K.C., awarding the plaintiff £100 damages with costs for personal injuries sustained by her through the alleged negligence of the defendant in having the cover, or lid, of a coal cellar at No. 1 Nelson street, of which the defendant is landlady or owner, in a defective condition.

The case had come before the Commissioners on appeal by the plaintiff from an order made by Judge Pigot, dismissing the plaintiff's action for damages on the ground that the defendant was not liable for the accident on the evidence. The defendant now sought an order setting aside the order made by the Commissioners.

Mr. Moloney, K.C., and Mr. Ignatius Kelly (instructed by Messrs. J. H. Walsh and Co.) appeared for the appellant and defendant; Mr. Battersby, K.C., and Mr. James Cawley (instructed by Messrs. Roger Greene and Sons) for the respondent and plaintiff.

CASE FOR APPELLANT.

Mr. Moloney, concluding his opening argument in support of the appeal, submitted that the Circuit Judge was right in his finding under the circumstances, and that the appeal should be allowed. Pointing out that for the period of eight or ten years the cover of the cellar had been in a perfectly safe condition, and that, according to the evidence, it had been kicked by somebody, and possibly replaced in a careless manner, he submitted that the onus of liability lay on the occupier of the premises, as the defendant, who was bound by a covenant to do the external repairs only, had no more right than any member of the outside public to examine the internal fittings of the premises, including the covering of the cellar, the tenant having the entire management of the place.

The only evidence of negligence, or of anything being wrong, was that the cover had been kicked by a girl two months before the accident, and by a man on the morning of the day of the accident, the man having put the cover back again.

A DIFFICULTY.

The Chief Justice, adverting to the section dealing with appeals to the Supreme Court, referred to the difficulty they had in deciding a case like this, which was tried without a jury, and largely depended upon the inferences to be drawn from the facts.

Mr. Moloney said that the appeal had been brought for decision on the law as on the inferences of fact, and he submitted that the Circuit Judge was perfectly right in his inferences of fact as well as in law.

Mr. Kelly, following on the same side, contended that liability for the accident in this case, as between the parties, depended upon notice. Miss Maguire, as landlady, had no control over the premises, and she could not go and examine the cover or lid of the cellar in order to repair it until she had got notice of it being defective. Undoubtedly she had contracted to repair, but on the question of maintenance she had no liability until she had got notice of the want of repair.

Mr. Battersby, K.C., for the respondent, said that this case appeared to him to be one of fact entirely. He submitted that so far as notice was concerned, the defendant had ample notice, having regard to the fact that the matter of the disrepair of the premises had been in the hands of Corporation officials. He cited some cases of a similar nature in which no reference whatever had been made to the question of "notice" which had been raised in this case.

Counsel had not concluded when the Court rose, and the further hearing was adjourned till this morning.

CO. WICKLOW SLANDER ACTION.

JUDGMENT FOR DEFENDANTS.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN AND A JURY.)

Two actions, the plaintiff in both of which was Ellen Murray, wife of John Murray, a labourer now residing at Killahurler, and formerly at Coolgarrow, Woodenbridge, Co. Wicklow, were heard. The defendant in one of the actions was Edward Johnston, shopkeeper and farmer, of Avoca, and in the other his mother, Mrs. Mary Johnston. A third action by the same plaintiff against the Rev. George Gibson Bolton, Rector of Castlemacadam, was tried last Thursday, but the jury disagreed and were discharged.

In all three cases the plaintiff had claimed damages for alleged slander. Of the two remaining cases, it was decided to hear first the action against Edward Johnston. The plaintiff claimed £500, the alleged slander consisting, the plaintiff stated, in statements which reflected on her moral character.

THE DEFENCE.

The defendant traversed the allegations in the statement of claim, and alternatively pleaded that, if the words, or any of them, were spoken or published, they were spoken or published on a privileged occasion.

Mr. Lupton, K.C., Mr. Henry, K.C., and Mr. Tobias (instructed by Mr. George F. Fleming) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Joseph O'Connor, K.C., Mr. Dockrell, K.C., and Mr. Kingsmill Moore (instructed by Messrs. M. J. O'Connor and Co.) for the defendant.

The case for the plaintiff having closed,

Mr. Justice Sullivan, on the application of counsel for the defendant, held that the occasion was privileged, and he directed the jury to find for the defendant. He added that it was unnecessary to say that at no time in the course of this case was it suggested, nor could it be suggested, that there was any substance in any charge whatsoever against Mrs. Murray. The whole case proceeded on the assumption that Mrs. Murray was a woman of spotless character and reputation, and she left the court with that character. He ruled against her on a matter of law.

It being admitted that the evidence would be the same in the case against Mrs. Mary Johnston, Mr. Justice Sullivan gave a similar ruling, and judgment was entered for the defendant in this case also, with costs.

A HORSE'S HEAD.

LIBERTY TO SELL OIL PAINTING.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

In the matter of the estate of Thomas Drummond Lambert, deceased—William Hamilton Lambert, of Mount Anthony, Ardee road, Rathmines, plaintiff, and Bridie Mary Lambert and others, defendants,

Mr. Tobias (instructed by Messrs. Milward Jones, Mayne and Sharpe), on behalf of the plaintiff, who is personal representative of the deceased Mr. Lambert, applied for an order declaring a certain original oil painting of a horse's head to be an asset of the deceased man, and for liberty to sell it by public auction or otherwise.

Messrs. Arthur Cox and Co., solicitors, for Bridie M. Lambert, and Messrs. Giltrap and Lambert, solicitors, for the other defendants, consenting,

Mr. Justice Johnston granted the application.

MOY FISHERIES.

DISCOVERY OF DOCUMENTS.

(BEFORE THE MASTER OF THE HIGH COURT)

In a case of Margaret Little and twelve other plaintiffs against John Moylett and nineteen other defendants,

Mr. Conor A. Maguire (instructed by Messrs. Ruttledge and Corr), on behalf of the defendants, renewed his application for an order for discovery of documents by the plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs claim a declaration that they are possessed of a several fishery in the River Moy, in the Counties of Mayo and Sligo, and an injunction restraining the defendants from, as alleged, trespassing on the fishery.

The defendants deny the allegations made against them by the plaintiffs in their statement of claim, and plead that the plaintiffs, or their predecessors, granted to them the right of fishing in the portions of the river in which the plaintiffs claim a several fishery.

Messrs. Newett (instructed by Messrs. William J. Shannon and Co.), on behalf of the plaintiffs, applied for a cross order for discovery by the defendants.

The Master granted both applications.

Thousands of ladies keep a box of Martin's Pills in the house. Those who use them recommend them, hence their enormous sale. Price 5s. Sold by all Chemists and Stores; or post free from Proprietors, Martin, Chemist, Southampton. —(Advt.)

HORSE DEALER'S INJURIES.

£675 DAMAGES.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA AND A JURY.)

An action was heard in which Bernard Nugent, Montpelier Hill, Dublin, horse dealer, was plaintiff, and John Minchin, Gladstone street, Clonmel, merchant, and William Murphy, Waterside, Waterford, horse dealer, were defendants.

The plaintiff claimed damages for personal injuries sustained by reason of the alleged negligence of the defendants, their servants or agents, in the driving and management of a motor car, the property of the defendant, William Murphy, and of a motor lorry, the property of the defendant, John Minchin, on the Clonmel-Dungarvan road on July 5 last.

The defendants denied that the plaintiff sustained injury.

Mr. Wood, K.C.; Mr. Geoghegan, K.C.; Mr. Reardon, K.C., and Mr. O Briain (instructed by Mr. James Fagan) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Dockrell, K.C., and Mr. R. McLoughlin (instructed by Messrs. J. H. McLoughlin and Son) for the defendants.

At the outset Mr. Wood said that negligence was admitted, and it was for the jury to assess damages.

It was agreed that damages should be assessed jointly, and for this purpose medical evidence was heard, and also the evidence of the plaintiff.

The jury assessed damages at £675, and Mr. Justice Hanna gave judgment for the plaintiff for that amount, with costs, directing that the money in Court be paid out.

Mr. Justice Hanna congratulated Mr. Reardon on having been called to the Inner Bar, and Mr. Reardon thanked his lordship for the compliment.

"BURNED OUT OF HIS HOME."

CASE SENT TO CIRCUIT COURT.

(BEFORE THE MASTER OF THE HIGH COURT)

In an action brought by James Lancaster, Ardcarne, Ballinasloe, against H. M. Barrett, farmer, Tulrush, Co. Roscommon, to have an account taken of what is due by defendant in connection with a mortagage dated in February, 1905, between defendant and plaintiff, and asking for a sale of lands of defendant at Tulrush.

Mr. Sainsbury (instructed by Mr. H. Davidson), for plaintiff, applied for judgment.

Mr. Patterson, with whom was Mr. Hector Hughes, K.C. (instructed by Mr. C. Magwood), for defendant, said that the amount claimed by plaintiff was only £37 odd, and if there were an issue to be tried the case should be sent to the Circuit Court. There was, however, an issue, as defendant made an affidavit stating that he had paid some of the money, and had tendered the rest before the action was brought. Mr. Barrett, counsel said, had been burned out of his house and put to a great deal of trouble, his house being raided and he being compelled to leave Ireland for a considerable period.

By consent the action was sent to the Circuit Court to have an account taken as to what, if anything, was due by defendant.

ROSCOMMON LANDS.

ORDER IN ADMINISTRATION SUIT.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

In the matter of Arthur Fox, deceased, in an action by Hubert Fox, farmer, Drummullin, Elphin, Co. Roscommon, against Mary Fox, Lissanoran,

Mr. Hector Hughes (instructed by Mr. P. J. Callery) for plaintiff, applied for an order that the lands of Lissanoran, comprising 196 acres, forming portion of the assets of deceased man, be sold forthwith in one lot. It was, counsel said, an administration suit, and the defendant was administratrix; plaintiff, deceased man, and she being brothers and sister.

Mr. Hogan (instructed by Mr. J. A. Pettit), for defendant, asked that the sale should be in three lots, as a better price would be obtained in that way.

Mr. Justice Meredith directed that the lands be sold in one lot.

His lordship congratulated Mr. Hector Hughes on his elevation to the Senior Bar.

Mr. Hughes returned thanks.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT (CRIMINAL)

STOLEN MOTORS.

DEALER ACQUITTED ON RECEIVING CHARGE.

(BEFORE JUDGE ROCHE.)

Stanley Joyce pleaded guilty to having, between May and September last, stolen a number of electric motors, the property of the General Electric Company.

Henry Coleman pleaded not guilty to receiving the motors. He was defended by Mr. Nolan-Whelan (instructed by Mr. D. H. Charles).

Mr. Mombrum, Dublin manager of the General Electric Company, gave evidence as to the receipt, in June last, of ten electric motors, and said that in September he missed five of them. About the end of the month one of his engineers, Mr. Ellis, showed him one of the missing motors. A day or two afterwards Detective Sergeant Lynch showed him another of the motors. Later in the same month Coleman brought him two of the missing motors. Each was valued at £3 3s. They were made specially for the Post Office to fit telegraphic machines.

Cross-examined—Coleman was in a very substantial way of business, and he had had many transactions with his firm—the Scientific Electric Works, Charlotte street.

Mr. Mombrum said that in a covering letter returning two of the missing motors Mr. Coleman said that they had been regained by them as the result of advertisements in the Press. They had cost his firm £6 10s.—£2 5s. original purchase price and £4 10s. repurchase. The accused man told him that he bought the motors from a man from whom he had previously bought lamps, etc.

Mr. Ellis, of the General Electric Company, stated that early in September, while on business at Coleman's shop, he saw one of the motors in the window. He purchased the motor from Mr. Coleman for £1 5s. He told Mr. Coleman that the motor was a stolen one and that it was the property of the General Electric Company.

Stanley Joyce, who had pleaded guilty to the larceny of the motors, said that he sold them all to the defendant, Coleman. He got 10s. for two of them and 7s. 6d. for the other three. At no time did Coleman ask him where he got them. The witness was afterwards arrested in Cork.

Cross-examined by Mr. Nolan-Whelan, the witness said that he also sold files to Mr. Coleman and two motors to a man in Terenure.

Coleman, in evidence, said that he believed Joyce to be a "jobber," and had bought files and hacksaws from him. Joyce brought him one of the motors, and he purchased it for £1 2s. 6d. Later Joyce brought two others, for which he paid £1 1s. 6d. each. He put the motors in the window for sale, and sold two of them for £1 12s. 6d. each. When he learned that they were stolen property he advertised offering the customer who bought them double the value for them if he brought them back.

The jury found Coleman not guilty, and he was discharged. Joyce was put back.

CHARGE AGAINST SISTERS.

Charged with having, with other persons unknown, concealed the birth of a newly-born infant, and with having concealed the infant's dead body, Rose and Kathleen Bowler, sisters, neither of whom was the mother of the infant, were allowed out on their own recognisances to keep the peace for two years. They were seen in a church with a parcel by the sacristan, who told them to take it away. They then went to a neighbouring house and asked the woman there to keep the parcel until they returned from the church. On the parcel being opened it was found to contain the decomposing body of an infant.

The Court adjourned until to-day.

THE DUBLIN SAILORS' REST. SHIPMATES SALE OF WORK.

The Committee of the above Rest desire to thank all those who so kindly helped to make the Sale so successful as it was. The total amount received at the Sale was £573 1/5, and the expenses £24 9/9, leaving a nett sum of £548 11/8 to the credit of the Sale. This amount includes two sums of money, to the donors of which the Committee were unable to send official receipts—namely, Miss Devenish £5 and "Help," Blackrock, £1. The aim of the Committee was £700, and, considering that they had two of the wettest days in October for the Sale, the above figures speak volumes for the sympathetic help of the friends of the Society, to whom the Committee offer this expression of their thanks.

J. S. CROCKETT, Hon. Sec.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

TREASON CHARGE.

NAMES ON MOTOR DRIVER'S LICENCES.

(BEFORE MR. COLLINS.)

Sean Russell, North Strand road, described as of no business, and Michael Price, Killarney parade, clerk, were brought up on remand, charged with having assisted in the formation or maintenance of a military organisation, or an organisation of a military character, contrary to the provisions of the Treason Act, 1927.

There was a new charge of being in illegal possession of the Chevrolet motor car, Y I 8473.

Mr. Finlay (instructed by Mr. O'Flaherty, of the State Solicitor's Office) prosecuted. The accused men were not professionally represented, and said nothing during the proceedings.

Detective-Sergeant Byrne gave evidence that he assisted at the arrest of the prisoners at the North Strand on the night of the 6th inst. On Russell he found a motor driver's licence for each of the three years from October, 1925, to October, 1928. Two were issued in the name of John O'Brien, 108 North Strand, and the third in that of John O'Brien, 10 St. Brigid's avenue.

Also in Russell's possession was a notebook containing rough entries indicating the decisions come to on the different items of the agenda of a meeting. These entries were included:—

"Suggested by M. P. that 28 and 29 be first put to the con.—Geo. P. suggested amendment.—P. O'D. spoke very nicely to this."

"Open organisation close to A."

"Get E. to act—people."

"29.—J. J. S. says he could not recommend adoption of this—too revolutionary—moral right."

Mr. Finlay—Were the prisoners asked to account for the possession of the car?—Yes.

Did they give any explanation?—None whatsoever.

John O'Brien, 108 North Strand road, gave evidence that up to 1925 he had a taxicab and a driver's licence in his own name. Having given up the taxi business, he had not applied for a driver's licence, and had not authorised anyone to do so.

James O'Brien, 10 St. Brigid's avenue, stated that his son, John, living at that address, had a motor driver's licence. It was still in his possession.

Mr. Collins—How did they come to issue two drivers' licences to the same person for the same period? Was the licence found on Russell genuine?

Mr. Finlay—Quite genuine. Apparently, if a person applies for a licence, gives a name and pays the fee, he gets it as a matter of course.

Stephen J. Redmond, Leinster Motor Works, Clare street, deposed that early in July two men came to him to buy a motor car. He brought them to Archer's, Mount street, and there he purchased for them, for £70, the Chevrolet car, Y I 8473. One of the two men was Russell, the accused, and he paid for the car.

Mr. Finlay—Did you say to Sergeant Hughes that you knew Michael Price and Sean Russell, and that it was to neither of them that the car was handed over? When did you ascertain that it was Russell purchased the car?

The Witness—I did not know for certain until I saw him to-day in Court. He was heavily disguised at the time.

Mr. Finlay—In view of this man's evidence now I can do nothing but ask that the charge of illegal possession be dismissed.

The Justice did so, and on the other charges returned the prisoners in custody for trial at the Central Criminal Court.

INFANT'S BODY DROPPED FROM CAR.

DOMESTIC SERVANT SENT FOR TRIAL.

Mary Gorman, domestic servant, was returned for trial to the Central Criminal Court, charged with the murder of her female infant on or about the 3rd November last.

Mr. A. H. Smith, of Oaklands Park, Sandymount, stated that the accused was employed by him as a domestic servant on the 22nd October, and left his employment on the 4th November. On the morning of her departure she took advantage of a seat in his motor car to journey to the city. He let her down at Burgh quay. When leaving Oaklands she took with her two brown paper parcels.

Fireman William Tierney, who was standing outside the Central Fire Brigade Station in Great Brunswick street, on the morning of the 4th November, stated that he picked up a brown paper parcel from the roadway a few moments after a slate-coloured motor car had passed citywards. The parcel contained the dead body of a newly-born child.

Andrew Byrne stated that he observed a parcel falling or being thrown out of a motor car in Great Brunswick street on the morning of the 4th.

Evidence of the tracing of the car was given by Guard 112 B, and the medical evidence was that the infant's death was due to strangulation.

MOTOR DRIVER EXONERATED.

Informations were refused in a case in which Dermot Dickie, Seatown House, Swords, was charged with having caused the death of Mortimer Clancy by knocking him down while driving a motor car in Dorset street on the evening of November 17 last. The deceased man was knocked down by the car when crossing to the sidewalk after alighting from a tramcar, and the defence was that, owing to fog and mist, the view was obscured, and the defendant, who was driving slowly, did everything possible to avoid the accident.

RACECOURSE BETS.

BOOKMAKER WINS APPEAL.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

Richard Fanning, registered course bookmaker, of Millmount avenue, Drumcondra, appealed against the refusal of the Civic Guard Superintendent to grant him a certificate of personal fitness to enable him to secure the renewal of his licence under the Betting Act. The grounds for the refusal were that the appellant had neglected to pay three different clients who had won on bets made.

J. P. Mulhall, Maryborough, stated that at the Curragh Races on June 22 he wagered £1 with the defendant and won 36s. At the time he was paid only 16s., and he did not receive the £1 balance until some months later.

In answer to Mr. Hector Hughes, who appeared for the bookmaker, the witness stated that he made the bet with James Fanning, but the name on the ticket was Dick Fanning.

J. F. Mooney, Mountrath, gave evidence of a betting transaction with Dick Fanning at the same meeting.

The appellant gave evidence that he was not at the Curragh on the date given. His son, James, who was betting there, used his bag and tickets.

The Justice allowed the appeal, saying that he was influenced by the good character of the appellant for over twenty years. He, however, refused the application of Mr. Hughes that his client should be allowed costs against the State.

IRISH DISTRESSED LADIES' FUND.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Irish Distressed Ladies' Fund was held at their office, 6 Merrion square, Dublin, on Friday last, Mr. Charles H. Chaytor in the chair. There were also present:—Lady Moore, Colonel Tottenham, the Hon. Mrs. Plunket, Lady Talbot de Malahide, Miss Tottenham, Mrs. G. F. Stewart, Miss Kenny and Madam MacDermott. Letters of apology for absence were received from Lady Arnott, D.B.E.; Lieutenant-Colonel Baillie, and Mr. R. D. Pack Beresford, D.L.

The monthly pension list having been submitted, cheques amounting to £63 were ordered to be issued, together with £21 fuel grants.

The Secretary reported having received £18 17s. from Mrs. Smyth, Hon. Secretary, Westmeath; £10 18s. per Miss Beatrice Harman, Co. Longford; £33 8s. from Mrs. Goodbody, Hon. Secretary, Co. Limerick, together with £24 received from Miss Tottenham, Co. Wicklow, and £35 9s. from Miss D. Prior Wandesforde, Co. Kilkenny.

It was ordered that the warm thanks of the Committee should be forwarded for the valuable aid offered. The Committee then adjourned to the 16th December.

EXPLOSIONS IN COCOA FACTORY.

DAMAGES FOR RESIDENTS.

(BEFORE JUDGE DAVITT.)

Francis G. Flanagan and Richard J. Flanagan, of Shamrock Cottage, Inchicore road, Dublin, applied for an injunction against Messrs. Rowntree and Company, cocoa, chocolate and sweet manufacturers, to restrain them from causing annoyance and injury to the plaintiffs by the working of a gas engine on the defendants' premises, which are adjacent to the plaintiff's residence.

The plaintiffs alleged that the engine, being worked day and night, created a noise with back-fire explosions, and emitted fumes which were all very disturbing to the plaintiffs. In addition to these inconveniences, the vibration from the engine caused injury to the walls of the plaintiff's house.

The defendants denied the plaintiff's allegations, and contended that there were neither noxious fumes from the engine that could possibly cause inconvenience to the plaintiffs, nor any noise of which they could now reasonably complain.

Mr. Frederick Hayes, architect, said that when he visited the plaintiffs' house in April last he felt the inner walls vibrating, and saw the delph shake on the dresser. There was no doubt that in time the vibration would have seriously damaged the fabric of the house. He also noticed the noise that came from the pit in which the engine was situated.

Mr. Walker (for the plaintiffs) said that since the action was brought the vibration had been "cured to a tremendous extent."

Mr. Francis Flanagan, in his evidence, said that since September, 1925, when the factory was opened, his mother, his brother and himself had suffered terribly from the noise, the fumes, and the smoke from the factory. The explosions were sometimes so terrible that the residents in the neighbourhood ran out of their houses. One explosion was so violent that it blew the cover off the boiler.

Mr. Alexander Reid, who lives at 46 Inchicore road, said that the noise that came from the engine resembled that which was made by a motor cycle. It was so disagreeable at night that a lady visitor at his house went away, saying that she would not come back any more. He heard the throbbing of the engine at night, and the smoke was also a nuisance.

Mr. Matthew McMurtrie, managing director for the defendant company, said that they were always prepared to carry out any necessary work that would get rid of the alleged nuisance, no matter what the cost might be. He had offered £400 to the plaintiff's mother for the cottage in which they lived, but the sale did not come off. Now they wanted £700, but the cottage would now be useless to the company.

There was evidence also that the nuisance had been greatly abated of late by changes made in the machinery, etc.

Mr. A. E. Porte, C.E., who visited the premises in question on November 2nd, said that he applied the water test to the engine and to the plaintiffs' house, and detected no vibration in either. There was a slight smell from the engine, but as to noxious vapour there was no such thing. The noise from the engine was not such as to cause anybody annoyance.

The Judge, in giving judgment, said that as the nuisance had been abated he would not be justified in giving an injunction. He thought, however, that the working of the engine at night by which the people were disturbed ought to cease.

In a civil bill brought by the plaintiffs for damages to the roof of their house and for the annoyance caused to them before the nuisance was abated, the Judge gave the plaintiffs a decree for £10.

Mr. M. Walker (instructed by Mr. B. R. W. Doran) appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Dickie, K.C., and Mr. K. Meares (instructed by Messrs. White and Meares) for the defendants.

DUNDALK PORT SCHEME.

RE-OPENING OF THE INQUIRY.

AUDITOR'S EVIDENCE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

DUNDALK, Monday.

A special sitting of the Ports and Harbours Tribunal was opened in Dundalk to-day to hear further evidence following the seriou dispute which has arisen consequent on th action of the Department of Industry an Commerce in refusing to sanction further expenditure out of the £55,000 loan alread subscribed for the improvement of the port The action of the Department was due t certain evidence given at the earlier sitting At to-day's sitting Mr. H. B. O'Hanlo (Chairman of the Tribunal) presided, an there were also present Messrs C. H O'Conor, Mr. Deegan, and the Secretar (Mr. Baxter).

The Chairman explained that, followin the last inquiry, at which Mr. William (Secretary of the Board), and Mr. Twibi (Chairman of the Board), had bee examined, the Harbour Board took exceptio to the conduct of the proceedings, and ther was a suggestion that important evidence h not been heard. That being so, the Tribun had no option but to come to Dundalk agai and re-open the proceedings.

Mr. F. P. Johnston, solicitor, represente the Harbour Board; Mr J. Cawley, barriste at-law (instucted by Mr. T. P. Coffey) a peared for Mr. Williams, Secretary of t Harbour Board; Mr. D. O'Connell, solicito on behalf of Sir Samuel Kelly; Mr. Stirlin for the Dundalk, Newry and Greenore Ra way Company; Mr. David Barry, on beha of the Dundalk and Newry Steampack Company, and Mr. Kelly, on behalf of t Amalgamated Transport and Gener Workers' Union.

In urging approval of the scheme, M Johnston said that it was a proper one, a its carrying out was essential to the futu of the harbour. It had been sanctioned the Oireachtas, and the loan subscribed.

AUDITOR'S EVIDENCE.

Mr. Buckley (of the firm of Kevans a Company, auditors, Dublin), gave eviden in support of the Board's scheme, and tailed the financial provisions in the loa A provisional agreement had been arrived between the Harbour Board and the Londo Midland and Scottish Railway Company the purchase of their quay at £4,000, a this he regarded as very satisfactory, a less than he had estimated in making his provisional estimate.

Questioned by Mr. O'Conor, the witn said that he believed that he was fair taking his figures as the average over years. He agreed that the financial po tion of the Commissioners was not nearly good now as it was 7 years ago, but pl had been provided during that time at cost of more than £9,000. In 1920 Board had in hand, or invested, £8,000, a at the same date in 1927 there was due to bank about £8,000. They had spent a g deal of money in obtaining the Act, a they hoped to get this out of the loan. T had not yet been sanctioned by the Minist and if it were not sanctioned it would h to be met out of revenue. He agreed th in order to finance this loan of £55,000, would be necessary to increase the vess coming in.

Questioned by the Chairman, the witn said that in former years there had b exceptional revenue from the Government the line of barges and returns fr investments. He agreed that the rates wo have to be increased, but he had not m inquiries as to the cost of berthing sh there and elsewhere. The closing of the tillery had an effect on the port, and agreed that if the scheme went through board would be responsible for the maint ance of the quays and adjoining roads, would probably have to pay rates thereon the local councils.

THE EFFECT OF PARTITION.

In reply to Mr. David Barry, the witn said that his figures had been made out 1924, and he did not take into account effect which the border was having upon port. He did not understand that the ef was very serious; nor did he take into count the amalgamation of railways, wh Mr. Barry stated was diverting traffic f Leitrim elsewhere than to Dundalk. If tr went down and was insufficient to meet costs of the repayment of the loan the r charged would have to be increased.

Mr. Barry suggested that the sevent years which Mr. Buckley had taken for average was unfair, as it included three y when abnormal war conditions conges every port in the country.

The witness replied that three very years were also included.

Mr. Barry—You have heard of the kil of the goose that laid the golden egg, of course, there is a limit to the rate you can strike in a competitive port.

Mr. Buckley agreed, but said that figures had been prepared in 1924, and accounts to the end of that year were u the average profits for the seventeen yea

Mr. P. H. McCarthy, Dublin, enginee the scheme, was next examined, and with the proposals to acquire the privat owned quays and improve the wall.

Mr. T. F. McGahon, Vice-Chairman of Board, also gave evidence.

IN THE NORTHERN CAPITAL

PRINCE OF WALES'S VISIT TO BELFAST.

Expected to Stay with the Duke of Abercorn: Parliament's All-Night Sitting: Soaring Food Prices.

FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.
BELFAST, Monday.

THE only outstanding event which occurred during the week-end was the all-night sitting of the House of Commons. It created a mild sensation last Friday, but the general comments were more sarcastic than sympathetic. In view of the fact that the House has only recently reassembled after a recess of almost five months, it seems unreasonable to rush legislation within the shortest possible space of time, and public opinion is inclined to the belief that, with shorter holidays and longer sessions, the work would be better done. The Northern Parliament is probably the most easy-going Legislature on earth, with the pleasant spells of idleness and deliberations during three afternoons every week, and the lament about an occasional long sitting should be sung sotto voce.

Apart from the Licensing Amending Bill which has caused so much trouble, the Government usually just reflects what has been done across the Channel, and it is unusual to find any initiative in the bills brought before the House. To follow Great Britain "step by step" is the proudly declared ambition of our Northern leaders, and, instead of composing a harmonious symphony in accordance with Ulster traditions and ideas, they have become, in the picturesque words of some commentators, nothing but a gramaphone record of the Imperial Parliament. Although a lot of time was wasted on the Licensing Bill, most of it, strangely enough, was spent on amendments introduced by the Government to its own measure. After strenuous labour comes rest, and the hon. members are already looking forward to another healthy Christmas recess, which it is expected will extend well into the new year.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

The anticipated visit of the Prince of Wales to Belfast next summer, as foreshadowed by the Prime Minister recently, has occasioned much interest in the North, and a most cordial welcome awaits the Empire's "popular ambassador" when he lands on Ulster's shores. For the past two years efforts have been made to arrange for the coming of the Prince, and it was confidently expected that he would have honoured the regatta of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, of which he is Commodore, a couple of summers ago; but high political considerations in connection with the Free State ruled otherwise. Since then the political atmosphere has become more serene, and it may be that the Prince can now visit the Six Counties without giving offence in other quarters, particularly as he is to lay the foundation stone of the new parliamentary buildings at Stormont. He will probably be the guest of the Governor and the Duchess of Abercorn during his brief stay.

LOUGH NEAGH PROBLEM.

On Friday last a conference was held in the offices of the Ministry of Commerce, relative to the Lough Neagh fishery problem, which has been agitating the public mind for some time past. It will be recalled that the question was raised in the Northern House of Commons a month or so ago, and it was then stated that people representing all the conflicting interests were to be called together to consider ways and means of arriving at an amicable settlement. The proceedings took place in private, and it is understood that no official report will be issued, but those behind the scenes confidently anticipate developments of an interesting nature in the near future. The fishermen have the sympathy of every section of Parliament from the Prime Minister down to the humblest back-bencher, and some of the Unionist members, as well as the Nationalists, have championed their cause. The hardships under which the fishermen labour are recognised by all, but vast vested interests are involved, and these, of course, have also their rights, which cannot be violated to remove an ancient wrong. Legislation on the matter is not practicable, nationalisation of the fishery is out of the question, and the only remedy seems to lie in compromise and consideration for the prosperity of one another. It is certain, however, that some scheme will be formulated to prevent the gradual extinction of the fishermen on the banks of the historic lough. Already their numbers have been sadly diminished.

SOARING FOOD PRICES.

The streets of Belfast present an unusually interesting spectacle on a Saturday night. The thoroughfares are thronged with people wandering idly about or doing their shopping, and the observant man sees many things which give cause for reflection. Hawkers of fruit, pushing their handcarts, pass slowly along, with one eye on a possible customer and the other on the watchful policeman hovering near to pounce on them should they come to a stand-still, while the gutter vendors of trifles try to earn a few pence. Amidst all the bustle and commotion—and this is the principal point of this paragraph—one frequently hears bitter comments on the cost of living. There are shops where the poor can get scraps of meat very cheaply, and the price of beef seems to be fairly reasonable, but fresh pork is too expensive a luxury for the family with moderate means.

The farmer, who sells his pig at an average of 6½d. per lb., sees it labelled in the shop windows a few days later at 1s. 4d., 1s. 6d. and 1s. 8d., or an average of about 1s. 6d. per lb., realising an exorbitant profit, not for the breeder, but for the retailer. Housewives are indignant at this naked "profiteering," and the outspoken remarks of little assemblies outside these offending establishments are most illuminating, but still they go in and buy. The suggestion that there is a ring to maintain inflated prices is, of course, denied, but a tour round the shops shows that the same price is charged virtually everywhere for the various cuts. The cost of pork has fallen tremendously from time to time, but it is not reflected in the shops, although it is noticeable that when a rise occurs in the market the consumer knows all about it at once. Public attention has been drawn to the matter, but without avail, and parliamentarians, with their assured salaries, do not seem to care. There are other departments in the people's food which also require investigation.

ARMED POLICE FORCE.

The Northern Government is determined to maintain the semi-military nature of its police force, notwithstanding the peaceful condition of the province. Of course, no one will be hurt so long as the people are law-abiding, and, therefore, it is no harm for a constable to parade the streets ornamented with a lethal weapon in case of eventualities; but the stranger within our gates generally expresses astonishment at an ostentatious show of armed strength, to which he is unaccustomed across the Channel. Visitors cannot understand it, and have commented on it now and then good-humouredly in public assemblies. In answer to a question the other day, the Minister of Home Affairs said that the Government intended to keep the police armed, but offered no reason for its decision, evidently being of opinion that the troubles of past years were sufficient answer.

It was pointed out that the police in the Free State and Great Britain are unarmed, and that the Prime Minister had declared that the political barometer in the North is "set fair," but a peaceful community does not affect the question, and this is one of the instances in which the imitation of British institutions does not work. No doubt, Sir Dawson Bates, the Minister of Home Affairs, is not yet satisfied that all is well, and, as he is responsible for the maintenance of law and order, no one can blame him. Moreover, the Nationalists, who raised the question, were probably more concerned in creating a diversion in their favour than in anything else. With regard to the Premier's "barometer," it is a very uncertain instrument, and has been oscillating violently all last week between "dry" and "wet." Its pointer is still wondering what is going to happen next.

BOOM IN MOTOR RACING.

As already mentioned in this column, an organised effort is being made in Belfast to have the venue for the Grand Prix de l'Europe Motor Car Race laid in Northern Ireland next year. Up to the present the prospects are most promising. An influential committee has been appointed, and negotiations with the Royal Automobile Club, which has charge of the fixture for 1928, show that the project is being favourably considered. Various routes are being inspected, and it is believed that a better course can be obtained in the North than anywhere else where road racing is legalised. At one of the meetings the Free State was mentioned, but it was stated that neither in Southern Ireland nor in Great Britain can such events take place on the public highways, and that the only available places are Brooklands, the Isle of Man and Northern Ireland. The best choice would, therefore, seem to be the North, from the commercial point of view and also for convenience. The last motor cycle Grand Prix held here attracted about 100,000 spectators, and it is believed that a big race for cars would be patronised by an even greater number. Portadown is mentioned as a centre for an excellent course, but the final decision would rest with the R.A.C. During the week-end the Minister of Home Affairs intimated that the Government would co-operate with the promoters and give the project all the support possible. The motoring fraternity are enthusiastic, and it is hoped that enterprising firms will combine to bring the plans of the local committee to a successful issue.

ANOTHER INJUSTICE.

The indifference of official England to Irish opinion and sentiment was lamented at a military dinner in Belfast the other night by Captain C. C. Craig, M.P., who stated that he had seen the official screen film of the Battle of the Somme, and every division in the British Army was represented in it with the exception of the Ulster Division. Yet it was that division which lost thousands of men and won imperishable fame when it went over the top on the ever-to-be-remembered 1st July, 1916; and it was these men of whom the King wrote that they showed the way how bravely to fight and bravely to die. Captain Craig put it very mildly when he said that the action of the War Office in omitting the division from the film was to be regretted, considering the sacrifices that were made; but he was right when he declared that, since they had been cut off to some extent from the British people, he was afraid they were forgotten.

AN ADDED TERROR.

For some time past no reference has been made in this column to the toll of the road in the Northern area, but no week passes without its record of fatal accidents, due to motor cycles and motor cars. People are being killed and maimed, and the total to date for the province is appalling; but the public have become callous and hardened through custom, and no one, except the relatives of the victims, seems to mind. It was hoped that the "Safety First" movement which was established a few months ago would have had a salutary effect, but its coming does not seem to have made any difference. Now pedestrians are to be menaced with a new terror. At the annual reunion of the Ulster Motor Cycle Club a suggestion was made that more women should take up the sport of motor cycling, and it was received with applause. A chorus of protest from the non-motoring community throughout the province has already been raised against such a reckless proposal. Probably it was made in fun, but it is felt that it will be safer for every one of the girls to continue to patronise the old-fashioned pillion instead of accentuating the perils of the road.

DERRY'S LACK OF PLAYING FIELDS.

On the motion of Mr. M'Ilroy, who pointed out that there were at present only two playing grounds in which the young people of the City of Derry could play without fee, the Derry branch of the Ulster Teachers' Union resolved: "That we consider that a movement should be initiated in Londonderry in connection with the National Playing Fields Association for the provision of more playing fields for the people of the city."

CORK'S £350,000 OFFER

FOR SUGAR-BEET FACTORIES.

PRESIDENT COSGRAVE TO BE APPROACHED.

From Our Own Correspondent.
CORK, Monday.

In connection with the proposed sugar beet factory for Cork an important private conference was held yesterday of representatives of the Cork Industrial Development Association and the Cork County Committee of Agriculture.

Mr. P. Crowley, Honorary Treasurer of Cork Industrial Development Association, presided. He explained that the object of the conference was to examine the possibility of securing a Government subsidy for the erection of one or two—possibly two—sugar beet factories in County Cork.

M. R. Boudeville, managing director, and Captain A. Touchat de Gamoches, general manager, of the Franco-Irish Enterprises, Ltd., attended, and stated that they were prepared to accept a subsidy of two shillings per ton less than the grant made to the Carlow factories. They expressed the opinion that two small factories would be a better business proposition than to erect one large factory, owing to the cost of transport.

Mr. Corcoran, Chairman of the County Committee of Agriculture, declared that he would endeavour to secure supplies of beet from County Cork farmers if the guaranteed price was sufficiently attractive. He believed that the farmers would expect a figure approximating to that fixed for Carlow.

The selection of sites was discussed, but no decision was arrived at. It was agreed that at least two attractive sites could be secured without difficulty.

The representatives of the Franco-Irish Company stated that they were prepared to invest up to £350,000 in Cork factories, and it was arranged that the visiting representatives should interview President Cosgrave and other members of the Government with a view to submitting their scheme for factories in Cork.

The representatives said that they hoped to see President Cosgrave to-morrow (Tuesday), and they would communicate the result of their interview without delay.

On behalf of the Labour Party, Mr. R. Anthony, T.D., assured the conference of full co-operation in the project.

OBITUARY.

SIR HENRY McLAUGHLIN, K.B.E.

We regret to announce that Sir Henry McLaughlin, K.B.E., Riversdale, Monkstown, County Dublin, died suddenly yesterday, aged 51. He was being driven to his office in Dublin when his chauffeur observed that he was taken ill. The chauffeur immediately drove to the house of a doctor in the neighbourhood, and it was found that Sir Henry was dead.

Sir Henry McLaughlin was born on the 21st of March, 1876, son of Mr. W. H. McLaughlin, D.L., of Macedon, County Antrim. He was educated at the Belfast Royal Academy and Mount Radford, Exeter. In 1899 he married Miss Ethel Mollan, daughter of Mr. W. S Mollan, Belfast, there being two daughters of the marriage.

Sir Henry was Chairman of Messrs. McLaughlin and Harvey, one of the most important firms of building contractors in Ireland. The headquarters of the firm are in Belfast, and it has branches in Dublin and London. Messrs. McLaughlin and Harvey have erected many of the most important buildings in Ireland during recent years, among them being the Gresham Hotel and Messrs. Clery's drapery premises in Sackville street, Dublin. Sir Henry was President of the Building Employers' Association, Dublin.

The Late Sir Henry McLaughlin.

HIS WAR WORK.

During the Great War, from 1915 to 1916 he was appointed Hon. Director of Recruiting in Ireland. In 1917 he acted as Director of the Red Cross Our Day Fund; and in the year of victory he was appointed a member of Lord French's Recruiting Council. In 1919 his services were rewarded by a Knighthood of the Order of the British Empire.

In the sporting and social life of Dublin Sir Henry McLaughlin was a popular figure. He was a great follower of Association football, and, as President of the Irish Free State Football Association, played a big part in encouraging the game in Dublin and wherever clubs were formed outside the city. He was one of those who had a share in entertaining teams from England, France, America and other countries and sending them home with a grateful appreciation of Irish hospitality. When he was asked to assist in the organisation of the Tailteann Games he readily consented, and he spared no effort in making them successful. Golf, tennis and swimming also were among his recreations, and he was a breeder of Scottish deerhounds.

Several Belfast families have been bereaved by the death of Sir Henry McLaughlin. Two brothers survive him—Major McLaughlin who is managing the business of the firm in Belfast, and Mr. Eric McLaughlin, who is attached to the Dublin branch.

Sir Henry McLaughlin was a man of fine physique, and though he suffered from a heart affection it was not considered serious.

LIEUTENANT-COLONEL HENRY CADDELL.

The death occurred at "Summerview," Fleet, Hampshire, on November 19 of Lieutenant-Colonel Henry Caddell, in his eighty-ninth year. The son of the Rev. H. Caddell, Vicar of St. Peter's, Colchester, he was born in 1844. He entered the 89th Regiment—afterwards the Royal Irish Fusiliers—in 1863, and served in Ireland, India, and the Egyptian campaign of 1883, being present at the action of "El Teb," and was awarded the British medal, with clasp, and the Egyptian Star.

In 1888 he retired with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, on being appointed as Resident Magistrate in Ireland. He was Resident Magistrate at Tipperary during the troublous times in connection with the Smith-Barry estate in the years 1889-1890. In 1891 he was appointed Registrar of Petty Sessions, Dublin Castle, which appointment he held until 1919. In 1872 he married Anna Matilda, daughter of the late Thomas Moore Persse, of Mount Vernon, Galway.

DUBLIN THEATRES.

"SUNNY" AT THE GAIETY.

If last night's audience at the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin, had not gone there in the expectation of seeing and hearing something very much out of the usual in musical comedy they would have enjoyed "Sunny" more than they did. They were disappointed in finding that all the preliminary superlatives—greatest, biggest, longest run, and the rest—meant in the actual test of the theatre just a good average revue show, jolly and bright at times, slow and stupid at others.

It is certainly the "biggest" entertainment of its kind that Dublin has yet seen, for its two acts are made up of fifteen separate scenes, with a twenty minutes' jazz band performance on the stage as an "interval." There was any amount of tuneful "catchy" music in each of the acts, all well sung, but it was only when the jazz band stopped that the audience applauded vigorously and demanded more.

Taking "Sunny" for what it really is—a series of scenes—it is at its best excellent entertainment, and at its most tedious a show that would be quite good if it were tightened up considerably. As produced last night it is not a spectacular affair in the sense accepted by the theatre-going public—namely, gorgeous settings and ensembles. There are half a dozen plain curtain "fronts" among the fifteen scenes. Mr. Max Kirby as Jim, the imperturbable American, provides rich comedy throughout, and keeps the show going by the very droll dryness of his humour. Miss Felice Lascelles, the winsome "Sunny," danced and sang herself into full favour. Among the individuals may be included the Tiller troupe of clever dancers. The singing of "Two little blue birds" by Miss Zoe Andrews and Mr. George Neil is charming despite the crude setting.

THEATRE ROYAL.

As a spectacular show, the revue, "The Bull's Eye," which was presented at the Theatre Royal last night, surpasses anything of the kind seen in Dublin for a considerable time. The scenery is admirable, and the dresses of the corps de ballet are marvellously artistic and attractive.

The company includes a goodly number of first-rate artists in comedy, music and song. The leading comedian is Reg Bolton, whose sayings and doings throughout the eighteen scenes kept last night's audiences in the best of humour. He has as a partner in the work an equally clever entertainer in Tom Prior, who plays the part of wife to perfection. In the scene which depicts Romeo and Juliet, Miss Kitty Franklyn, who is a delightful vocalist—plays Romeo, while Reg Bolton makes an excruciatingly droll Juliet.

The Renée-Rogan Girls go through several dances and other ensemble exercises with pleasing effect. The British National Quartette are a good vocal combination; and two young ladies, Pauline and Diana, are excellent performers with the concertina, the flute and the violin. Other members of the company who render good service are the Foys and Emmie Massey.

THE CAPITOL.

Packed houses saw at the Capitol yesterday one of the best programmes yet presented at that popular theatre. It was good business to include a personal appearance of Georgie Harris, the Fox Film comedy actor, who, in a series of songs, stories—mainly about Hollywood—and character impersonations, made a big hit, and showed that he is even a more delightful artist on the stage than on the films. He has a pleasing voice and a fund of good stories, and deserved the warm applause he received.

Pathos and comedy, love and war are the elements of "The Trumpet Call," a delightful picture, which deals with the Spanish-American War and Theodore Roosevelt's regiment of Roughriders. Noah Beery as "Hell's Bells," the Sheriff of Byloe, and "Happy Joe" (George Bancroft), a notorious horse thief, who become troopers in the famous regiment, provide the fun in the film, while Charles Farrell and Mary Astor play with effect in the love scenes.

There are also several excellent numbers by Alec B. Fryer and his band, and an entirely new show by the Tiller Girls, who are established favourites in Dublin.

OLYMPIA THEATRE.

The outstanding feature of "Bobbed or Shingled," the revue running at Olympia Theatre this week, is the quartet, "The Four Northumbrian Miners," who contribute a number of finely rendered songs. Joe Walmers and Tom Elliott last night supplied the comic element, and received enthusiastic applause for their "turns," which were of a varied nature. Others who took part in the performance were Betty and Billy Clark, who gave clever exhibitions of dancing; Greta Gray, whose songs were among the most attractive items; Connie Hayward, Auriol Cram, Leslie Barr, W. Newman, Henry Robson, and Lil Rowlands. The Cheery Girls' dances were very skilful performances.

ABBEY THEATRE.

If one may judge from the crowd that filled the Abbey Theatre last night, Mr. Sean O'Casey's play, "Juno and the Paycock" will be a long time "wearing out its welcome." Many there were in the audience who had seen the play before, but they were hardly less enthusiastic in their plaudits than were those who now witnessed it for the first time. The more one sees of "Juno and the Paycock" the more forceably is driven home the realism of Mr. O'Casey. What a terrible picture he gives of the conditions in Dublin's slums during these dreadful "troubled" years, and how painfully true it is. It is, perhaps, because of this very quality that the audience followed with such keen interest the utterances of the bibulous "Captain" Boyle and his alter ego, Joxer Daly.

There was only one change in the usual cast, Miss Kitty Curling playing the part of Mary Boyle. It is admittedly a rather difficult part to do justice to, and the novice, on the whole, took it well. Possibly the "first night" effect unsteadied her, but as the week passes she will play with further confidence Barry Fitzgerald and F. J. McCormick—they must be taken together—were as successful as ever in their parts as Captain Boyle and Joxer, while Eileen Crowe repeated her previous success as Juno. Certainly she "lives" the part. The other characters were capably presented, particularly the "Maisie Madigan" of Maureen Delaney.

DERRY HOUSING LOANS.

The Law Committee of the Londonderry Corporation has decided to reduce the rate of interest on loans advanced by the Corporation under the Small Dwellings Acquisition Acts from 6 per cent. to 5¾ per cent.

COOK DROPS DEAD IN KITCHEN.

Anne Jane Hamilton, a cook in the employment of the Rev. F. M. Hamilton at Baronscourt Rectory, Newtownstewart, Co. Tyrone, dropped dead while at work in the kitchen yesterday morning. Death was due to heart disease, and an inquest was not considered necessary.

BACK TO "DONEGAL."

"TIRCONAILL" TO BE OFFICIALLY DROPPED.

It is understood that the name "Tirconaill" is to be officially abandoned as the description of County Donegal, and the former name of "Donegal" reverted to. It has been pointed out that the name Tirconaill did not include the peninsula of Inishowen, as the latter was not included within the ancient Tirconaill. The name Tirconaill, therefore, was inadequate in its description of the County of Donegal.

Gaelic scholars have also contended that Donegal is as Gaelic, if not more so, as Tirconaill.

CLARA MILL FIRE.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE TO PLANT.

A serious fire broke out in a kiln at Messrs. Goodbody's extensive flour mills in Clara. The mill fire-fighting applianaces were brought out, and the mill workers, assisted by the Civic Guards and a number of volunteers, put out the fire after two or three hours' hard work. The military fire brigade at Athlone was summoned, but the outbreak had been extinguished by the time it arrived.

Extensive damage was done to plant and other property.

BARRACK HOUSES TO LET.

Mr. John Daly, T.D., has informed the Fermoy Urban Council that the Board of Works would be prepared to hand over the married quarters at the new barracks, recently occupied by the National Army, to the Council, or to let the houses direct to suitable tenants. This would, Mr. Daly pointed out, relieve the need for housing accommodation in Fermoy.

The Council decided that in the present circumstances they could not take over the houses from the Board of Works, but would be glad to see them let to tenants direct by the Board

FINANCIAL

London Stock Markets were steady, with Tin Shares and Rubbers strong spots.—(Page 11.)

Loans were in plentiful supply in Lombard street at 3½ down to 3¼ per cent. Discount rates were unchanged.—(Page 11.)

In Dublin Coats were strong. National Loan receded to 97½.—(Page 11.)

M. Poincare's Plea.

The period of political stability which has been enjoyed by France during the last eighteen months seems now to be drawing rather swiftly to a close, and the prophets are unanimous in their anticipation of a fresh crisis within the next few months. There is no obvious reason for their anxiety. A general election is pending, and general elections in France have a habit of producing the most irritating results; but the economic condition of the country is better than it has been at any other period since the war, and under the firm guidance of M. Poincaré the apparent miracle of financial stability has been accomplished. The French citizen, therefore, has every ground for satisfaction. In the summer of last year the fate of his country seemed to be sealed. Governments were rising and falling every few weeks. Successive Finance Ministers had failed so signally to cope with the problem of inflation that the value of the franc began to fall with headlong speed, and at one stage it touched 250 to the pound sterling. If this process had continued, nothing could have saved the Republic. Then M. Poincaré became Premier. His régime provided that element of moral courage and imagination which had been lacking so notably in its predecessors, and within a very short space of time the financial situation was mastered. The downward career of the franc was checked; the problem of tax collection was approached in a resolute way, and when the people began to realise that at last they had a Premier who meant business the flight from the franc came to an end.

In spite of the great benefits which have accrued from M. Poincaré's rule, the professional politicians in France seem to be chafing under the restraint of normal conditions. The Premier dealt with the matter in a speech last Saturday night, when he appealed not for his own retention in power, but for the maintenance of the national union of Republican parties which made his Government possible. During recent months the Radicals have been making no secret of their intention, if they can, to wreck the coalition. Their attitude has been so strong on this point that M. Franklin-Bouillon, who was one of the most prominent Radical politicians in France, not only has broken away from the party, but has taken with him the whole Radical organisation of the Seine-et-Oise Department. The Radical group, whose example in this respect is being followed by some of the other parties, takes the narrow view that maintenance of the union will imperil party chances at next year's general election. M. Poincaré, on the other hand, holds that a breach of the party truce might prove to be disastrous to the public welfare. The continuation of the national union for at least two years, he declares, is essential to national safety. Much has been done to restore the country's credit and to repair the ravages of post-war insanity; but much remains to be done, and success will be possible only through joint effort. A revival of last year's chaotic conditions would upset all the good work that has been done by the present Government, and, instead of a balanced Budget, another attack of inflation would be the country's reward.

The people of the Irish Free State can sympathise with M. Poincaré; for they know to their cost the dangers of parliamentary instability. Under that system of proportional representation which prevails in France a multiplicity of parties is fostered, and the French seem to have a genius for the invention of fine shades of political distinction between groups. Consequently, without some kind of coalition, government in France becomes almost impossible, and a strong Government is needed for many reasons. The internal situation, naturally enough, interests the average citizen more keenly than foreign affairs. He is concerned with his taxes, the state of the country's trade, the purchasing power of his earnings and a dozen other problems of domestic importance; but he would be very foolish indeed to ignore the international situation that is being created in Europe. The economic revival of Germany, the thrustful vigour that has been infused by Fascism into Italy's foreign policy, and the ever-growing threat of Bolshevist Russia are matters of supreme importance to France. She never had more to lose from unstable government than she has to lose at this moment, when the Mediterranean problem is entering an acute stage, when the death of the Sultan of Morocco has opened the way for dangerous intrigues in Northern Africa, and the collaboration of Italy with Spain has added a new ingredient to the complex of Tangier. M. Poincaré's plea for national unity, therefore, will find an echo throughout the Allied world; for France holds the key to Europe's peace, and it is essential that the key shall remain in strong hands.

Homecrofts for Workers.

The record of reconstruction in Ireland since the Great War is largely a record of lost opportunity. In many ways Ireland's opportunities have been superior to those of England; for this country is free from that bane of congestion which embarrasses English architects and "town-planners" at every turn. Nevertheless, we have been content to build by the patterns and according to the ideas which have been rejected across the Channel for a full score of years. There are exceptions to the rule, but the rule is that Irish building since the war has been ugly and the planning of new dwellings restricted in vision. A remarkable example of what might have been done—and, as we hope, of what will be done henceforward—may be seen in the work of a local committee at Cheltenham called the Cheltenham Homecroft Association. This body has built a little settlement of dwellings in accordance with a scheme drawn up by Professor J. W. Scott, of Cardiff University College. The purpose is to provide men of the artisan class with detached houses, every house surrounded by an allotment of land sufficiently large to provide all the vegetables consumed by the family. The houses are built at the rate of five to every two acres. The gardens are stocked with fruit trees and furnished with the necessary outhouses for the keeping of poultry. Every croft—garden and house—is let at 16s. 3d. a week, and will become the property of the tenant in twenty-five years. Last Saturday Earl Beauchamp opened the first batch of crofts, and described the scheme as the most hopeful approach to the solution of the housing problem that he had seen. The gardens always would be larders around the houses, and, if the "homecrofters" overcame the distrust of bees and took up the production of honey, they would possess a large source of profit and an excellent food for children. Cheltenham, it is true, with its population of 52,000, lies in the spacious Cotswold countryside; yet what is possible there is not impossible in the hinterland of any of the Irish cities. Motor transport has brought country as quiet as the Cotswold slopes within twenty minutes' reach of the heart of Dublin, Belfast and Cork; nevertheless, houses which are let at purchase rents comparable to those of the "homecrofts" continue to be built by public authorities at a density of fourteen or seventeen to the acre. A happy and a healthy population of the artisan class would rise, and labour unrest might become a thing of the past, if the "homecroft" were the ideal pursued in national housing schemes. During the early years of this century schemes by which Irish agricultural labourers were given homes of this type set Ireland ahead of other lands in enlightened housing methods. It is time that our rulers should awake to the idea that the "homecroft" ought to be the normal dwelling of the wage-earning Irishman.

The Use of Cavalry.

Horace's saying about nature seems to be applicable to horses. A few years ago everybody believed that, save for racing, polo and hunting, the horse was doomed to an early disappearance. Motor traffic had superseded him on the streets and "mechanised" warfare was driving him from the field of battle. Now industry has discovered that for some important uses of transport the horse remains a cheaper and more convenient agent than the motor lorry; and in great cities, like London and Glasgow, his partial rehabilitation seems to be assured. There are indications that the War Offices may be forced to accept a similar change of heart. After the Great War the British and French Armies made drastic reductions in their cavalry establishments, but already distinguished soldiers are beginning to question the wisdom of this decision. They advance two arguments for the continued use of cavalry in the changed conditions of modern warfare. One is the horse's undisputed value in campaigns where trench-fighting cannot forbid the employment of open country. Infantry and aeroplanes, unsupported by cavalry, could not have won Britain's swift and thorough victory in Palestine. That, at any rate, is Field-Marshal Viscount Allenby's own opinion. Speaking last week in London, he said: "From the ridges north of Jerusalem to Jaffa cavalry men held the line, and repulsed the counter-attacks of the Turkish infantry; and I do not believe any other arm of the Service could have done it except cavalry." The second argument concerns the horse's moral value in action—that subtle influence which the Psalmist expressed in the brave interjection, "Ha, ha!" After a recent test of motor cycles as a substitute for cavalry in the French Army General Brecard said that the horse was superior in two respects. He could go where even motor cycles could not go, and his presence was an impetus for "all missions, all daring, all foolhardy deeds which might be necessary." In effect, the horse supplies that element of romance and companionship which human nature craves, and cannot get from machines. "In my experience of war, which has not been small," said Lord Allenby, "I have always found that infantry shout for cavalry the whole time."

Symbolism.

The pitfalls of foreign travel are numerous, as every Irish tourist, however transient, on the Continent of Europe soon discovers. Quite unwittingly we violate a custom or misuse a phrase, and find, to our wondering discomfort, that we have given offence. In The Times of yesterday the Hon. Lady Fortescue described an embarrassment of this sort, in which she must have had many partners. She was in Paris on Armistice Day and wore a Flanders poppy. To her surprise she found that the people in the streets looked askance at her. When she joined the crowds near the tomb of the Unknown Soldier she felt that she was getting more than her fair share of elbows, and "there seemed a general effort to keep me in the background." Afterwards other Englishwomen complained to her that they had been jostled in the same fashion, some of them had been pushed about, rather roughly, by the police. The explanation, when Lady Fortescue sought it from her French friends, was simple. In France and in other countries of Europe the red poppy is the symbol of Communism, and loyal French people do not like Communists. Different minds, it seems, weave their symbolism in different ways: the exactitudes of science do not prevail in the field of imagination. In these islands poppies are the flowers of sleep, and they have become dear to us because they cover the graves of our soldiers who sleep in Flanders. In Russia a poppy is regarded as a poisonous weed which, springing up in a field of wheat, destroys the crop; and so it became the sinister emblem of a sinister creed.

A NEW 'CELLIST.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY'S RECITALS.

The Royal Dublin Society audiences at two recitals yesterday heard two uncommon and attractive programmes of music for 'cello and piano performed by Gaspar Cassado and Madame Giulietta von Mendelssohn Gordigiani. In the afternoon the programme contained three sonatas—by Bach, Brahms, and one Strauss (not the present Richard); at night the music was rather lighter.

At night (concerning which alone I can testify) the audience was remarkably cordial in its appreciation of the performances. Cassado, put forward as a virtuoso artist, accepted the greater part of the applause for himself. He is, indeed, a clever and pleasing executant, and artistry of the degree that he showed is less frequent among 'cellists than it is among pianists. Otherwise, it would have been necessary to divide honours equally, or, rather, not to divide them at all; for, more than anything individual in Cassado's performance, I liked the sensitive and sustained collaboration of the two performers.

The second programme contained one work that is very familiar and another that is quite novel in the experience of a Dublin audience. The familiar work was the Beethoven sonata in A major, which is heard whenever a 'cellist performs at Ballsbridge. Cassado took it in a manner rather lighter than that to which we have been accustomed, and his performance made the lighter manner seem right, especially as Madame Gordigiani made the pianoforte part sound more than usually Mozart-like. Although it belongs to Beethoven's most confident period, when he was neither learning to express himself, as at an earlier time, nor striving to express something almost beyond himself, as in later work, this sonata seems, nevertheless, to have an "earlier" sound than other work of the middle period.

The extreme novelty was the "Nottambuli-Variazioni fantastiche," which Castelnuovo-Tedesco, one of the leading Italian composers of to-day, has dedicated to Cassado. Castelnuovo has written a number of pieces for violin and piano, and many of these, like "Nottambuli," his first considerable piece of writing for the 'cello, have a programme basis. His method, a recent expositor has stated, "shrinks from superficial realism. He never attempts a direct reproduction of the pictorial aspects of his subjects, but always transmutes them into such purely musical values as appear to him to produce similar emotions." In "Nottambuli," nevertheless, a certain amount of direct representation does occur, and unusual effects are employed in the writing for the 'cello in order to convey it. These effects gave the work an attractive aspect, but otherwise its musical interest was not deep. So little variety is to be found in the ordinary repertoire of music for 'cello and piano that Castelnuovo's new interest in the instrument is welcome. He is young, is not much over thirty, and his "Nottambuli" experiment may lead on to something of greater value. Here it is a succession of night figures on the banks of the Arno, at Florence (his native place), that he depicts.

OBLIGATO.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—An intense anticyclone covers Scandinavia and Finland. A depression over the Western part of the English Channel is filling up, but a new depression seems likely to deepen and move northwards from Spain. The weather will be mainly dull, with occasional drizzle in most places, and heavier rain will probably spread northwards across England. The easterly winds will moderate for a time, but will probably become strong again before long.

Ireland, all Districts.—Wind north-east, moderate at first, stronger later; mainly dull; local drizzle; moderate temperature.

South-West Seaboard, Mouth of Channel to South-West Ireland, Irish Sea and St. George's Channel.—Wind north-east, moderate to fresh, becoming strong; mainly dull; occasional drizzle, heavier rain later; visibility moderate to good; sea becoming rough.

North-West Seaboard, Northern Ireland to Hebrides.—Strong easterly to south-easterly winds; cloudy or dull; local drizzle; visibility mainly good; sea rather rough.

MR. J. HALL RICHARDSON TO RETIRE.

After forty-seven years' service Mr. J. Hall Richardson will retire from the position of general manager of the Daily Telegraph, London, at the end of this year. Mr. Richardson will continue to be a member of the Executive Committee of the National Disasters' Fund, administered by the Public Trustee, and will remain in direction of the South African Soldiers' Widows' and Orphans' Fund, which has still some hundreds of annuitants on its register. He will represent Viscount Burnham during his forthcoming absence in India in all matters concerning King George's Fund for Sailors and the Sulgrave Institute.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

The Prince of Wales will be present to-morrow at the luncheon in the Grocers' Hall, London, in aid of the Children's Country Holidays Fund. Dame May Whitty, supported by Lady Carson, will preside, and the speakers will include Lord Carson, Miss Violet Loraine and Sir Frederick Lewis.

The Duke and Duchess of York left London yesterday for Ripon, and will probably visit Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles at Goldsborough Hall before they return to London. The Duchess will open the annual sale of Christmas presents at the Royal School of Needlework, South Kensington next Tuesday, and will preside at one of the stalls.

King Feisal of Iraq, attended by Captain Tassin Kadry, A.D.C., left London yesterday for Lancashire, and is the guest of the Earl and Countess of Derby at Knowsley Park.

Yesterday the King of the Belgians gave an audience at the Palais Royal to Mr. Bramwell Booth, of the Salvation Army, who arrived in Brussels on Sunday from Berlin. The British Ambassador, Sir George Grahame, the President of the Belgian Chamber, M. Brunet, and the Minister of Justice, M. Hymans, were among the audience at a large meeting which was addressed by Mr. Booth on Sunday afternoon.

The Duke of Argyll, Lady Elspeth Campbell, Lord Savile, Lord Waring, Sir Mathew Wilson, Sir Hector Macneal, Commander O. Locker-Lampson, Mr. William Collins and Mr. Baily Forman were the guests of Sir Harold and Lady Bowden for their pheasant shoot at Bestwood Park, Nottingham.

The Duchess of Leeds and her son, the Duke of Leeds, have arrived at Monte Carlo. The Duke and Duchess of Newcastle will spend the winter at Cannes, where they have taken the Château Louis XIII. for the season. The Earl of Selborne has left London, and has joined the Countess of Selborne at Bath. Lord and Lady Rendlesham will leave to-morrow for Madeira.

Earl Haig and his daughter, Lady Victoria Haig, and Lady Southampton are the guests of Mr and Mrs. William Jameson at St. Marnock's, County Dublin. The Dowager Lady Rossmore joined Lord and Lady Rossmore's shooting party last week at Rossmore Park.

Lord and Lady Athlumney have returned to Somerville, County Meath, from Bath, where Lord Athlumney has been taking the waters. Lady Albreda Bourke, who has been staying with her sister, Lady Charlotte Fitzwilliam, in England, has returned to Roseboro', Naas.

A new wing to the Children's Hospital at Brighton will be erected as a memorial to Queen Alexandra. The foundation stone will be laid on Saturday by Lady Eva de Paravicini, aunt of the Marquis of Cholmondeley, who resides at Hove. Bishop Southwell will conduct the dedication Service.

Lady Burrell and her daughter, Miss Dreda Burrell, have returned from Canada, after visiting the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon at Government House, Ottawa.

Mrs. Calvert Spensley, the death of whose mother, Mrs. Foster, has just been announced in our columns, is herself lying seriously ill in London after a severe operation, and is entirely unable to attend to correspondence or business.

The engagement is announced between Cyril Nevil, only son of the late Commander Claude and Mrs. Paget, of Weybridge, and Eve, younger daughter of the late Mr. Barnaby Lanktree and of Mrs. Lanktree, of Hampstead.

The marriage arranged between Dr. Louis Dillon Malone, Birmingham and Ballina, and Dr. Eileen Kiernan has unavoidably been postponed until next month.

Mrs. and Miss Sheehan leave 20 Wellington road on November 24th, and their address will be Maris Hotel, Lower Fitzwilliam street, until December 8th.

Dr. C. O'Beirne-Ryan has removed from 14 Victoria avenue to Kirklington House, 18 Victoria avenue, Harrogate.

As is customary at this season of the year, Switzers, 88 Grafton street, have arranged to accept orders for Ladies' Tailor Suits at considerably reduced prices.

A FILM OF THE WEEK.

"FOR EVER AFTER" AT THE METROPOLE.

Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes have a congenial task in the film "For Ever After," at the Metropole Cinema, Dublin. It is a pleasantly entertaining little composition, in which these popular artists play the rôle of sweethearts. There is little that is new or original in the story. He, the good-looking son of an impecunious lawyer, casts eyes upon her, the beautiful daughter of the wealthiest and most select family in the home-town; they fall in love, and their path is strewn with apparently insurmountable obstacles. The old lawyer dies and the penniless son has to leave college and face an uphill fight for a living. The Great War calls him to France, and there love finds a way out of all difficulties.

Sporting scenes in American college life help to make the film interesting. There is one big moment when the lover, badly wounded, is brought to the base hospital, where fate has it that the nurse placed in charge should be his sweetheart. It is a restful type of picture.

LONDON LETTER.

THE COUNTESS OF IVEAGH.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

The Countess of Iveagh was an early arrival at the House of Commons to take her seat this afternoon. She was met at the door of the Chamber by Viscount Curzon, who conducted her to a seat in one of the side galleries, where she was joined a little later by the Earl of Iveagh, who explained different points of interest to her during the question hour. Just before the close of questions she came down from the gallery and took her place at the bar of the House to await the invitation for members desiring to take their seats to come to the table. When it came she advanced up the floor of the House, with Mr. Walter Guinness on her right and Commander Eyres Monsell, the Chief Whip, on her left. The Conservatives cheered lustily, several of them standing up in the excitement. The Labour members were mostly silent; but there were one or two jeers in the deplorable taste frequently displayed in this quarter of the House. One of "Guinness's Stout" elicited cries of "Shame!" from the Government benches. After the Countess had taken the oath and subscribed the roll several of the Ministers warmly shook her hand as she passed the Front Opposition Bench to be welcomed by the Speaker.

The Southend Result.

In the Lobby of the House of Commons to-day the result of the Southend by-election was much discussed, and Lady Iveagh was overwhelmed with congratulations and good wishes. Conservatives did not doubt that Lady Iveagh would be returned; but, in view of the strong efforts made by the Liberals, so big a majority as that secured was not expected. Liberals had received glowing reports from the constituency as to the prospects of their candidate, and they made little attempt to-day to conceal their chagrin at the result of the poll.

Unemployment Insurance.

In the House of Commons this week business will be confined mainly to the Unemployment Insurance Bill, the Committee stage of which occupied the House to-day and will be resumed to-morrow and on Wednesday. It is said in the Lobby that the Socialist opposition to the bill will be pressed, and that many complicated points are likely to arise during the discussion of the amendment; but it is thought that the path of the measure will be greatly smoothed by the concessions announced by the Government to-day regarding the rates of insurance pay for young people. On Thursday, as at present arranged, there will be a debate on international peace and disarmament. This will be initiated by the Socialist Party, and it is probable that Sir Austen Chamberlain will be the principal speaker on behalf of the Government. The curtailment of the cruiser programme in this connection is regarded as an important overture to the United States and other countries, as well as being responsive to the demand for economy in national expenditure.

London Housing.

Mr. Baldwin is to meet a deputation to-morrow of the representatives of many of the housing associations in London who desire to represent the necessity for setting up a Royal Commission to inquire into the housing of the poorest section of the working classes, particularly in the London and other urban districts. This deputation is the outcome of a conference held in the spring by the London Council of Social Services, with which is incorporated the Mansion House Council on health and housing. In this connection it is becoming obvious to all that something must be done to speed up the provision of houses for the working classes. At present the rents charged in many instances are out of all proportion to the wages earned; yet, owing to economic difficulties, it is almost impossible to build houses which can be let at a suitable rent. A Royal Commission might be able to find a way out of a very perplexing situation.

A Second Ballot.

The suggestion made by Lord Younger that there should be a second ballot in the case of the first two candidates in a three-cornered election does not commend itself altogether to the Government and the Conservative organisation. It is pointed out that Lord Younger advocates not only the alternative vote, but the second ballot, which would necessitate the fighting of a campaign all over again in different conditions. Such a course would entail dislocation of business and impose heavy expenses on the two candidates, who would have to fight a second battle, as well as on the State, which would have to pay the additional cost incurred by a second election.

Road and Rail.

Much interest is taken here in the decision of the Irish Free State railway companies to compete with the road motor traffic, as they are entitled to do under the Railways Road Motor Services Act, since a similar step is being taken here by the five railway combines. The latter railways, however, are developing a progressive policy as well, and it is possible that, with all the increased facilities which they intend to offer, their situation, which is at present rather difficult, will be greatly improved. The four great railways are now planning to run trips from the provincial towns to London so that people may spend a day or two in town at a comparatively low cost. This is specially designed to give the people in the seaside towns and other holiday centres an opportunity of coming to London to expend some of the money they received from their visitors in the summer. It is only in the winter time that they can do this; so the railway companies have decided to provide facilities.

The Italian Lira.

The marked activity with regard to the Italian lira has caused a revival of the rumours that the Italian currency is to be subjected to stabilisation at an early date. The rumours, however, have been strongly denied in quarters most likely to be best informed. Messrs. Samuel Montagu and Co., the well-known bankers, say that no official mention has ever been made regarding stabilisation, that Signor Mussolini is known to regard it as a form of default, and that is a reason for his adoption of a policy of revaluation, irrespective of the sacrifices and hardships which it was known it would carry with it. At present the Italian Government is determined to hold the lira exchange within a margin of 89 to 90 to the sterling pound, until the process of adjusting international price to the improved international value of the lira will have been completed.

Bowls.

If the game of bowls is not making the spectacular progress made by tennis, it is, at least, growing in popularity. At Wimbledon three new grounds are being laid out for use next summer, two of them in a huge sports ground under the administration of the Wimbledon Corporation, and one in the private grounds of a club which is affiliating with the English Bowling Association. There are no fewer than twenty-six county associations who are responsible for the preliminary rounds in the annual championship meeting of the Association.

PROFESSOR L. TUXEN.

The death is announced at Copenhagen of the portrait painter, Professor L. Tuxen, aged 74. He was known all over the world for his paintings of important episodes in the lives of the British and Russian Royal Families, and also for portraiture of like subjects.

MANY WRECKS IN GALE.

RESCUES BY ROCKET APPARATUS.

9 LIVES LOST.

DAMAGE ON COAST OF SCOTLAND.

IRELAND seems to have escaped the worst of the week-end gale which swept over these islands, but from Great Britain come stories of shipwreck and loss of life.

Dublin yesterday endured a steady downpour from skies of such intense gloom that artificial light had to be utilised all the day in most homes and places of business. The tail-end of the gale tore through the city in the early hours of the morning, to the accompaniment of heavy rain, but no serious damage is reported. In some places across the water the velocity of the gale attained 42 miles an hour.

WRECKAGE FOUND.

SCOTS FISHING BOAT LOST WITH CREW.

The Macduff (Banffshire) motor herring fishing boat Alaska has been lost with, it is feared, her crew of nine, including six members of one family. The Alaska, which was on her way back from the East Anglian fishing grounds to her home port, left Lowestoft on Thursday afternoon, and was due at Macduff on Saturday.

On Sunday coastguards at Gourdon, on the Kincardineshire coast, found wreckage drifting ashore, including a wheel-box, on which the name Alaska was cut. It is believed that the Alaska must have struck a reef further out to sea during Friday night's storm, and that she was cut in two, thus giving her crew no time to launch her small boat; even if there had been time the boat, it is felt, could not have lived in the raging seas.

The coast at Bervie Bay and Gourdon is strewn with paraffin tins and other stores from the Alaska, and as no vessel has reported having picked up any members of the crew, their relatives have abandoned hope. No bodies, however, have yet been washed ashore. The mate and another member of the crew were married.

ROCKET RESCUE.

CREW'S TERRIBLE ORDEAL.

The Mourne, a small coasting steamer, belonging to Copack Brothers, of Lowestoft, bound from Ostend to the former port, with a cargo of empty barrels, was driven ashore in Saltfleet Haven, Lincolnshire, on Saturday night.

The Saltfleet Rocket Brigade succeeded in throwing a line over the distressed vessel at the first attempt, in spite of the furious gale, and the seven men on board managed, after great difficulty, to get into the breeches buoy, and were hauled ashore.

It was only after prolonged efforts on the part of helpers that two of the crew, who were exhausted by the cold and the heavy seas, which broke continuously over the ship, were resuscitated.

The captain stated that the vessel had been exposed to the fury of the gale for twenty-four hours. Driven out of their course, they tried to make the Humber for shelter, but the Spurn light was invisible and they were driven southward on to the coast.

DRIVEN ON ROCKS.

CREW PULLED THROUGH BOILING SEA.

Exciting scenes were witnessed yesterday when the steamer Djerissa, bound from Emden for the Tyne, went ashore on the rocks at Creswell, on the Northumberland coast.

When she struck it was obvious that her position was serious, and efforts were immediately made to rescue the crew of twenty-six, mostly belonging to South Shields and Middlesbrough. It was found impossible to launch the lifeboat, and the rocket brigade at once endeavoured to send a lifeline aboard.

The first rocket fell short, although the brigade men waded into the sea before discharging it. A second attempt was successful, and one by one the whole crew were pulled ashore in the breeches buoy through the boiling sea, Captain A. W. Peat, of West Hartlepool, being the last to leave.

MATE'S STORY OF STORMY VOYAGE.

In an interview the first officer, H. Mackie, of Middlesbrough, said:—"On leaving Emden we encountered a heavy south-easterly gale, which continued throughout the voyage.

"On arriving at the Tyne on Sunday night we could not make harbour, and tried to put to sea again, but the gale was too strong. We got as far as the Cozuet, and tried to keep off the land by turning round.

"Signals were sent out for a tug and we received a reply that assistance would be sent, but we were driven ashore before it arrived. By that time the afterholds were flooded and the main sail was ripped. Both anchors were dropped, but they failed to hold the vessel in the heavy seas and she was forced on to the rocks."

TRAWLER ASHORE AT LOWESTOFT.

During the height of the gale last evening the sailing trawler Lily ,of Devon, in making for Lowestoft Harbour, was driven ashore. Her crew of five were rescued by the motor lifeboat Agnes Cross. Mountainous seas were running.

DUTCH OIL TANKER ABANDONED.

Yesterday afternoon a large steamer was observed to be sinking slowly three miles off Cromer, with her stern well out of the water. The Cromer lifeboat raced out to her assistance, but returned in a couple of hours and semaphored that there was no one aboard the vessel, which they found to be the Dutch oil tanker Georgia, of Rotterdam. Her one small boat was missing, and the whereabouts of the crew were unknown. The lifeboatmen did not land, but returned to the foundering vessel to give warning to approaching shipping.

DAMAGE ON THE EAST COAST OF SCOTLAND.

Tremendous seas swept over the north and south breakwaters at Fraserburgh, on the Aberdeen coast, yesterday, and the harbour extension works got the full force

ROAD TRANSPORT AND UNEMPLOYMENT.

£1,5000 000 AVAILABLE.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF WORKS.

(BY "ARTIFEX.")

It need not be regarded as discreditable to Dáil Eireann that its many days of debate upon the problems of unemployment produced little that was either original or illuminating. Facing similar problems, the Mother of Parliaments has more than once been reduced to helplessness and her skilled advisers to tentative and guarded suggestions. Yet a brief review and simple analysis of the history of the present acute employment situation in the Free State will serve to show that the crisis might have been anticipated and effectively provided for; and that the remedy, though belated, may yet be applied with much effect if the situation is handled without hesitation or delay.

The main thing which the Government, and the deputies of all parties, failed for years past to appreciate was the temporarily disastrous results of rapid monetary deflation—with quickly falling prices, severe financial stringency, and inevitably acute unemployment in agriculture and its dependent industries. A scarcely subordinate point of breakdown lay in the general failure of Ministers and deputies to appreciate the possibilities of transport reorganisation as a means—the only effective and available means—of giving the kind of employment which would meet the present crisis. This failure arose partly from want of Ministerial imagination, but mainly from a widely reactionary attitude which asserted itself in opposition to transport reform. The view of the "man-in-the-street" was that every ton of goods and every passenger transferred from rail to road menaced the future of our national transport system. The corollary was that expenditure upon road-making should be drastically curtailed.

COLLAPSING HIGHWAYS.

Coincident with this attitude of general hostility to road improvement certain tourist agencies and motoring organisations, in their desire to attract visitors, told the world that "Irish roads had so rapidly improved that they were equal to any in Europe outside England." Any county surveyor could have told such well-meaning enthusiasts that the improvements effected were, in fact, limited to the reconstruction of a few miles of main roads in certain districts and the temporary surfacing of others. To-day the facts remain that we have only touched the fringe of the problem of highway reconstruction, and that thousands of miles of important roads, which were fairly tolerable for "joy-riding," are to-day hopelessly collapsing under the demands of modern passenger and goods transport.

To this must be added the urgent general need for main road widening and for the removal of thousands of "blind" corners and crossings. In a word, every competent student, with even limited apprehension of the inevitable demands of road transport, knows that many millions sterling must be spent without any avoidable delay unless the Free State farmer is to be denied profitable access to his markets.

MONEY IN HAND.

To-day, however, signs are not wanting that the purely obstructionist attitude of mind is disappearing. The rapid multiplication and the increasing popularity of motor omnibuses has gone far to allay the hostility of the agricultural community, and to awaken our farming classes to the possibilities of all kinds of road transport. The organised opposition of railway interests to highway improvement, in face of the energy displayed by railway managers in developing their own new powers to operate omnibuses and lorries not merely as "feeders" to, but as substitutes for, the railway vehicle, cannot be maintained. Finally, it has been borne in upon the public mind that not a single penny is demanded from the ratepayer for the cost of necessary road reconstruction—that the entire outlay is, and can be, met from the yield of duties paid by the motor vehicle owner.

Challenged some days ago as to the possibility of expediting road work to relieve unemployment, the Minister for Local Government proclaimed that his Department had a special fund of £1,500,000 ready to spend as soon as local authorities were ready to disburse it. That amount is the balance of £2,000,000 raised almost two years ago upon the security of the Motor Taxation Fund. It represents only a part of the moneys actually available, and withheld because Mr. Mulcahy's Ministry and several local bodies have failed to reach effective agreements as to its disbursement. In the face of these admitted facts it is difficult to understand why deputies should have spent several days wrangling about a comparatively negligible sum of £150,000 (most of which could only be paid out for housing and water-supply schemes when several months had been devoted to the preparation of plans and other preliminaries) while £1,500,000 lay ready to hand for road work.

CURE FOR UNEMPLOYMENT.

Not only have we the fact that £10 is available for road-making as against every £1 for other purposes, but there is the further fact, of overwhelming importance, that a much greater proportion of the total to be expended would reach the unskilled labourer in road-making than in any other type of public utility undertaking—not to mention the economic abyss of specially contrived relief works. The work of road-making—unlike housing or sewerage schemes—penetrates the whole country, thus providing employment without change of residence.

So—to parodise—"we've got the men, we've got the roads, and got the money too." What is lacking? Nothing, I suggest, but centralised driving-force and determination, which are necessary to meet the passing and pressing need of the hour, and therewith to lay some of the foundations of abiding prosperity. So long as the initiative and the last word are left to the vagaries and the internal bickerings of local authorities paralysis will continue, roads will be botched, labour will remain unemployed and parsimony will continue to be the handmaid of waste.

I venture to suggest to Mr. Vincent Rice and his colleagues on the Unemployment Committee that the rapid organisation of a well-staffed, central road-making authority should be their first business. We have at least half-a-dozen really competent road-makers among our county surveyors. We have an emergency to handle. Why should we not call them to Government offices—and keep them there, as an emergency committee at all events, until the crisis has been met!

POLITICAL CRISIS RUMOURS.

WILL THE PENSION MOTION BE TAKEN?

MORE DISCUSSION ON LOAN TERMS.

FROM OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

It appears to be expected that a political crisis will be precipitated by the motion which the Labour Party has tabled for discussion by Dail Eireann to-morrow, in which the House is asked to declare for the restoration of the 1s. to the old age pensioners. I do not think, however, that the motion is likely to be debated at all, or that President Cosgrave, if he is the astute parliamentarian one takes him to be, will be hard put to it to obtain his proposed two months' adjournment this week.

TOO MUCH BUSINESS.

One thing certain is that, if time is to be allowed for the discussion of all the business already tabled by private deputies of one party or another, the adjournment cannot possibly take place this week. The debate on Mr. Lemass's tariff motion alone would probably occupy two or three days, to say nothing of the second reading of Mr. de Valera's Local Government Bill or of the Labour Party's old age pensions motion.

A substantial amount of time has been allotted by the Ministry to private members' business within the last few weeks, and the President would be justified in resisting a further encroachment during the two or three days that remain until the adjournment. It may be argued by the Opposition that the private business on the agenda is sufficiently important to warrant another two or three weeks' session before adjournment; but, taking the old age pensions motion out of the Order Paper for the moment, I am convinced that a majority of the House would welcome the immediate two months' holiday which the President proposes to give it.

ANTICIPATING THE BUDGET.

The Labour Party's motion on the old age pensions is in these terms:—

"That, in the opinion of the Dail, the law relating to old age pensions and blind persons pensions should be amended so as to restore the statutory rates of pensions and conditions governing payment of same to the level in operation before the passing of the Old Age Pensions Act, 1924, and that provision should be made in the next Budget to enable this to be done."

Assuming that this motion went before the House for discussion, and the Government resisted it merely for the one reason that the cost of the proposed restoration would be too great, there would be the strongest likelihood of a second Government defeat; but the question being asked in political circles is whether the very terms of the motion do not make it impossible for debate by the House, or, more correctly, by the Ministry.

It would, it is stated, seem rather a startling departure from practice to discuss something that had direct reference to a forthcoming Budget. It is suggested that on a similar motion in respect, for instance, of the beer and spirit duties, the Ministry would not commit itself beforehand to a statement of its intentions, and on this occasion I doubt if it could be reasonably asked to communicate possible Budget proposals in regard to the old age pensions, whether those proposals were for a reduction or increase in the present rates.

Personally I believe that the amendment will not go to a debate, except in an amended form that will offer no trouble to the Ministry.

CAPTAIN REDMOND'S MOTION.

The Ministry's attitude to the result of last week's debate on Captain Redmond's motion will, I am told, be finally determined to-day, and an announcement on the matter by the President may be expected in the House to-morrow.

THE NEW LOAN.

Yesterday Mr. F. J. Lillis, a director of the Munster and Leinster Bank and a member of the Currency Commission, and Mr. J. X. Murphy, Governor of the Bank of Ireland, had a long consultation with the Minister of Finance. The forthcoming Loan is stated to have been the subject of their conference.

AN EXTRA CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY.

BANKS CLOSED ON 2ND JANUARY NEXT.

FROM OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

The Free State Executive Council intend to proclaim both December 27th and January 2nd next as extra bank holidays, because both Christmas Day and New Year's Day fall on a Sunday.

The proclamation will declare the 27th December to be a public, as well as a bank, holiday. A similar decision in respect of this date has been reached by the Governments of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN DUBLIN.

FIVE MEN INJURED: HORSES SUFFOCATED.

As the result of a fire in Dublin last night five men were injured and three horses suffocated. The fire broke out in a stable and garage in Granby Row, Parnell square, owned by Patrick McCarthy, who lives at 37 Parnell street. It appears that it was caused by a motor car catching fire. The building and its contents were destroyed.

Patrick McCarthy, John McCarthy, John Hayden and Arthur Hayden were injured in their efforts to save the horses in the stable, and Charles Doyle, a fireman, was injured by a falling chimney. John Hayden was detained in Jervis street Hospital, but the others were able to go home after treatment. Only one horse was saved; three others were suffocated.

TAILTEANN GAMES OF 1928.

NEW ZEALAND TO BE FULLY REPRESENTED.

Amongst the competitors from all parts of the world who will participate in the Tailteann Games next year New Zealand will be fully represented.

Information has been conveyed to the General Council of Aonach Tailteann that the New Zealand Olympic Council have decided that their country will have full representation in all departments at both the Irish festival and the Olympic Games in Amsterdam.

The Tailteann competitions for which the New Zealanders will enter will include international golf.

MARTIAL LAW IN COAL STRIKE.

TROOPS USED IN U.S.: 3 MINERS SHOT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

DENVER (COLORADO), Monday.

Three miners were shot and killed at the Columbine Coal Mine here this morning when they failed to heed the orders of the police to keep off the company's property.

The men were engaged, with several hundred others, in a strike demonstration. These are the first fatalities which have occurred since a strike was declared about a month ago. About twenty other demonstrators were more or less seriously wounded.

Warnings had been issued by the officials of the Mountain Fuel Company, who work the mine, that any attempt to invade the property would be met with gunfire. Among the injured was a woman dressed in man's clothes.

At ten o'clock the Governor declared martial law in the disaffected areas. Troops were already on their way to the Columbine Mine when the edict was published conferring upon the National Guard absolute authority in the strike district.

TANKS SENT.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Monday.

Immediately after the occurrence, Mr. Adams, the State Governor, put all the northern coalfield under martial law. A troop of cavalry, five companies of infantry, and two tanks were sent there to maintain order.

The Colorado strike was called, and is directed by the Industrial Workers of the World, many of whose members have served prison sentences in the Western States for criminal syndicalism.

The I.W.W. is opposed to the principle of organising labour by drafts, and supports the idea of one big union of workers, with the ultimate object of doing away with Capitalism. The present strike was called against the wishes of the regular unions, and they have taken no part in it.

AN ILLEGAL STRIKE.

The State Industrial Board declared it to be illegal, and the State police have been energetic in preventing picketing. Lately the I.W.W. summoned to Colorado all the unemployed men in its organisation, with the intention of preventing the production of coal there until the miners had secured an increase in wages.

Most of the mines in the northern area were shut down, but the Columbine Mine of the Rocky Mountain Fuel and Iron Company were kept going.

Yesterday there was a demonstration of strikers at the Columbine Mine. The police threatened to shoot, but did not. This morning, at 5.30, a mob, including many women, some of them dressed as men, appeared at the gates. They attacked the police with clubs, stones and knives, and were resisted at first with clubbed rifles.

THE WHITE FLAG.

Later the police fired two volleys over their heads, and when this failed to halt them, shot directly into the crowd. The mob fled, but returned under a white flag to pick up their dead and wounded. Several policemen were taken to hospital with broken shoulders. Six out of the nineteen wounded strikers are expected to die.

BELGIAN CABINET RESIGNS.

CAUSE OF THE CRISIS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BRUSSELS, Monday.

The Cabinet resigned to-day after the Comte de Broqueville, Minister of Defence, had made a statement on the subject of the reorganisation of the Army, especially as regards the cadres, the system of fortifications, and the reduction in the period of military service.

He said that he could not at the present time introduce a bill for a reduction in the period of military service which would meet with the approval of all the members of the Cabinet. He proposed, therefore, to submit the military question as a whole to a mixed Commission—similar to that of 1920—to be composed of members of Parliament and higher officers of the Army Headquarters Staff.

The Cabinet could not agree on this proposal, and it was decided that the resignation of the whole Cabinet should be handed to the King.

It is generally believed that, in the very likely event of the King again calling on M. Jaspar to form a Government, the present Government would be reconstituted with the existing Catholic and Liberal Ministers, and the addition of two Liberals and two members of the Christian Democratic Group. If this is so, the new Ministry could be formed this week.

SULTAN'S UMBRELLA.

ENTERS CAPITAL ON A WHITE CHARGER.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

RABAT, Monday.

The Sultan of Morocco made a solemn entry into the capital this morning. He was driven in a motor car from Fez. On his arrival he mounted a white charger, and rode slowly through the city at the head of a procession of a Sherifian guard of notables to the palace.

Unfortunately it rained all the time, but the Sultan was protected by a huge parasol, held over his head by a horseman riding behind him.

The streets were lined with native troops, and packed with crowds.

YUGO-SLAV RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

INDIGNATION IN SERBIA.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BELGRADE, Monday.

It is announced in the newspapers to-day that the authorities who have been making an investigation on the spot into the attempted outrage on the Skoplje-Kumanovo railway, about 300 miles south of Belgrade, which occurred on Saturday night, have found a second infernal machine, composed of a fuse beside the line and a hole filled with explosives, beneath the permanent way.

The investigation showed that the perpetrators of the crime had placed the infernal machines between the time of the passing of an ordinary passenger train and a goods train, which followed each other at a short interval, but that they had not had sufficient time to set up the second infernal machine, and attach the fuse from it to the battery. It is believed by the newspapers that the criminal attempt was directed against the express passenger train, as the scene of the outrage is a spot with a precipice on either side.

The damage caused by the explosion was repaired during the same night on which the outrage occurred, and normal communications were re-established. This fresh outrage, which is attributed to Bulgarian comitadjis, has aroused the greatest indignation at Skoplje and in Southern Serbia. A detachment of gendarmes was immediately sent to search for the criminals.

RAILWAYS' ROAD RIVALS.

GREAT SOUTHERN LINE'S POLICY.

PROTECTIVE, NOT AGGRESSIVE.

In an interview with an Irish Times representative yesterday, Mr. M. F. Keogh, General Manager of the Great Southern Railways Company, described the attitude of the company towards motor competition. He said that the Minister for Industry and Commerce has approved of about forty omnibus routes, mainly radiating from Dublin and Limerick a number of which run at various points in connection with railway dépôts.

The Railway (Motor Road Services) Act passed by the Oireachtas early this year takes the place of various private Acts of Parliament which had conferred powers upon some of the constituent companies now forming the Great Southern Railway Company, and as from the date (the 21st November, 1927) when this Act becomes operative the powers previously held by the company are cancelled. The new Act contains provisions for the protection of the public in extension of anything done in the former private enactments.

A NON-AGGRESSIVE POLICY.

"The policy if the Great Southern Railway Company is a non-aggressive one," said Mr. Keogh, "and we favour co-operation with other omnibus undertakings rather than a competition with them, which cannot but be detrimental to all interests if persisted in." The public must be served, but there was no room for waste in this country, and the duplication of services would reduce rather than increase facilities.

Meantime all the disadvantages as regards wear and tear on the roads, complicating the traffic regulation problem and the risk of speeding for competitive purposes, would continue as an unavoidable accompaniment to the policy of competition. Naturally, when omnibus owners come along with services paralleling our existing railway, the Great Southern Railway Company could hardly be expected to stand aside and see its traffic diverted; but the true solution would be a system of conference and co-operation as between the various interests involved, and there was no reason to think, if the subject was approached on business-like lines and in a reasonable spirit of compromise, that any difficulty encountered could not but be settled on satisfactory lines.

RAILWAY DETERMINED TO PROTECT ITS INTERESTS.

The important point, so far as the Great Southern Railway Company was concerned, was that, whilst determined to protect its interests, the company had no desire to obstruct either transport undertakings or to acquire more than a legitimate share of public support.

Of the forty odd services referred to by Mr. Keogh, over thirty have been in operation for some time past. These are only the beginning—they have been by way of a trial, and so far they do not afford any trustworthy guide as to the possibilities of road motor schemes.

THE IRISH GRANTS COMMITTEE.

MR. BALDWIN'S PROMISE.

Colonel Howard Bury, in the House of Commons yesterday, asked the Prime Minister whether he would take steps whereby the claimants whose claims had been decided upon by the Irish Grants Committee, and who had been given a temporary advance, would be informed of the amounts of their awards.

Mr. Baldwin—I can add nothing to the reply given on July 27.

Colonel Howard Bury—Is the Prime Minister aware that there are many cases of hardship and, as the Committee might not report for another year or two, cannot something be done to settle the claims that have been allowed?

Sir W. Davison—Does the Prime Minister realise that it is impossible for these people to make any arrangements for the future until they know approximately the amount of the award they are likely to receive?

Mr. Baldwin—I will consider that point.

ELECTRICITY PLAN CRITICISED.

MAKING TARGETS FOR ENEMY AIRCRAFT.

Mr. F. W. Purse, President of the Incorporated Municipal Electrical Association, addressing the Eastbourne Rotary Club yesterday, declared that all that was claimed for the electricity centralisation system was balderdash. It would be far inferior to the present service.

The eighty-feet standards to be used would form a menace to aircraft in foggy weather or at night, while in time of war it would be supremely easy for enemy aeroplanes to bomb the central generating stations, put the whole country in darkness and deprive it of all power.

Mr. J. K. Bridges, manager of the Eastbourne Corporation Electricity Department, said that the red glow from the power cables at night would form an excellent guide for raiding aeroplanes.

AMERICAN CENSOR IN LONDON.

PROTEST AGAINST DANCE AT THE GAIETY.

"I protest against this barbaric and disgraceful exhibition." These words were shouted by an American at the Gaiety Theatre, London, last night, when two speciality dancers, Jean Barry and Jack Holland, were giving a scene in "The Girl from Cook's."

As he left the dress circle, where he had been sitting, he was stopped by officials of the theatre, and explained that he was "from the American Purity League of New York," and objected "to the display of undress."

Miss Barry, was the object of his protest, and he added that he was looking for unseemly displays in London shows, "so that he might register his protest." Without giving his name, he left the theatre.

Miss Barry, who is an American, is making her first appearance in London.

NEW ENGLAND FLOOD DAMAGE.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

According to information in the hands of the Department of Commerce, the damage caused by the recent floods in New England amounts to nearly six million sterling.—(Reuter.)

LATE NEWS.

NEW HYDROPLANE.

SPEED OF OVER SIXTY KNOTS.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Monday.

A motor boat employing a principle of aero-dynamics carried twenty-four persons over a five-mile course on Long Island Sound yesterday at a rate of over 60 knots. Other motor boats have gone faster, but none probably has ever approached this speed with so great a load—namely, 4,000lb. The boat, which is called Fan Tail, was designed by Mr. Johannes Plumm, formerly Naval Attaché at the Danish Embassy in Washington. The secret of its speed is an aluminium horizontal stream-lined adjustable plane, attached to the stern several inches below the waterline. When the boat, which is driven by a 500 horse-power Wright marine engine, attains a speed of 30 knots the plane causes it to rise and skim along the top of the water as though skating on ice.

The Fan Tail was driven yesterday on a number of speed trials by Mrs. William B. Leeds, formerly Princess Xenia of Greece. Though Mr. Plumm expects that boats built according to his design will be sought for principally by business men for daily trips between their country homes and their offices in New York, he is convinced that the principle is applicable to much larger vessels. The United States and British Navies are said to be interested in the invention.

Mr. Plumm suggested yesterday that the boat could be dropped from a cruiser in war and be sent toward the enemy near enough to discharge torpedoes, and by means of its speed return without being hit. He has been assisted in his work for several years by the Bureau of Standards in Washington.

SITE OF BETHEL IDENTIFIED.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

JERUSALEM, Monday.

The American School of Archæology has now completed the preliminary soundings at Beitin, north of Jerusalem. The director, Dr. W. F. Albright, in an interview, said that the primary motive for the initial work was to determine the correctness of the traditional identification of the spot with Bethel, the place of Jacob's dream and Jeroboam's golden calf, and religious centres in Bible history.

The work has been unexpectedly successful. Both early Iron Age and Bronze Age remains have come to light, belonging respectively to the Israelite and pre-Israelite occupation of Bethel. A matter of considerable importance is that two or three acres on the summit of the ancient Tell (hill) are unoccupied by houses, so it is hoped that more elaborate work can be undertaken later, now that the identification with Bethel is confirmed and the depth and importance of the ancient remains has been established.

CHINESE MURDER GERMAN PRIEST.

MISSION HOUSE LOOTED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

TIENTSIN, Monday.

While returning to the Kacerhliu (?) Mission, in the north of the Province of Shansi, Father Hermenigilde, a German Catholic missionary, was accosted by a band of Shansi soldiers, who demanded his overcoat.

Father Hermenigilde protested on account of the bitter cold, and asked to be taken to their officer. The soldiers agreed, and hustled him along. A few moments later they shot him dead from behind and looted the Mission nearby.

TWO LIVES LOST ON SNOWDEN.

CLIMBERS PERISH AFTER RESCUE FROM LAKE.

Two climbers, found dead in a bog near Snowden, Carnarvonshire, yesterday, are Norman Stott, the youngest son of Mr. James Stott, Oakwood Park, Conway, and his friend, Mr. Arthur M. Taylor, of Oxford street Manchester.

A dramatic story of their deaths was told at the inquest last night by Mr. Francis Waldron Giveen, of Campden House road, Kensington, London. Four in number, and all young men, the party started out on Sunday morning to climb Craig Yrysfa, a Snowdonian peak. They got near the summit, but an accident to the rope prevented them completing the climb in daylight. On the return journey their lantern went out, and their matches became sodden with rain. While walking around a lake in the darkness, a steep bank of grass and clay gave way beneath Taylor and Stott, and they both fell into the lake. The witness managed to throw the rope to them, and hauled them both out, almost exhausted and numbed by the cold.

A DESPERATE PLIGHT.

Unable to find out their position the party's plight became desperate, and it was decided to leave Taylor and Stott and get help. At the time Stott was unconscious and Taylor nearly so, but they did not appear to be in any pain. Some food was left with them, and the witness and his friend managed to get to a climbers' cottage, and obtained assistance to search for the two men, who by that time were dead. They had moved apparently fifty yards from where they had been left.

The Coroner returned a verdict of death from exposure.

"MR. X" IDENTIFIED.

HUNGARIAN BONDS CASE INQUIRIES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Monday.

Following the arrest of M. Louis de la Houpliere, which is the name of the mysterious "Mr. X." in the Hungarian bonds case, police inspectors to-day visited a number of provincial towns where he is said to have carried on operations.

For the moment their attention is focussed in the Eastern provinces. The officials at headquarters are still reticent regarding the inquiries, and the experts spent the day examining seized documents.

The prisoner is a stockbroker.

BOXER AND HIS FORMER MANAGER.

COLLAPSE OF THE KEARNS-DEMPSEY CASE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEWARK, N.J., Monday.

The action for $333,333 damages brought against Dempsey by Kearns, his erstwhile manager, for alleged breach of contract collapsed to-day.

After counsel for Kearns had charged Dempsey and his lawyers with deliberately "framing" the Court, and Tex Rickard with having boasted that he had the case "in the bag," both sides agreed to end the trial in a "voluntary non-suit," a polite form of mistrial carrying no connotation of guilt.

Kearns's counsel announced that the case would be brought to trial again as soon as possible. Dempsey's lawyers, however, intimated that legal obstacles would be found in the way of such a course, and declared that Kearns had unintentionally "got himself up a salt creek without a paddle, and would have a hard time getting back into the legal stream."

PREMIER CONGRATULATES LADY IVEAGH, M.P.

Lady Iveagh received the following telegram from the Prime Minister:—"Heartiest congratulations on your splendid victory. Southend, by sending you to join us in Parliament, has given a decisive message of confidence in the present Government.—STANLEY BALDWIN."

DEAN INGE ON NEW MORALITY.

IRISH PROBLEM IN ENGLAND.

"WASTE PRODUCTS OF CIVILISATION."

Dean Inge denounced many aspects of modern life when he delivered in London last night the Norman Lockyer lecture on "Scientific Ethics."

"The certainty that the lower animals were literally our cousins," he said, "ought to make some change in our attitude towards them. It was unlikely that the feeling of kinship with other animals would go so far as to stop the consumption of animal food. What was likely to change was the popular attitude towards field sports.

"He believed that pigeon-shooting and coursing would be given up in deference to public opinion.

"Declaring that the destruction both of natural beauty and of natural wealth goes on apace, the Dean said that the vulgarity of the modern town discharges itself over the whole country.

"Hideous allotments and bungaloid growths make the approaches to any city repulsive, and what can we say of the reckless expenditure of coal and oil for the benefit of our spendthrift present generation? The approaching failure of the petroleum supplies will bring about great changes.

BIRTH CONTROL.

"It is the manifest duty of those who understood the supreme importance of preventing the degradation of the national type to go on attempting to educate their fellow-countrymen. The new morality will have nothing to do with the old saying, 'Where God sends mouths he sends meat.' We cannot throw on the Deity the responsibility for bringing unwanted children into the world and leaving them to the State to clothe, feed and support by outdoor relief.

"The morality of birth control depends on the motive. The good citizen wants to do his best for his children and for his country. If he has reason to think that his children are not likely to be healthy in mind or body, or if it is plain that there is no longer room for large families in the class or the nation to which he belongs, it is his duty to act in accordance with that knowledge.

THE IRISH PROBLEM.

"Of course he must take into account the risk of inferior immigrants coming in and filling the places which over-prudent Englishmen have left vacant. This is what has happened in the United States, and, though I say nothing against the Irish as a whole, we cannot view without grave apprehension the unrestricted influx of low-grade Irish into Liverpool, Glasgow and the West of Scotland generally. The danger is greatly increased now that America will no longer admit the Southern Irish.

"It is, perhaps, too much to hope that any Government will penalise the slum-dwellers who still produce large families to add new burdens to the rates, but we ought to remember that this dysgenic selection by the disproportionate multiplication of the waste products of civilisation is a new thing," the Dean added.

THE "BANTAM" BRIGADE.

"The miserable physique of our town population is without a parallel in Europe. It astonished the French when they saw our "bantam" regiments; in fact, the physique both of French and Germans is now superior to that of the British nation. Taken together though, the upper-class Englishman is still a very fine animal."

UNEMPLOYED EX-SERVICE MEN.

MR. BALDWIN AND A ROYAL COMMISSION.

Mr. Baldwin writes as follows, in reply to Mr. Dixey, who asked whether he was prepared to set up a Commission, similar to that decided upon by the Irish Free State Parliament, to inquire into the position of ex-Service men, in view of the serious condition of a large number of ex-Service men in Great Britain:—

"The problem of the ex-Service man in relation to employment forms a part, and a very important part, of the unemployment problem as a whole, to which the Government are giving their constant attention, and I do not think that the appointment of a Royal Commission in this country would serve any useful purpose."

[NOTE.—No such Commission has been set up in the Irish Free State. President Cosgrave has not yet announced his decision on this subject.]

NEW COMET

PHOTOGRAPHED AT HAMBURG.

BERLIN, Monday.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

A new comet, invisible to the naked eye, situated in the constellation of Pisces, and with the brightness of a star of the thirteenth to the fourteenth magnitude, has been photographed at Hamburg Observatory by Professors Schwarzmann and Wach. The Hamburg Observatory has also photographed another star of the tenth magnitude between Taurus and Orion. The observatory locates it on the edge of the Milky Way, where the majority of novæ are situated.

Note.—Pisces is the twelfth constellation of the Zodiac. It contains no bright stars.

PEER'S DAUGHTER AGED 103.

HON. KATHARINE PLUNKET.

FRIEND OF WESTERN FISHERFOLK.

To-day the Hon. Katharine Plunket, daughter of the second Baron Plunket, will celebrate her 103rd birthday at her residence, Ballymascanlan House, County Louth. It is one hundred years since her grandfather, William Conyngham Plunket, M.P. for Charlemont, in the Irish Parliament of 1798-1800, and for Dublin University from 1812 to 1827, was created first Baron Plunket, of Newtown, County Cork, in the peerage of the United Kingdom. He had a brilliant career in Parliament and at the Bar, and became Lord Chancellor of Ireland.

The title went to his son Thomas, father of this wonderful old lady, who was a man of scholarly attainments, and rose from the position of Dean of Down to the Bishopric of Tuam. He married Louise Jane Foster, daughter of John W. Foster, M.P., Vane Valley, County Louth, in 1819, and of the marriage there were five daughters, the eldest and only survivor being the Hon. Miss Katharine Plunket.

She has travelled virtually all over the world, and has the distinction of living in the reign of five Sovereigns and during the lifetime of six holders of the title Baron Plunket. At one time she kept a London residence, but in recent years resided with her youngest sister, the Hon. Miss Gertrude Plunket, at Ballymascanlan. They were charitably disposed, and, although they did not figure much in the public eye, their philanthropy was well known. Three years ago the Hon. Gertrude Plunket died at the age of 83.

For the past few years the Hon. Miss Katharine Plunket has been confined to her room, but, despite her extraordinary age, she continues to take an interest in current affairs. She is really brighter and better than she was two years ago, and is eagerly looking forward to the celebration of her 103rd birthday, in connection with which she has made special arrangements.

Recently she sent a subscription in aid of the sufferers of the Western fishing disasters. Indeed, her generosity is well known among the fisherfolk of the Western seaboard, as in previous years she was the donor of much appreciated gifts in the way of clothing, etc.

The Hon. Bishop Plunket, D.D., who was Bishop of Tuam and later of Meath (from which he resigned two years ago), is a cousin and a frequent visitor at Ballymascanlan House.

FOSTERING ARTS AND CRAFTS.

LADY CRAIGAVON OPENS BELFAST EXHIBITION.

Viscountess Craigavon opened the annual Arts and Crafts Exhibition in the Y.M.C.A. Minor Hall, Belfast, yesterday, Dr. R. W. Livingstone, Vice-Chancellor of Queen's University, presiding.

Lady Craigavon said that in these days of machine-made articles it was delightful to see things made entirely by hand, showing so much taste and individuality. She hoped everybody would do their best to help and encourage arts and crafts, because it would be a great pity to see them die out in the country. They ought to be encouraged everywhere, for they provided a great deal of employment and enabled people in remote districts to earn a good livelihood.

Prior to the war a sale of Irish cottage industries used to be held every St. Patrick's Day in London. She thought some of the arts and crafts organisers ought to try and revive that sale, for she believed it would meet with a ready market and help to bring the resources of Ireland before the British public.

Lady Craigavon also welcomed those who had come from Southern Ireland for the exhibition, and assured them how pleased the North was to see them there.

Lieutenant-Colonel Dawson, M.D., proposed, and Professor R. A. Williams, D.Litt., seconded, a vote of thanks to Lady Craigavon.

MURDERED ESSEX CONSTABLE.

REMARKABLE STATEMENTS.

Scotland Yard detectives are co-operating with the Southampton police in investigating statements which may have an important bearing on the murder of Police Constable Gutteridge, at Stapleford Abbot, Essex, on September 27. A statement was made to Scotland Yard during the week-end by a man who overheard a conversation in prison. The information was communicated yesterday morning to the Southampton police, who almost simultaneously received from local sources two other statements implicating the same person. One of these, the suspected man, was released from a convict establishment a few days before Constable Gutteridge was found shot dead, and was recently sentenced to penal servitude for a series of offences.

The Southampton police are inquiring into the genuineness of the statements, and if they are satisfied on this point the suspected person will be brought up for interrogation. It is a remarkable coincidence that although, all three statements implicate the same individual, the three informants are each unknown to the others.

CHEMICALS ON FIRE.

ROAD TRAFFIC DIVERTED.

On the Great Bath road at Salthill, Slough, Buckinghamshire, yesterday, a large motor lorry laiden with £2,000 worth of chemicals burst into flames. The Slough Fire Brigade was summoned and the public were warned that if the chemicals exploded the fumes would cause death. Consequently all traffic was diverted. The chemicals consisted of liquid in metal drums, and solids in sacks. Chemical extinguishers, sand and water were used to subdue the outbreak.

EFFECTIVE VOICE PROJECTION.

In an abusive language case, before Mr. Little in the Dublin District Court yesterday, it was pleaded for the woman defendant that whatever was said was uttered within doors.

Mr. Little—It has been held that if the language is so effectively projected from inside that it gets into the public thoroughfare, then the user is liable.

CITY LIFE LIQUIDATION.

The liquidation of the City Life Assurance Company is approaching final stages. The policy-holders have received two dividends of 1s., and it is expected that a third and final dividend will be paid about next July. The certificate holders, who are fully secured creditors, have received 15s. in the £, and the balance of 5s., together with interest at 4 per cent., will be paid within the next few months.

The Prince of Wales returned to London last night from Melton Mowbray, Leicestershire.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE.

COMMITTEE STAGE OF BILL.

From Our Parliamentary Correspondent.

WESTMINSTER, Monday.

The event of the day in the House of Commons was the introduction of the Countess of Iveagh, the victor at Southend-on-Sea.

Mr. Esmond Harmsworth had a question asking the Prime Minister if it was the intention of the Government to present a bill next session for the reform of the House of Lords, but was informed by Mr. Baldwin that he was not in a position to make a statement on the subject. In reply to a further question, Mr. Baldwin added that the matter was still under consideration.

Mr. Locker-Lampson stated that a report had been received from the British Ambassador in Paris regarding Lord Terrington. A medical report stated that his transfer to Douai, with a view to extradition, could not be attempted without danger to his health.

The House then went into Committee on the Unemployment Insurance Bill. In moving the postponement of Clause 1, which deals with the rights of insured persons to benefit, Mr. Tom Shaw complained that the real effect of this clause had never been explained. As he understood, it meant that 20 per cent. of the unemployed would be thrown on the scrap heap and compelled to have recourse to the guardians. Sir Arthur Steel Maitland pointed out that the conditions attaching to the statutory right to benefit were laid down in subsequent clauses. All that Clause 1 did was to lay down the right. Labour members continued to express their objections to the clause until the Chairman, Mr. Hope, assured them that the passing of the clause would not debar discussions on later amendments. The amendment was negatived by 195 votes to 106.

Mr. Ernest Brown next proposed that the operation of the clause should be postponed until the number of unemployed should have dropped to 700,000. There was a very long argument, which amounted to this—That a statutory right ought not to be established until the House knew exactly what those statutory rights were. Labour members declared that so far as they could see an enormous number of genuine unemployed would be thrown upon the rates.

The amendment was rejected by 211 votes to 129.

The clause was carried on a division by 224 votes to 137, and the debate was adjourned.

THE GALE.

of the storm. Scaffolding was torn asunder and thrown ashore, huge piles being snapped like pipe-stems and iron-work twisted until it resembled cordage, while concrete blocks were broken to pieces. There was little abatement of the South-Easterly gale last evening.

Over thirty vessels were compelled to seek shelter in bays along the Firth of Forth coast yesterday owing to the wild weather, and fishing operations were entirely suspended.

STORM HAVOC ABROAD.

STEAMERS ASHORE ON SPANISH COAST.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

CADIZ, Monday.

The Spanish steamer Antonio Lopez, from Havana to New York, went ashore in the storm yesterday off Cadiz. Three tugs have gone to her assistance.

A Danish steamer was driven aground near the mouth of the Barbate, and tugs have departed to the scene.

A number of vessels have taken refuge in the port, and several have postponed their departure.

A sailor has been swept away by a wave from a trawler, which is in a dangerous position.

Nothing is known of the fate of a Spanish steamer registered at Vigo, which was expected in on Saturday.

MOROCCAN TOWN FLOODED.

CASABLANCA, Monday.

During the storm last night the township of Safi was swept by torrential rain. In the quarter where the Customs is situated the water stood nearly seven feet deep. The Customs House itself was flooded. Many shops were flooded and their contents ruined.

Several cases of drowning are reported, and relief has been organised by the garrison troops, the police and public works officials.

NORTHERN BARONET'S ESTATE.

CASE IN APPEAL COURT.

In the Belfast Court of Appeal yesterday before the Lord Chief Justice and Lord Justice Best judgment was reserved in the appeal with regard to a Land Purchase Commisison judgment given by Lord Justice Andrews in the matter of Sir John Molesworth Staples and the Public Trustee, Free State, the appellants; and the Public Trustee, Northern Ireland, respondents.

Mr. Davison, K.C., M.P. (instructed by Messrs. French and French), appeared for appellants; and Mr. Monroe, K.C., and Mr. Dougherty (instructed by Messrs. S. S. and E. Reeves) for the respondents.

Mr. Davison read an affidavit, in which details were given of the will of the late Sir Thomas Staples, Bart., and of a codicil, dated 1865, under which Sir J. Molesworth Staples, Bart., became tenant in 1899 of the estates situate in Derry, Tyrone and elsewhere. He was born in 1847 and shortly after his coming of age and when resident in Belgium the present baronet got into trouble with the authorities—he attacked a gendarme—and was found to be insane. He was for many years in his father's lifetime, maintained by him in an asylum in Belgium. When that country was over-run by Germans in 1914, he was removed to Holland, where he remained till 1922, when he was brought to Ireland, and placed in a home in the Co. Dublin, where he now was. All the lands had been sold to tenants long ago through the Court.

Counsel proceeded to deal with the judgment of Lord Justice Andrews from the legal aspect, and raised various points, including one as to the setting up of a committee in a lunacy matter, outside jurisdiction. There was no doubt this unfortunate gentleman had a mansion house at Lissaire, near Cookstown, but he had never resided there, being looked after elsewhere. Counsel argued that there was ordinary residence in the Free State.

Mr. Monroe, K.C., said that he did not maintain that the Land Purchase Trustee for Northern Ireland was entitled to retain the funds, but he was there simply to assist the Court. His client came there in the fulfilment of his duty as a public official to help the Court in whatever way he could.

Mr. Davison replied that the only point was whether the lunatic was in ordinary residence. Ordinary residence in such a case meant customary and habitual.

Judgment was reserved.

PRISONER ON CRUTCHES.

Having met with an accident in prison, a young man named Patrick McLoughlin, St. Columb's Wells, charged with attempted housebreaking, appeared in the dock at the Derry Police Court yesterday on crutches, and it was stated that he would not be able to walk without their support for a considerable time. He was returned for trial, and admitted to bail.

WESTERN RELIEF FUND.

OVER £7,710 FROM OUR READERS.

RECEIVED YESTERDAY....	£82 7 6
TOTAL TO DATE	£7,715 0 5

Another £82 was received yesterday from our readers for the West Coast National Relief Fund in aid of the fisherfolk in the West of Ireland. The total received by the Irish Times to date amounts to £7,715 0s. 5d.

Further money will be required if the Committee is to undertake a scheme for dealing with the bigger problem, after relieving the wants of those who were left without means of support as the result of the great gale on October 28th, when 44 men lost their lives. About 150 old men, women and children were dependent on the efforts of these 44 men.

President Cosgrave, in his appeal, indicated that an effort would be made to help the many other cases of distress in the West if a surplus remained. Consequently a very considerable sum will be needed.

All subscriptions from our readers will be handed over to President Cosgrave's West Coast Disaster National Relief Fund.

TYRONE COUNCILS AT LAW.

CONDITION OF COURTHOUSE.

A most unusual case was heard at Omagh Petty Sessions yesterday, when Omagh Urban Council summoned Tyrone County Council for failure to take down and repair a dangerous wall and railings in front of Omagh Courthouse.

Mr. Murnaghan, solicitor, who appeared for the Urban Council, said the Urban Council had brought to the notice of the County Council the dangerous condition of the Courthouse railings and steps, but the County Council had adjourned the matter for six months. He believed that that was a polite way of saying that they were not going to do anything.

For the County Council, Mr. J. F. Dickie, solicitor, said that this action was only part of a carefully-considered scheme by the Urban Council to have the Courthouse made more beautiful.

After legal argument, the magistrates inspected the place, and, on their return to court, Captain Gosselin, R.M., announced that they were unanimously of opinion that the case had been proved. They made an order that the railings and steps should be repaired to the satisfaction of the Town Surveyor within four months.

Mr. George Turkington, whose death at the age of 95 has occurred, was the oldest inhabitant in Athlone.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

IRISH WHEAT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—In to-day's issue you print a letter from a farmer in County Dublin who complains that he has an unsold balance of wheat, for which at present he cannot find a market. If the wheat referred to is suitable for milling and in merchantable condition, it can readily be disposed of at market value. Has your correspondent taken the trouble to submit samples to the Secretary of the Irish Corn Trade Association, 32 Nassau street, Dublin, or to any of the Dublin millers?—Yours, etc.,

"Corn Merchant."

Dublin, November 21st, 1927.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—With reference to the letter from Mr. Louis Kevan in your issue to-day we emphatically deny his statement that "the millers . . . . refuse to buy home-grown wheat." We have bought thousands of barrels of home-grown wheat already this season, and are willing to buy all good Irish wheat that is offered to us, and would gladly use 10 per cent. (and more than 10 per cent.) of our requirements, provided we could get that quantity of good, sound Irish wheat at a price equivalent to foreign wheat of a similar kind. In our opinion, there can be only three reasons why Mr. Kevan cannot sell his wheat. Either (1) he has not offered it to millers; or (2) he is holding out for an extravagant price; or (3) his wheat is bad.

Further, in accusing the Ministry of Agriculture of neglect of the subject of tillage Mr. Kevan merely shows ignorance. The Ministry have conducted most extensive research into the improvement of grain of all kinds, and have done an immense amount of work in conjunction with the local agricultural committees and the Irish Flour Millers' Association, in growing and testing of trial plots of wheat all over the country, with the object of improving the strain of seed and increasing the growing and marketing of Irish wheat.—Yours, etc.,

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—May I draw the attention of the public to the hardships of applicants for old age pensions who cannot produce birth certificates? These old people find great difficulty in convincing the authorities that they are of statutory age. In former days, if documentary proof of age were lacking, the unanimous recommendation of the local committee, before whom the applicant appeared, was invariably accepted. That, to my mind, is equitable. The Congress of Municipal Authorities, which met in Kilkenny in 1926, passed a resolution unanimously that this method be followed, but it has not been adopted. The applicants come to the committee with no knowledge of what they ought to do, and, though committees do all possible to enlighten them—telling them to get two affidavits sworn before a Peace Commissioner—all that causes delay and hardship and may in the end not avail. The officers from Merrion square should, in my opinion, help and facilitate these poor people, telling them clearly and in minute detail what is required.

A typical case came before my committee in Rathmines recently. We recommended the pension, but the claim was neglected on the ground of insufficient proof of age. Her husband is an old age pensioner of 72, and she is a frail, decrepit, old woman, scarcely able to walk, as she is crippled with rheumatism. Anyone seeing her would recognise her as bona fide. She will apply again, but meantime she is ill and in misery, and the pension, if granted eventually, will not date, as it should, from her first application. Is this a fair method of dealing with these helpless old people?

I understand that the whole question will occupy the attention of the Dail this week. I trust this point will be considered, and that, if the shilling is restored, the scale of income, which has been altered, will also be restored. Under the British Act a pensioner with twenty-six pounds a year received the full pension. There was then a graduated scale, allowing for variations of income up to forty-nine pounds; now the scale is from eighteen pounds five shillings to thirty-nine pounds. This means that a pensioner, qualified to receive ten shillings under the British Act, now only can receive seven, a cut not of one shilling, but of three shillings. This affects a large number, as most applicants have some little help from relatives in the shape of food or lodgings, which is assessed as income. So let the scale be considered as well as the so-called "shilling cut."—Yours, etc.,

Vice-Chairman, Rathmines U.D.C.

THE ILLUSION OF TARIFFS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—In your leading article of Saturday, November 19th, on the "Illusion of Tariffs," while stating with ability and fairness from your own point of view the case in relation to this matter, you are something less than just to the leader whom I follow, the party to which I belong and myself in the suggestions (1) that there is anything strange in the statement of the difficulties of the case by one of Mr. de Valera's lieutenants; (2) that the discovery that there are such difficulties is a new discovery grudgingly acknowledged and "now" for the first time admitted by us.

I enclose you a cutting giving a condensed report of a speech delivered by me on February 2nd, 1927, at a tariff discussion at the Cork Chamber of Commerce. It represents my convictions; it is typical of every word I have ever said in public or in private in relation to this matter. Its essence is in the declarations that "the difference between England and Ireland economically was that England was owned by herself and that Ireland was owned by England. . . Ireland had been functioning for a thousand years as a cog in the wheel of a larger mechanism. . . . What Ireland needed was not protection by tariffs, but protection by a change in the point of view of her people." . . . that, while "Ireland needed protection by every ounce of strength of her people, and that, while I believed in that protection, I did not believe that the machinery of tariffs or legislation would alone successfully accomplish the object of building up her industries."

As to the Fianna Fail Party and its leader, my economic reason for taking service in the ranks was that that party and leader stood for nationality first and last, and in the development of a national opinion sought the only solution for the economic problem. The danger of exploitation of home industry by syndicated foreign capital has been a commonplace of "nationalist" economics as long as I remember.

I have in turn to make an amende honorable to yourselves. I stated on Friday in the Dail that "there was no party or section of my party in the country which now advocated as a policy the dependence of Ireland on a single industry selling its product to a single customer"; that this had now no advocate "but the serial story of the daily leader in the Irish Times." I found that, since a frontal attack on this economically and nationally abominable principle in the Dail a fortnight ago, the advocacy of this principle has not been included in the feuilleton so ably and consistently written by your leader writer, and I gladly acknowledge and apologise for my error in attributing to your paper the further propagation of this heresy.—Yours, etc.,

Hugo V. Flinn.

GOATS FOR THE WEST.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—May I bring under your notice a very good suggestion which I have received from a lady who has just returned to Dublin from the scene of the disaster in Connemara? It is that some of the money collected for the Relief Fund should be invested in goats to supply the widows and children with fresh milk. While visiting Connemara this lady said that she saw no goats; yet it would be quite easy for these poor people to keep a couple of goats on their holdings, even tethered. She adds with pathos: "There are no trees to eat there." Surely it would be a most useful gift, and it would certainly be appreciated.

Our Society has been, since its establishment in 1912, doing its utmost to improve the breed of goats in Ireland. I venture to say that we could supply from thirty to forty good goats of the improved breed, suitable for the stricken district. It is with pleasure I can report the vast improvement in the milking capacities of goats in Ireland, varying from 100 to 170 gallons per annum, as compared with sixty or eighty gallons ten years ago. If I had the means, I would gladly go to the scene of the disaster and find out who would be willing to accept a goat or two, and which breed would be the most suitable for the individual recipient.—Yours, etc.,

K. S. Saunders,
Secretary, Irish Goat Society.

THE CHURCH OF IRELAND TRAINING COLLEGE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—In a recent issue of your paper there was a letter under this heading, signed "A Teacher," which is deserving of immediate attention. Evidently people do not realise the seriousness of the fact that schools are closing because enough suitable teachers could not be found. As one of the probable reasons is stated to be the loneliness of a teacher planted in a country place, where the status which education should give is not properly recognised, would it not be possible to remedy this? There are so many people who—now that the attention of the public has been drawn to the matter—would be glad to help in making the teacher's life wider and happier. It only needs co-operation on the part of those interested. If each one found several others to act in unison in this regard, a good beginning could be made, and I, for one, will do what I can to interest others in such a movement.—Yours, etc.,

Harriet Bagwell.

CHESS FOR BEGINNERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—In the advertisement column of this day's issue of the Irish Times the very welcome and timely announcement is made by the Dublin Chess Club that beginners in chess will be accepted by that Club as associates at a nominal subscription of ten shillings for the first year, and that a special instruction class for beginners will be held on Thursday evenings. This move on the part of the Dublin Chess Club will fill a long-felt want for very many enthusiasts, whose reticence or modesty has hitherto prevented them from venturing within the precincts of a first-class club. Now a golden opportunity is given to such people to benefit by first-class instruction, and to receive what, to my mind, is of almost equal importance—encouragement to persevere.—Yours, etc., Thomas B. Gower.

ARREARS OF RATES IN LEITRIM.

COUNTY COUNCIL'S ACTION.

At a meeting of the Leitrim County Council the Secretary (Mr. Doyle) submitted a report showing that arrears of rates outstanding amounted to £25,678 16s. 7d., and current rate, £44,457 12s. 8d. He recommended that collectors be paid full poundage on the 1925-26 rate only if the warrants are closed before December 17 next; after that date the rate of poundage to be reduced by 1d. in the £; and that similar steps be taken with the 1926-27 rate, but extending the date for closing to January 17 next.

The Chairman (Mr. Carter) ruled that the report had been adopted before Mr. Reilly made his protest, and he would not go back on the order made approving of the report, which he considered was a very good one.

Mr. Briody, Mr. Mooney and others expressed satisfaction at the excellence of the report.

FATAL FIT OF VOMITING.

CORK PARLOURMAID FOUND DEAD IN BED.

At an inquest yesterday into the death of a parlourmaid named Griffin (26), a native of Dunmanway, who was found dead in bed at the residence of Leonard Dobbin, Knockrea House, Blackrock road, Cork, on Sunday, it was stated that when her room was entered in the morning it was at first thought that she was in a faint, and a priest and doctor were sent for. It was clear that the girl had vomited, and the position of her hands suggested that she had been in pain. She was a healthy girl, but occasionally suffered from vomiting attacks, the last of these being in September.

In reply to the Coroner, Superintendent Mansfield, Civic Guards, said that he desired a post-mortem examination, and the inquest was adjourned until this had been carried out by Dr. Buckley, dispensary medical officer.

When the inquest was resumed Dr. Buckley stated that with Professor Moore, Professor of Pathology, and Dr. W. J. O'Donovan, Assistant Pathologist, University College, Cork, he made the post-mortem examination, and they found that death was due to myocardial degeneration of the heart, accelerated by vomiting. Professor Moore agreed, and a verdict was returned in accordance with the medical evidence.

VANDALISM IN ENNISKILLEN.

Some time ago a number of ornamental trees were planted in Brooke street, Enniskillen, out of the Richards' bequest, and they were protected by iron railings. On Monday morning some of the trees were found to have been cut in the middle and destroyed.

Farmers and pig-breeders of Moate, County Westmeath, have decided to start the direct marketing of pigs in England, the first consignment to be forwarded on November 28th next.

U.S. MARKETS.

CHEAP MONEY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, Monday.

Stocks at the opening were firm. Persistent professional selling of representative Railroads and Industrials on the belief that the technical position had been inspired nullified the effect of aggressive pool operations in many shares on favourable trade news, cheap money, and forecasts of business prosperity by leading authorities. Vigorous buying at intervals of Independent Motors, Coppers, Baking shares, Tobaccos and Public Utilities, together with the weakness of U.S. Steel Common, General Motors, International Harvester, Houston Oil, Chemicals, Du-Pont and Hudson Motors, testified to the mixed character of dealings. The declines were largely restricted to 1 to 2 points, whereas many advances of 3 to 6 were registered. The market closed irregular. Government Bonds quiet; Railroad Bonds firm. The day's sales totalled 2,528,000 shares.

COTTON GINNING REPORT.

American cotton of the growth of 1927 ginned prior to November 14 totalled 10,899,000 running bales, counting round as half-bales, the Bureau of the Census Department of Commerce announced to-day in its eighth ginning report of the season. That compares with 12,958,501 bales last year, 12,260,352 bales in 1925, and 11,162,235 bales in 1924. The next report will be issued on December 8.

WILL GREYHOUND RACING LAST?

SCOTTISH ANTI-GAMBLING CAMPAIGN.

"We approach the problem of gambling with no narrow vision," said Lord Maclay, presiding at a conference in Glasgow yesterday convened by the Scottish Churches Committee on Betting and Gambling. "It was bad enough before the war, but in recent years betting and gambling have come upon the nation like a flood. Betting is indulged in to-day more or less by almost every class of men, to a great extent among women, and to a minor extent among children.

"In almost every workshop where there is a minimum of twenty men there is either a bookie or his tout, and one of our finest sports—football—is marred by the reputation it is getting through the introduction of the football coupon."

CAUSE OF CRIME.

The advent of greyhound racing, with its increase in betting, he considered left no doubt that crime records were increased in consequence. Pilfering and petty thefts in warehouses and offices to-day are very much the outcome of the gambling spirit. Every day we are hearing of some new company being formed to operate a greyhound racing track, and it looks as if it will develop. The country cannot afford to go on with the traffic much longer.

Referring to the licensing of bookmakers, Lord Maclay asked was there any reason why they should not license burglars. The bookmaker is making his money out of something that is not trading.

STOCK EXCHANGE DEFENDED.

In a reference to the Chancellor of the Exchequer "glorying in the large income coming to him from the Betting Tax," he said that it was deplorable that he should have to look to that source for money. To the critics who said they should begin any reform with the Stock Exchange, he said that the Stock Exchange was a great and useful institution, meant for legitimate business, and where legitimate business was principally done. At the same time there is a great number of parasites around that system—men and women speculating on the Stock Exchange without any real interest in the institution.

"We should get our Stock Exchange used only for purposes of real advantage to the community," he said, and proposed:—

> "That the conference is of opinion that the alarming growth of betting and gambling, evidenced afresh in connection with fireyhound racing, is a serious menace to the social and moral well-being of the nation."

THIRTY THOUSAND BOOKMAKERS.

The Rev. Dr. Watson, Glasgow, said that the betting and gambling spirit formed the most sinister feature of our day. He was appalled by the stranglehold it was gaining on a very large section of the community. They had to deal not only with a foolish and degrading habit, but a gigantic and highly lucrative business conducted by 30,000 bookmakers, with an army of assistants, and with a turnover of £300,000,000 sterling. Greyhound racing was only the latest excuse for gambling and betting. We have now got a mechanical hare. Soon we are promised the mechanical bookmaker. Are we prepared to legalise a huge invested interest which will block all future reform? Are we prepared to entrench evil so devastating for the sake of revenue?

GREYHOUND RACING BOOM.

Sir Charles Cleland, Chairman of the Glasgow Education Authority, supporting a motion urging the Government to facilitate the Betting (Juvenile Messengers) (Scotland) Bill owing to the urgent need for legislation to protect children from the vices of betting and gambling, described a visit to a greyhound meeting last week, and said that it took something like two and a half hours to run five races, which took thirty seconds each. He did not think that would long appeal to a rational public. One satisfactory feature of greyhound race tracks was an entire absence of children.

Sir Archibald Campbell, Bart., of Garscube, Glasgow, a large landowner in Scotland, said that he had been approached recently to lease a portion of his estates for greyhound racing, and replied, "Not under any circumstances." It was the betting that gave interest to the so-called sport of greyhound racing, and people will shortly get tired of it. There is nothing in it. It is too mechanical.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously, and the delegates, who attended from all parts of Scotland, also resolved to form a Scottish National League against betting and gambling, with Lord Maclay as Hon. President.

BOOKMAKERS AND BETTING TAX.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE TO BE HELD IN LONDON.

A meeting of representatives of the leading associations of bookmakers in London was held last night to decide upon a policy with regard to the present betting tax to be submitted to the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he would agree to receive representative delegates. An important line of action was unanimously decided upon, and particulars will be submitted to a national conference in London on Monday next.

POPPY DAY SALES.

£2,000 FROM BELFAST ALONE.

Though all returns are not yet to hand, it is estimated that the sale of poppies in Belfast on Armistice Day has realised £2,000 for Lord Haig's Fund.

The sale in Lisburn district realised £128 10s. 2d. Last year's collection totalled £95.

Newtownstewart (County Tyrone) poppy day collection amounted to £64 6s. 1d. This is in excess of last year's amount, although not augmented by church collections.

Mr. George W. Knight, hon. secretary of the Clones Branch of the British Legion Relief Fund, sends the following particulars of the results of local collections in aid of Earl Haig's Fund:—Clones Parish Church collection, £9 7s. 7d.; proceeds of dance, £10 12s. 7d.; sale of poppies, Clones and district, £39 15s. 6d. Total collection, £59 15s. 8d.

All the better for it

Everyone is better for the 11 o'clock glass of Horlick's—every day throughout the year.

It gives you energy and strength. It keeps you strong and well.

And because it brings you balanced nourishment, "tuning you up" and keeping you naturally warm, your resistance to infection is tremendously increased. Epidemics hold no fears for those who keep fit on Horlick's.

Another glass of Horlick's, hot, last thing at night will soothe and feed your nerves, enabling them to rest and you to sleep.

Give Horlick's a good test. You will find it delicious. And it's ever so easy to mix—just stir briskly in hot or cold water—no added milk is needed and no cooking.

Wonderful for Influenza

"IT was during an epidemic of influenza and very bad winter colds that I first proved what a wonderful remedy and energiser Phosferine is. Myself and family seemed unfortunate, and somehow we seemed to have more than our share of illnesses. Someone suggested that I should give Phosferine a trial and I decided to do so. The result was far better than I had even hoped for. A decided improvement started at once and every member of the family benefited, for there was a marked difference in better digestion, better sleep and better nerves. Phosferine has certainly given us the necessary stamina to resist the maladies that before we seemed to catch so easily. The winter has now no fears for us for we know that Phosferine is a safeguard and we are never without it in the house.—Mrs. Kelly, 15, Fordyce Road, S.E.

From the very first day you take PHOSFERINE you will gain new confidence, new life, new endurance. It makes you eat better, and sleep better, and you will look as fit as you feel. Phosferine is given with equally good results to the children.

JOURNALISTS' ASSOCIATIONS IN CONFERENCE.

"MUTUAL ASSISTANCE" PLAN DECIDED UPON.

As a result of a two days' conference between representatives of the Institute of Journalists and the National Union of Journalists it was unanimously agreed to recommend the councils of the two bodies to appoint a joint committee with powers to negotiate a scheme for mutual assistance. The following were agreed as terms of reference:—

"To consider a scheme for the delimitation of the respective functions of the N.U.J. and the Institute, on the following basis:—

"(a) The one organisation, the N.U.J., to provide effective machinery to deal with all matters relating to wages, hours, working conditions, and employment. Its membership to be confined to journalists who cannot exercise the powers of an employer.

"(b) The other organisation, the Institute, to continue to operate as a chartered body for professional purposes, but not to operate in matters relating to hours, wages, and working conditions of those journalists eligible for membership of the N.U.J.

"(c) So far as possible under the rules of the respective organisations their memberships to be identical.

"(d) The committee considers that, should a scheme on the above lines be adopted, the question of affiliation to the Printing and Kindred Trades Federation should be referred to a ballot vote of the augmented N.U.J."

It was agreed also that any scheme should be referred to the full membership of both bodies.

So far, the fixed stipulations of the Reparations scheme have been fulfilled, and it is the intention and the firm will of the Reich Government to preserve this basis.—Herr Stresemann.

FREE STATE PAUPERS IN ENGLAND.

PROBLEM OF REPATRIATION.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Sir William Davison asked the Prime Minister if he would inform the House as to the result of the negotiations with the Government of the Irish Free State with regard to the repatriation to their domicile of origin of paupers, citizens of the Irish Free State, who have at present to be maintained by the Poor Law authorities in Great Britain.

Mr. Baldwin—I understand that no negotiations have taken place recently with the Government of the Irish Free State on this subject, but the whole question is being examined.

IRISH BARRISTER TO STAND FOR LONDON CONSTITUENCY.

Mr. Herbert John Malone, who was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, and is a barrister and a member of both the English and Irish Bars, has been adopted as Conservative candidate for South-West Bethnal Green, London. During the war he served with the Royal Artillery.

Mr. Percy Harris (Liberal) is the sitting member.

The Government is always supposed to be one and indivisible.—The Speaker.

HEAVY GOING.

SMART PERFORMANCE OF PETER PAX.

L'AINE BEATEN ON THE POST.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

WARWICK, Monday Night.

The going was very heavy when racing began here this afternoon, under depressing weather conditions. In the circumstances, however, the attendance was by no means a bad one. We began with an exciting finish for the Rugby Selling Plate, in which, after L'Aine had headed L'Habit Vert at the distance, the latter came again and got up in the last few strides, to beat Mrs. Carthew's colt by a head.

The two-year-old selling race, the Bourton Plate, was more easily won, for Sir Donald Horsfall's Skipton made all the running, and won very easily by three lengths from the Mont Dore gelding. Old Peter Pax, a seven-year-old son of Rock Flint, revelled in the conditions under foot, and won the Kenilworth Plate by five lengths from L'Addition. Usually he does best when waited with, but Richards sent him to the front when they had gone six furlongs, and he was never headed again, and never looked like being headed.

Golden King, who had won three nurseries in succession for Frank Hartigan's stable, was favourite for the Leycester Nursery, but inside the distance he was passed by Lord Glanely's Livid, and the latter, quickly asserting his superiority, beat him by two lengths.

WON BY A HEAD.

The luck which has been attending the stable of the actor-manager, Tom Walls, for some time was continued here when he won the Offchurch Plate with Moya. The Friar Marcus filly had been unlucky at Windsor, and she started first favourite here from Attentive and Berkeley Bridge. She took the lead turning into the straight, and then, resisting a strong challenge from Dusky Brave, beat him by a head, Berkeley Bridge finishing third half a length away.

There were only three runners for the last race, the Badby Stakes, which Kusa won easily for Mr. Washington Singer.

There is not likely to be any improvement in the quality of the racing here to-morrow. TIGER HILL ran well enough in the Derby Cup last week to give him a good chance in the Coventry Handicap, if he puts it all in. ROMAN EMPEROR, who could have been second or third to Invermark on Saturday last had he been ridden right out, is a likely runner for the Banbury Three-Year-Old Plate, which he should win. The best of the two-year-olds engaged in the Daventry Plate may be TIN O' MINT, who was third to Twofold at Newbury.

Irish Horses for Manchester.

Sir Thomas Dixon's Monla, engaged in the Lancashire Nursery at Manchester next Friday, left the Curragh yesterday morning to fulfil his engagement. Owing to rough weather the departure of Macaulay's Old Orkney and Puff Puff, as well as Grundy's Wavetop, all engaged at Manchester, was postponed. Mr. J. J. Murphy's Old Orkney is in the Delamere Handicap on Thursday and the Manchester November Handicap on Saturday. Mr. J. Burns's Puff Puff is engaged in the Sedgeley Handicap on Friday, and Mr. A. B. Coyle's Wavetop is in the Lancashire Nursery on Friday.

London Betting Call-Over.

The card on the Manchester November Handicap will be called over at the Victoria Club at noon on Wednesday, also at 8.15 on Friday night.

Squash Rackets Championship.

An entry of sixty-four has been received for the Amateur Squash Rackets Championship, which will begin on December 12 at the Bath Club. Captain V. A. Cazalet, M.P., is the present holder.

A Woman in the Ring.

A woman professional boxer appeared in the ring last night, when Madame Dubus, of France, gave an exhibition of "La Savate," the old-time French boxing, at the Ring, Blackfriars, London, with her husband. The three rounds display was in no respect a contest, but an exhibition, pure and simple. This method of fighting differs from the present form in many respects, but the greatest difference is in the fact that the contestants are permitted to use the feet. Last evening the exhibition was conducted by M. Dubus, who instructed his wife in French, the latter delivering the blows with boot and glove, whilst the man defended himself, and made no attempts at retaliation.

BOXING.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY V. ST. JAMES'S GATE.

Dublin University were weakly represented for their inter-club match against St. James's Gate B.C. at the gymnasium, T.C.D., last night, and won only one contest. Another was drawn, and the visitors won the remaining three.

J. C. Maguire, in securing a well-deserved draw with J. Dunne, an experienced boxer, showed much improvement. His "south-paw" stance puzzled his opponent, and his punching is becoming less awkward and better placed. He needs to learn to close his right hand, however.

Millar secured Trinity's only victory against J. Bailey, who made the contest a scrambling one by continually working in to close quarters, though he found Millar's defence too good for him. The cleaner hitter won a poor bout. Details:—

FLY-WEIGHT.
J. Dunne (St. James's Gate) beat D. Barber (Dublin University) on points.
FEATHER-WEIGHT.
J. Dunne (St. James's Gate) and J. C. Maguire (Dublin University) boxed a draw.
MIDDLE-WEIGHT.
W. Treacy (St. James's Gate) beat G. K. Graham (Dublin University) on points.
WELTER WEIGHT.
T. Millar (Dublin University) beat W. Bailey (St. James's Gate) on points.
HEAVY-WEIGHT.
M. Ronan (St. James's Gate) beat T. H. Dockrell (Dublin University) on points.

GIPSY DANIELLS' DECISIVE WIN.

Gipsy Daniells, the British cruiser-weight champion, fought at his best when at the Ring, London, last night, he beat Louis Morelle, of France. Daniells fought very aggressively, and knocked out his opponent in the second round.

RUGBY.

MUNSTER JUNIOR CUP.

In the first round of the Munster Cup competition, played at Tralee, Dingle defeated Tralee by 1 goal and 1 try (8 points) to 1 penalty goal and 1 try (6 points).

CRICKET.

M.C.C. ON THE ROAD TO VICTORY

KIMBERLEY, Monday.

The M.C.C. had all the best of the game against Griqualand West yesterday, and at the close had placed an innings' victory well within their grasp. The tourists, who on Saturday made 300 for 3 wickets, declared at the luncheon interval at 366 for 8 wickets, and between then and the drawing of stumps they dismissed Griqualand West for 118, forced them to follow-on, and secured seven of their second innings wickets for 161. The position is, therefore, that Griqualand require 87 from their three remaining wickets to avert an innings defeat.

FREEMAN'S HAND HURT.

KIMBERLEY, November 21.

All the sinews in Freeman's right hand have been strained, and this will necessitate his having three or four days' rest. At present he has the hand bandaged and in a sling. At the conclusion to-morrow of the match against Griqualand West the tourists will continue to play local teams in order to obtain practice.

BILLIARDS.

NEWMAN V. INMAN.

There was very dull play in the first session of the 16,000 game, in which Newman concedes Inman 4,000 points, at Thurston's, London, yesterday. The champion was outpointed, Inman scoring 502 against 370. The only century break of the session came from Inman, when he marked up 196. Newman's principal break was 86. Interval scores:—Inman (rec. 4,000) (in play), 4,502; Newman, 370.

Newman's play showed considerable improvement in the evening session, and he scored 833 points against Inman's 469. A feature of the play was an innings of 486 by the champion, who in addition put on 179 and 117. Inman's best breaks were 137 and 178. Closing scores:—Inman (rec. 4,000) (in play), 4,971; Newman, 1,203.

HUNTING.

WARD UNION HOUNDS.

After a long spell of fine weather and good sport, "The Wards" experienced a decidedly wet and windy day for their meet at Kilrue last Saturday. The attendance was exceptionally good under the circumstances, and, although scent was not of the best, hounds brought off a good hunting run of two hours, which compensated everyone for the thorough wetting.

Enlarging in the paddocks, the hunt started on a moderate scent through the Slough of the Lough to the Ballyhack laneway, and right-handed by Glascarn into Lugnaweena, where they were at fault for some time. Recovering the line, the pace improved by Tankardstown down to the Mouldon Bridge, and thence by Jamestown to the back of Ratoath village, where they checked again. On being held forward over the Fairyhouse road, they hit off the line in The Commons and hunted away by Curkeen and Popular Cottage, across the Fairyhouse River into Old Fairyhouse.

Bearing to the right by Wilkinstown and Boylan's gorse covert for the 10-mile Bush, they next crossed the bog road into Mooretown and kept an improved pace parallel with the Dunshaughlin road to the back of the Poorhouse, where the stag was viewed. Here they started to run hard by Ballymurphy for Ballymore, but the pack had to be whipped off in the bogland when pointing for Little Lagore owing to the failing light and the nature of the ground, everyone being wet through, but happy, after a long, tiring day.

FIXTURE CARDS.

HILLSIDE HARRIERS.—Owing to the wet state of the country, these hounds will not hunt on Wednesday.

GOLF.

PRESENTATION TO MR. H. DE ROSSE.

Mr. H. de Rosse, who up to recently has been Honorary Secretary to the Woodbrook Club, was the recipient of a valuable presentation from some of the members recently.

Mr. de Rosse, who has also been closely identified with the official side of Bective Rangers Football Club and the Kingstown Social Club, has been transferred to the Fermoy Branch of the Bank of Ireland. A very popular club member, his departure is very much regretted by the members of the clubs mentioned, whose interests he so well looked after.

THE CABLE MATCH.

At the end of the London and New York match by cable the three unfinished games were referred to the Amsterdam Chess Club for adjudication. That body has discharged its task with great promptness, and two of the games have been awarded to London and one to New York. Thus London wins the match by four games to two.

The notion has got abroad among chess players that if Capablanca happens to draw even with Alekhin by making the next score the present contest for the championship will be ended, by consent, in a draw at four games all. One shrinks from the prospect of an extension of the match for a further half of the time it has already occupied. A win by Alekhin will, however, put all these considerations out of court.

ASSOCIATION.

THE ENGLISH XI.

At a meeting of the English International Selection Committee, held at Sheffield yesterday, the following team was selected to represent England against Wales, at Burnley, on Monday, November 28th:—

Tremelling (Birmingham); Goodall (Huddersfield Town) and Osborne (Leicester City); Baker (Arsenal), Hill (Burnley) and Nuttall (Bolton Wanderers); Hulme (Arsenal), Brown (Huddersfield Town), Dean (Everton), Rigby (Blackburn Rovers) and Page (Burnley).

Reserves (to travel)—Spence (Manchester United) and Healless (Blackburn Rovers).

Sandgate Castle, built in the reign of Henry the Eighth as part of a coastal defence scheme against the expected French invasion, is for sale. The Southern Railway, the owners, have offered to sell their interests in the castle to the Sandgate Council for £1,000, but the offer has been rejected.

DUBLIN QUIET.

COATS AND COURTAULDS HIGHER.

Though business for the "new" account could be entered on yesterday, the Dublin Stock and Share Markets, with very few exceptions, lacked briskness, and stockbrokers and clients seemed more concerned about the November fog than with Stock Exchange price movements. Government National Loan eased after last week's strength, but other Government issues held firm. British Funds were mostly supported, but India 3½ p.c. came on offer at end of the day. Corporation Stocks, etc., were steady to firm. Banks occasionally eased after last week's strength, but dealings were anything but brisk. Bank Stock, Munsters, and Royals were idle. In Breweries Guinness Ord. and Pref. eased slightly, despite the good export returns for the past week. Power and Son Pref. were wanted. Marconi Ord. were a few pence lower, while Radio Corporation of America advanced again. Rails were almost drawn blank, as Great Southern Guaranteed Stock alone quoted and gave way to 49. In Baronial Guaranteed, Clogher Valley shares were unaltered. Dublin United Tramway issues remain on sale, with lower prices quoted for the Pref. and "B" Debs., the latter slumping 3½ points to 61. Alliance Gas shares were called round about last marking. Dealing in Drapery shares was confined to Todd Burns Pref., which further advanced smartly. Coats at one time were 1s. 6d. higher, but profit-taking influenced a reaction, and finally the improvement was 1s. 1½d. on the day, after a quite brisk amount of dealing. The £10 6 p.c. Pref. further rose to 11 1/16. Courtaulds were bid for at a recovery, but did not offer in this market under 142s. Tobaccos were lower on further realisations. Lever Bros. 7 p.c. Pref. fell back to 21s. Imperial Chemicals opened higher, and then lost nearly all the earlier gain. British Match shares quoted 31s. 1½d. Dunlop Rubber Ord. gave way still further and closed on offer. Vickers opened with a good show of strength, but later lost half the improvement. The feature in Miscellaneous securities was the sharp rise in Irish Civil Service Builders shares, and City and County Builders were again bid for at a higher level, but did not offer. Branston Artsilk shares received a good deal of support and advanced, and Radio Corporation shares were bid for.

LONDON STEADY.

TIN SHARES STRONG.

The arrangement of the carry-over exercised a restricting influence in the London Stock Markets as a whole yesterday, but despite this several good features were manifest. Tin shares were a strong market on the improvement in the quotation for the metal, which closed £3 per ton higher at £267 2s. 6d. Success attended the issue of £1,090,000 4½ p.c. 1945-75 Stock of the Brighton Corporation, the lists closing at noon owing to over-subscription. There was not a great deal of business passing in the Gilt-edged section, and at the close little alteration was shown in values. Foreign Government Stocks were another quiet market, and, apart from Brazilians and Chinese issues, which were the turn firmer in places, the final values were the same as at the week-end. Home Rails were still idle, but the tendency was, if anything, a shade harder. Colonial and Foreign Rails made an irregular showing; for, while "Canpacs" and United Havana were firmer, Buenos Ayres issues and Central Argentines were put lower.

In the Industrial market active dealings took place in Margarine Union new shares, and the Ord. rose to ½ prem., while the Pref., after touching 3 prem., went off to par. International Sleeping Car Trust shares were also dealt in for the first time, and after opening at 2s. dis. the price dropped to 3s. 9d. dis. The underwriters of this were left with 90 per cent. of the issue. Among Artsilks Courtaulds and Snias were firm, while Coats and Fine Spinners were on the up grade. British Celanese, on the other hand, were a dull market, and a lower value was returned. Gramophones moved irregularly, while Dunlops and Marconis were easier. Tobaccos were quietly steady, but Match issues were firmer in places. Rubbers presented a firm appearance with the commodity, and Tea shares after their recent reaction came into demand again. Oils made a better showing, while among Mines Tins were strong on the firm tone of the metal.

NEW BELGIAN CHEMICAL TRUST.

The formation of a "cartel" of Belgian chemical manufacturers has been definitely decided on, and will actually come into being at a meeting shortly to be held under the presidency of M. Theunis. The president of the Board of Management will be M. Janssen. MM. Blaise and Piette will be deputy directors. The new "cartel" will be called the Belgian Chemical Union—"Union Chimique Belge"; it will comprise the Societe Generale Belge de Produits Chimiques, the Societe de Produits Chimiques, Droogenbosch; the Societe de Produits Chimiques et Pharmaceutiques Meurice, and the Societe de Fours de Coke Semetz Solvay et Piette.

GOLD FIELDS REPORT.

A further expansion in revenue is shown in the report of the Consolidated Gold Fields of South Africa for the year ended 30th June, 1927. The profit amounted to £384,097, compared with £361,419. This is derived almost entirely from the dividends on the shares in New Consolidated Gold Fields, which company it controls. Adding the balance brought forward of £44,695 and deducting the dividends on the First and Second Preference shares for the year, there remains £300,437 available for dividend. As already announced, the directors recommend a dividend of 15 per cent., less tax (as against 12½ per cent., for 1925-26), on the 2,000,000 Ordinary shares, carrying forward £45,737. The report of the New Consolidated Gold Fields, which accompanies that of the parent concern, shows a net profit of £446,222, as compared with £388,876. There has been charged a depreciation of £64,294 on investments, as against £13,280, and the directors recommend a final dividend of 6½ per cent., free of tax, making 8½ per cent., compared with 8 per cent. for 1925-26, carrying forward £40,212. The directors state that one of the outstanding features of the year is the success that has attended the policy of reduced stoping widths. While the degree of benefit accruing to individual mines from this system must vary, it is interesting to note that, so far from it tending to shorten the lives of the mines, the reverse may actually be the case. The meeting of the Consolidated Gold Fields will be held at Cannon Street Hotel, London, E.C., on 1st December, noon.

DEAD SEA CONCESSION.

It is reported from Amman that Transjordania is taking part in the negotiations regarding the details of the Dead Sea concessions to Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., and is to receive a portion of the profits. Transjordania is anxious that the narrow-gauge line connecting Jericho and Beisan shall mainly traverse Transjordanian territory.

STEEL CARTEL CONDEMNED.

Strong dissatisfaction with the development of the International Steel Cartel is expressed in the annual report of the Gute Hoffnungs mining and foundry concern, which shows a profit of £323,000 and an increased dividend of 6 per cent. The report declares that the chief aim of the Cartel—namely, the improvement of world market prices for iron and steel products—has not been reached, and that prices, in fact, have actually declined. "If these unbearable conditions cannot be remedied in the near future through the establishment of sales organisations for the most important products of the iron and steel industries, then the maintenance of international agreement can no longer be anticipated, once the existing treaty has expired."

PARAGUAY CENTRAL.

For the year ended June 30 last the directors of the Paraguay Central Railway Company have decided to pay the full interest of 6½ per cent. and 6 per cent. respectively on the "B" and "C" Income Debenture Stocks and 5 per cent. on the "D" Debenture Stock, the distribution on the latter comparing with 6½ per cent. for each of the two preceding years. Interest on the "D" Stock is contingent on earnings until the full rate has been paid for three consecutive years, or a dividend distributed on the Ordinary shares; in either of these events it becomes cumulative.

LONDON CHANGES.

In the Gilt-edged section Consols 2½ p.c. repeated 55, while War Loans were all unchanged.

There was also very little business passing in Foreign Government Stocks. Brazil 4 p.c. 1889 at 59 and Chinese 5 p.c. 1896 at 85 were each a full point better.

RAILS UNCERTAIN.

Little of interest transpired in Home Rails, but the tone was a trifle firmer. Great Western Ord. repeated 90¼, while Midland, Southern Pref.-Ord. and Def.-Ord., and "Metro" issues were all unchanged. North-Eastern 5 p.c. Pref.-Ord., on the other hand, were ½ better, while the 4 p.c. 2nd Pref. gained a full point to 61.

Colonial and Foreign Rails made a rather mixed showing. "Canpacs" at 200 were a point firmer, while Argentine Great Western and United Havana were each ½ firmer. B.A. Great Southern at 107½ and the Western at 86 were each ½ lower, while Cordoba Central Ord. and 2nd Pref. were a point and ½ lower respectively. Central Argentine were another dull market, the Ord. closing ½ easier at 90½, while the Deferred shed a point to 81.

RUBBER SHARES BETTER.

Despite the continued paucity of interest the Rubber Share Market displayed a firmer appearance, share values stiffening in sympathy with the better tone ruling in the commodity market. Actual price movements, however, were not numerous, but of those recorded the majority were in the upward direction. A firm tone prevailed in the commodity market at the opening of business, but later on a reactionary tendency was manifest. Spot and November sold from 1s. 6⅝d. to 1s. 6⅝d.-1s. 6¾d., while January to March, after touching 1s. 7d., went off to the opening level of 1s 6⅞d. London stocks of the raw material show an increase on the week of 349 tons. In the share market British North Borneo Rubber Trust Pref. and Def. each gained a point, while Highlands, Java Amalgamated, and Java Para were all 1s. 3d. better; General Ceylon and Grand Central were quoted 7½d. firmer, and Kuala Muda and Ledbury scored a similar advance. Sungei Krian Pref. went 1s. 3d. better to 38s. 9d., and Rubber Trusts at 42s. 4½d. x.d. were 3d. up. Tebrau, on the other hand, went back sharply to 40s., or 2s. 6d. lower, while Straits Rubber shed 11¼d. to 21s. 6¾d.

TEA SHARES FIRMER.

Although there was no material expansion in the volume of business transacted in the Tea Share Market, a distinctly firmer tendency was manifest, and at the close of business a number of appreciable improvements were scored, while in only a few instances were the final values below the week-end levels. Brahmapootra stiffened to 44⅝, or ⅛ firmer, while Budla Beta and Chubwa each finished 1/16 higher. Consolidated Tea and Lands finished ¼ better at 40½, and Nedeem at 79s., and Lebong at 96s. were each 2s. firmer. Imperials gained 1s. 1½d., Jetinga Valley and Jokai 1s. 3d. each, and Jhanzie 5/32, while Nuwara Eliya the New Dimbula were ⅛ and 1/16 firmer, respectively. Singlo were another firm spot, and here an advance of 1s. 10½d. to 79s. 4½d. was scored. Ouvah, on the other hand, went off rather sharply to 75s. 7½d. x.d., or 1s. 4½d. lower, while Doom Dooma at 100s. 3d. were 1s. 9d. easier.

OIL SHARES IRREGULAR.

Firmness characterised the commencement of business for the new account in Oils, although transactions, except in a few specialities, could hardly be described as on an active scale. A steady demand was again experienced for Shells, which, following a satisfactory turnover, closed with a gain of 1/32—the registered at 4 17/32, and the bearer at 4⅝. Royal Dutch were also a firm market, rising ⅛ to 30⅛. Anglo-Americans improved 1/32 to 4 1/32; Pan-Americans "B" rose $½ to $53. Renewed bear pressure was exerted in the case of Anglo-Persians and Burmahs. Anglo-Persians were finally 1/16 down at 3⅝, but the 5 per cent. Debs. rose ¼ to 96¾. Burmahs touched 4 13/16 in the early hours, but receded later to 4¾, at which a loss of 1/32 was recorded. Mexican Eagle Ord. and 8 per cent. Participating Prefs. left off slightly easier at 16s. 9d. and 16s. 6d., respectively, but the 7 per cent. First Prefs. strengthened to 17s. 10½d. In the Venezuelan group, V.O.C. Holdings were favoured, and after touching 3 9/16 closed with a gain of 1/32 at 3 17/32, the Prefs. being up a like extent at 3 15/32. British Controlled Common hardened to 4s. 7½d., but the Prefd. remained at 6s. 10½d. Creole Syndicates met with renewed support and advanced 1/16 to 2 7/32, but Omniums closed easier at 6s. 9d. Firmness was displayed by Venezuelan Consolidated Ord. and Pref., which strengthened to 1/9 and 3/-, respectively, following favourable advices regarding the well recently brought in at shallow depth on the company's Trinidad property. In the Trinidad group United British were an active spot, there being a large turnover in the shares, but, despite some heavy sales, the price moved up steadily, a gain of 4½d. at 11s. resulting from the day's business. In other directions, Attock Oils were supported, and rose 1/16 to 1 13/32, and Lobitos improved 1/32 to 3 29/32.

INDUSTRIALS FIRM.

No difficulty was experienced in arranging the carry-over in the Industrial market yesterday, where the open account proved to be smaller than on last occasion. Rates ruled much the same, the general charge being 6 to 7 p.c., though up to 8 p.c. was exacted from bulls of Courtaulds and British Celanese. The existence of a bear account was disclosed in Vocalions, which were all givers. Trading for new time was not very brisk, though a strong demand sprang up for Courtaulds in anticipation of favourable developments, buyers being still in evidence after official hours in the street market. As indicated above, interest centred around Courtaulds, particularly in the later dealings, when the price was carried to 7¼ bid, which left them with a net gain of 7/32 on balance. The rest of the section showed no great variation. Snia Viscosa rallied 1s. to 43s. 6d., but British Celanese Ord. further declined to the extent of ⅛ at 3¾, the Pref. closing steady at 30s. 9d. Branston Ord. stiffened to 16s., but the Defd. Shares closed easier, the partly paid at 4s. 3d. and the fully paid at 8s. 1½d. J. and P. Coats reacted slightly to 64s. 9d., but Listers improved to 26s. 6d. Of the Textile Machinists, Mather and Platt were offered around 50s.

Coal and Engineering descriptions developed a dull tone, though buyers were in evidence for Dorman Longs at 10s. 9d.; Mond Nickels reacted to 4½ and South Durhams gave way to 2, with Buell Combustions offered around 4 1/16; Armstrong Ord. receded further to 3s. 3d., with B.S.A. at 13s. 6d. Some of the Electrical Equipments lost ground in the absence of supporters. Shipping issues moved within narrow limits, and there was not a great deal doing among Insurance shares. Telegraph and Telephone descriptions continued heavy in tone, but the Wireless group had a steady appearance.

Breweries displayed a firm front, buyers coming forward for Allsopp Pref. at 111½, Bieckerts at 250½, Watney Defd. at 277½, and Ind Coopes at 3⅝. Tobaccos were uncertain. Carreras strengthened to 18, but British Tobacco of Australia Ord. relapsed to 52s., with Albert Bakers, Copes and Godfrey Phillips also on offer. "Bats" and "Imps" closed unchanged. The Traction group again found supporters, Brazilian Common rising 3½ to 216. Motor shares were mostly lower—Dennis at 9 3/16, Humbers at 1¼, Rolls Royce at 33s., and Thomas Tillings at 68s. 9d. National Omnibus Ord. proved an exception, 1s. up at 26s. 6d.

Stores, Catering and Food Supply shares showed no decided tendency. Drapery Trust Ord. were favoured with an advance of 2s. to 33s. 6d., and Van Den Berghs recovered ¼ to 3 11/16. On the other hand, Schweppes Defd. gave way ⅛ to 2⅝. Land shares generally were firm, but Hudsons Bays closed easier at 4 3/16. Associated Anglo-Atlantic Ord. rose 1s. 3d. to 29s., the Defd. closing buyers at 5s. 1½d. Nitrates remained on the dull side. Cements continued to receive support, particularly British Cement Products Ord., which further advanced to 39s. The Gramophone group moved irregularly. Graphophones strengthened to 7 5/16, and Victor Talking Machine to 48¼, but Gramophones eased to 8 3/16, and Vocalions fell back 2s. 6d. to 34s. Dunlops continued on offer, and declined to 31s. 9d. Active dealings were witnessed in Margarine Union New Ord. shares, which rose to 1s. 2d. prem. Transactions also took place for the first time in International Sleeping Car Trust shares, the closing price being 3s. 6d. dis.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

ANGLO-SCOTTISH AMALGAMATED CORPORATION.—Dividend on Ordinary Shares of 6 per cent., less tax.

BELSERI CHARDWAR TEA.—Dividend at rate of 8 per cent. per annum, less tax, in respect of six months on 8 per cent. Cumulative Preference Shares.

BRICKWOOD AND CO.—Final dividend upon Ordinary Shares of 8 per cent., less tax, making 14 per cent. (Same.)

FREDERICK LENEY AND SONS.—Final dividend of 7½ per cent. on Ordinary Shares, less tax, making 15 per cent. for year.

GRAND HOTEL, MANCHESTER.—Year's dividend on Ordinary Shares at rate of 10 per cent. per annum, free of tax. Directors are of opinion that present time is opportune to sub-divide capital of company into shares of £1 each. A resolution to this effect will be submitted to shareholders.

IMPERIAL AIRWAYS, LTD.—Results have improved by over £31,000, yielding a net profit of £1,148, compared with a loss of £20,414 for the preceding year. This improvement is entirely attributable to the European section of the company's activities. The first three months of the Middle East service have brought only a negligible profit so far into the accounts in respect of outlay upon it, but the financial results to date, however, are satisfactory.

LIVERPOOL NITRATE.—Deducting loss for past year, £5,961, there remains a balance of £14,580, which directors propose to carry forward. Last year profit was £14,598, and a dividend of 7½ per cent. was paid.

LILFORD WEAVING.—Final dividend 2½ per cent., making 5 per cent., tax free, for year. (Same.)

NELSON FINANCIAL TRUST.—Final dividend of 6 per cent., making 12½ per cent., less tax, for the year on fixed income Ordinary Stock and 12½ per cent., less tax, for the year on Deferred Stock.

PAVILION (ROCHDALE).—Interim dividend of 5 per cent. actual, tax free.

SUNGEI WAY DREDGING.—Final dividend of 5 per cent. for the period ended 30th June, 1927, and an interim dividend of 5 per cent. for the year ending 30th June, 1928.

SHOTTS IRON COMPANY.—Dividend of 5 per cent., less tax, for year to September 30 last. (Same.)

SPORTING AND DRAMATIC PUBLISHING.—A dividend at rate of 7 per cent. per annum, less tax, for year on Ord. Shares. (Last year dividend 7½ per cent.)

WILLIAM PATON.—Dividend of 6 per cent. on Ordinary Shares.

WANKIE COLLIERY.—Final dividend of 5 per cent., less tax, making 15 per cent. for the year. (Last year dividend was 17½ per cent.)

LONDON MINING MARKET.

TIN SHARES THE FEATURE OF THE DAY.

The arrangement of the carry-over occupied the attention of members during the morning, and the accumulation of public orders over the week-end was small, so that movements on balance were mostly trifling in extent. Kaffirs were as dull as at any time for weeks past, and showed no signs of throwing off their inactivity. It is true that the Cape bought a few of its specialities, including Robinson Deep "B," Witwatersrand Deep, and Government Mines, and these and one or two others finished a trifle harder, but the leaders were dullish, and Central Mining, Rand Mines and Union Corporation receded. Rhodesians were irregular, with business on a moderate scale. Chartered left off without alteration, and "Tanks" and "Zams" suffered from further profit-taking, while Cam and Motor, Sherwood Starr, and Rezende were depressed.

A rather better tendency developed in the Northern Group, and Rhodesia, Broken Hill and Bwana Mkubwa readily responded to an increased demand. Diamonds attracted very little attention, and the De Beers issues finished lower; but Jagersfontein hardened the turn, and Cons. Diamonds moved up in response to a modest inquiry.

The Tin Share market provided the outstanding feature of the day's business. Partly in sympathy with a rise of £3 to £267 2s. 6d. per ton in the price of the metal, but more particularly on the sudden demand which sprang up from the East, prices went ahead in no uncertain manner. The only change in the Copper market was 2s. 6d. advance in Namaqua. Russo-Asiatic strengthened, and there was a renewed demand for Canadians on home and Toronto account. Elsewhere little of interest transpired. Closing prices:—

DUBLIN BUSINESS DONE.

FUNDS, BANKS AND GUINNESS QUIET. TOBACCOS, MARCONI AND DUNLOPS SELLERS. "BUILDERS" SHARES GOOD. RAILS SELLERS.

Government National 5 p.c. Sterling Loan fell ¼ to 97½ x.d., and the Deed Stock quoted 97⅜ x.d., while Compensation 5 p.c. Stock repeated 98½. Land Bonds marked ex div.

In British Funds Consols repeated 54½ and War Loan 5 p.c. 101 1/16, but India 3½ p.c., after opening unaltered at 71, fell ¼ to 70¾.

In Corporation, etc., issues, Kingstown Urban District 3½ p.c. repeated 62 and Dublin 3½ p.c. 70.

Banks were quieter. Provincials repeated 25⅞, but Hibernians eased 1/16 to 8⅜ and Nationals ⅛ to 20⅜, after earlier dealing at 20½.

In Breweries and Distilleries Guinness Ord. eased ⅛ to 47 and the Pref. 1/16 to 11⅜, while John Jameson and Son Debs. repeated 6½, and J. Power and Son Pref. improved 1½d. to 13s. 3d.

Marconi Ord. fell 3d. to 25s. 3d., but Radio Corporation of America Common rose ¼ to 16⅜, and the Preferred did not alter from 11 1/16.

The only change in Home Rails was a fall of 1 to 49 in Great Southern Guaranteed Stock. Clogher Valley Baronial again realised 88s. 6d.

In Trams Dublin United Pref. fell 1/16 to 6 1/16 and the 3½ p.c. "B" Debs. 3½ to 61.

Alliance Gas closed nominal and unaltered at 9 1/16 3/16.

In Drapery shares Todd Burns Pref. rose a further 3s. 6d. to 53s. 6d.

Among Manufacturing shares Imperial Tobacco shares fell 1½d. to 99s. 3d. and British-Americans 6d. to 103s. 9d. Carreras realised 17⅞. Coats were strong and rose 1s. 1½d. further to 65s., closing slightly under best, after dealing at 65s. 3d., 5s. 4½d., 5s. 3d., 5s. 1½d., and the £10 Pref. 1/16 to 11 1/16. Courtaulds were called about 1s. 3d. higher round 141s. 9d., 142s., from the other side. Imperial Chemicals opened 4½d. higher at 31s., but later reacted to 30s. 9d. Dunlop Rubber Ord. gave way 9d. to 31s. 9d., 31s. 10½d., 31s. 9d. British Match quoted 31s. 1½d. Vickers opened 6d. higher at 12s. 9d., and then eased back to 12s. 6d. Hely Pref. were steady at 18s. 9d. Lever Bros. 7 p.c. Pref. fell 3d. to 21s. Branston Artsilk were good and rose 9d. to 16s. 3d., 16s. 4½d.

In Trading, etc., Burke Debs. were called 6½ bid, but did not offer even at 7. Irish Times 2nd Pref. again changed hands at 16s. 10½d., and A. Millar and Co. Pref. at 8s. 7½d. for a broken lot.

Other business done included Canadian Western Lumber Common at 6s. 10½d., Lovell and Christmas Ord. at 27s. 6d., Mining Corporation of Canada at 18s. 6d., and United River Plate Telephone New Ord. at 4⅜ prem.

THE LATE MR. S. WATT.

The funeral of Mr. S. Watt, C.B., C.B.E., late Permanent Secretary to the Northern Ireland Ministry for Home Affairs, took place from his late residence, Sandown road, Belfast, to Newry yesterday. The chief mourners were Mrs Watt, widow; the Rev. George Watt, brother, and other members of the family; and there was a very large attendance of the general public.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

SHARP RISE IN TIN.

The market for TIN further improved, and a fairly good inquiry was reservedly met in view of higher Eastern cables. On balance cash ruled 60/- and forward 80/- per ton dearer compared with the closing rates of last week. Standard cash quoted £267 to £267 5/-, three months, £263 5/- to £263 10/-; settlement price £267 5/-. 900 tons changed hands; cash at £268, £267, and £267 5/-, three months £263 10/-, £263, and again at £263 10/-. English ingots quoted £265 5/- to £266 5/-. COPPER—Market quieter, and barely steady, with sellers more in evidence. Both cash and forward marked a decline of 1/3 to 2/6 per ton. On balance standard cash quoted £59 13/9 to £59 16/3, three months £59 15/- to £59 17/6; settlement price £59 15/-. 800 tons; cash sold at £59 17/6, three months £59 18/9. Electro quoted £64 10/- to £64 15/- wire bars £64 15/-. LEAD continues in good support, and market firmer. 1,700 tons sold: good soft foreign pig November at £21 2/6 to £21 1/3, December £21 5/-, £21 6/3, and £21 5/-, January £21 8/9, February £21 12/6 to £21 11/3, March £21 12/6 to £21 13/9; settlement price £21. English quoted £22 5/-. SPELTER firmer, and sellers reserved; 550 tons sold: November £26 12/6, December £26 11/3, January £26 8/9, February £26 7/6, £26 6/3, and £26 7/6; settlement price £26 12/6 per ton.

GLASGOW IRON AND STEEL.—Pig iron shipments from Glasgow Harbour during the week totalled 796 tons, all but 30 going to foreign destinations—St. John's (Newfoundland) 470, China 100, South America 83, Australia 50, India 30, Nova Scotia 30, Cyprus 3. Coastwise—Bristol 20, Southampton 10 tons. Corresponding period last year—Foreign 30, coastwise 60; total, 90 tons.

BRADFORD WOOL.—All sections are now waiting to see what happens in London to-morrow. The last advance in prices has checked business. 64's are now quoted at 53d., and 40's prepared at 22½d. Business in yarns has also been checked by a further advance in prices in sympathy with tops.

BELFAST MILLERS' APPEAL.

QUESTION OF CONTRACT.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Monday.

In the House of Lords to-day Viscount Haldane, Viscount Dunedin and Lords Shaw, Phillimore and Blanesburgh began the hearing of the appeal of R. and H. Hall, Ltd., Belfast, which arose out of their action against William H. Pim, junior, and Co., Ltd., London, for damages for breach of contract, by not tendering to the Belfast company the documents for a cargo of wheat.

The dispute between the parties arose under a contract made on Form 12 of the London Corn Trade Association, dated 3rd November, 1925, whereby the London company, on account of principals whom they guaranteed, sold to the Belfast company a cargo of about 7,000 tons of Australian wheat, c.i.f., to any safe port in the United Kingdom. By another contract the Belfast company agreed to sell a cargo of Australian wheat to Christopher Williams and Co., Bristol. By yet another contract Messrs. Williams agreed to sell a cargo of Australian wheat to Messrs. Pim, as brokers for account of Messrs. Suzuki and Co., Ltd.

In the following January Messrs. Pim, the original sellers, procured the contract of the parties concerned, that the sale by Messrs. Hall to Messrs. Williams should be treated as a re-sale of their purchase from Messrs. Pim, and that the sale by Messrs. Williams to Messrs. Suzuki should be treated as a re-sale of their purchase from Messrs. Hall. On January 29 Messrs. Pim gave to Messrs. Hall notice of appropriation of their contract with them of the cargo of the steamship Indianic. This appropriation was duly passed on by Messrs. Hall to Messrs. Williams, and by them to Messrs. Pim, for account of Messrs. Suzuki. Messrs. Pim never tendered to Messrs. Hall the documents covering the cargo, but instead delivered them to another firm, under a different contract. It was admitted that by doing so they committed a breach of their contract with Messrs. Hall, and the question in the appeal was the measure of damages for the breach.

Mr. Justice Rowlatt decided that the Belfast company were entitled to recover from the London company the difference between the price at which they had bought and the price at which they had re-sold the cargo, together with an indemnity for damages and costs which the Belfast company would have to pay to the buyers who had bought from them.

COURT OF APPEAL'S VIEW.

The Court of Appeal held that the measure of damages was the difference between the price for which the cargo was bought and the price at which similar wheat could have been bought in the market at the date of the breach.

Against that decision the Belfast company now appealed to the House of Lords. Sir John Simon, K.C., for the appellants, protested against the idea that this was a question of working out the chances like those of a bookmaker. It was not merely corn, but a particular cargo of corn, that the respondents had agreed to sell, and the inference to be drawn from the nature of the contract and the circumstances of the case was that a re-sale was contemplated by the parties as likely in the ordinary course to take place. Upon the respondents' failure to tender documents, the appellants were unable to implement their contract of re-sale by purchase in the market, and the measure of damages was the loss actually suffered by the appellants.

Counsel submitted that in considering the question of damages regard must be had to what must be taken to have been in the contemplation of the parties at the time when the respondents completed the arrangement that the cargo to be appropriated under the contract of 3rd November, 1925, should be appropriated under the other contracts. That was the ground, he thought, on which Mr. Justice Rowlatt said that what was to be treated as in the contemplation of the parties was not a question of fact for the jury, but a matter of law, though it might depend on facts to be found by the jury.

The case for the appellants had not concluded when the hearing was adjourned until next Thursday.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANS EASY.

Despite the absence of Treasury Bill maturities yesterday, conditions remained quite comfortable in Lombard street, calling in by the banks being on a comparatively small scale. Short loans were usually obtainable at 3½ down to 3¼ p.c., while renewals for a day or week were effected at 3½ p.c.

Bank Rate Discount (changed April 21 1927), 4½%

There was not much doing in discounts, and rates remained as before, fine two and three months' bills being called 4 5/16 to 4⅜ p.c., and Sixes 4⅜ to 4 7/16 p.c. The hot Treasuries were changing hands around 4 5/16 p.c.

The Bank of England announced the sale of bar gold valued at £10,000. Gold remained at 84s. 11½d. per fine oz. Spot silver fell further by 1/16 to 26 7/16d. per oz., and forward 1/16d. to 25 15/16d. Both China and America sold, but the Indian bazaars bought. The market was dull.

Yet another high record was reached by the American exchange since the early days of the war. Business took place up to 4.87 25/32, while the closing quotation of a little under 4.87¾ showed a further rise of 1/16. The Montreal rate rose 1/16 to 4.87. European currencies were mostly cheaper. Exceptions were the Swedish and Dutch rates, which declined to 18.09¾ and 12.06⅞, respectively. Spanish pesetas were distinctly worse at 28.83. The German exchange rose to nearly 20.43, and Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, Hungary, Austria, and Turkey all moved in our favour.

PARIS QUOTATIONS.

KREUGERS AND SWEDISH MATCH.

FROM A FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, November 21.

The Journal Officiel to-day publishes preliminary notices of the official introduction on the Paris Bourse of the shares of Kreuger and Toll, and the Swedish Match Company associated concerns. The Ministry of Finance granted permission for these shares to be dealt in on the Bourse. This follows the big loan scheme arrived at recently between the French Government and the Swedish match interests.

NATIONAL SPORTING CLUB.

Alf Ross, the French Arab boxer, must possess abnormal stamina and strength. On Sunday he met and was beaten by Billy Bird in a 15 rounds contest at the Ring, and last night at the National Sporting Club he fought Billy Adair (Bethnal Green) in a 15 rounds bout. Results:—

Eight Rounds Contest.—Harry Berman (Bethnal Green) beat Harry Hannington (Nottingham), who retired in the third round.

Six Rounds Contest—George Gallacher (Marylebone) beat Tom Howard (Holloway) on points.

Six Rounds Contest—Harold Porter (Swindon) beat Arthur Margrain (Peckham) on points.

Fifteen Rounds Contest.—Alf Ross (France) and Billy Adair (Bethnal Green) boxed a draw.

During the Christmas recess Mr. Percy Hurd, M.P., Hon. Secretary of the Parliamentary West Indies Committee, is to visit the West Indies to report on the condition of the sugar-growing industry.

SALES BY PRIVATE TREATY.

DOLWAENYDD, OMAGH, CO. TYRONE.
FOR SALE BY PRIVATE TREATY.
GENTLEMAN'S RESIDENCE AND GROUNDS,

SITUATE AND KNOWN AS "DOLWAENYDD," about one English mile from Omagh. Held under lease dated 26th August, 1907, for 999 years from 1st May, 1907, at the yearly rent of £11. Built in 1907 by Mr. Claude C. Hamilton, deceased, late Secretary, Tyrone County Council, for his own use, and being sold only in consequence of his death.

The house consists of spacious hall and landings, with back and front staircase; 3 reception rooms, cloakroom, 5 bedrooms, dressingroom, 2 maids' bedrooms, and box room, bathroom, hot cupboard, 3 inside w.c.'s, good kitchen premises, wash house, and very fine office houses, consisting of stabling for 3 horses, lofts, garage, coal house, etc., the entire premises being in first-class condition. Excellent supply of hot and cold water and gas.

The grounds, containing 2 acres, 1 rood and 10 perches, statute measure, have been laid out with taste in lawns, rock garden, flower garden, and kitchen garden, which is well stocked with fruit.

Orders to view the premises will be given, and offers, in writing, received by DICKIE and CARSON, Solicitors for the Executrix, Omagh, Co. Tyrone.

November, 1927.
